RIVER CHAOS ENHANCED

Hearings on New Bill Delayed

[BY KYLE D. PALMER
Times Staff Correspondent]

[TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Coincident with the submission of a report by Secretary of the Interior Work recommending further revision of the exercises during the hearing scheduled by the House Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation for Friday and announced indefinitely following assurances from Representative Swing that an agreement between California and Arizona would be reached at an early date, Chairman Hayden of the committee declared today that an optimistic view seemed to be borne out by Governor Hunt and by the private and irate letter of Gov. George W. P. Hunt of Arizona to Senator Ashurst, Democratic colleague and fellow member of the House committee, in which he suspended the activities of the committee until the Colorado River situation could be cleared up.

Reports on the river situation received today by Hayden between the lines of the letter of Gov. Hunt and the suggestion of Secretary Work that the passage of an all-American canal be undertaken only in the event Arizona refuses to modify its opposition permitting operation of the present canal supplying the Imperial Valley with water.

HOOVER VIEWPOINT

Secretary's common sense view of the canal situation is causing the Swing-Johnson group considerable consternation and irritation. It has been upon this issue that Swing and Johnson sought to develop and confirm their coalition of political power and unrest in California.

Work is understood to have labored strongly to the point of constructing an all-American canal if Boulder should develop a stubborn opposition with this encouraging out a plan under which the existing contracts could be made acceptable to the United States authorities.

Those specially concerned, however, in the economic conditions of the Imperial Valley and its obligation not to impose the tax burden of $32,000,000 valley irrigators have a good deal to demonstrate, as pointed out in

OIL FAMINE PREDICTED

Eight Years Set as Limit

Federal Conference Warned to Find New Methods of Conservation

Hoover Refutes Assertion Petroleum Burned as Fuel is Wasted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The necessity of some plan for conserving the nation's petroleum supplies was emphasized at the final sessions today of the public hearings on the oil industry by the Federal Oil Conservation Board.

Opinions differed as to how this is to be best effected, but there was substantial agreement on the necessity for action. Petroleum supplies in sight were said to be dwindling rapidly, and it was asserted that only discoveries of new fields or improved methods of recovery can avert a shortage.

OPPOSES FUEL USE

Mark Requa of San Francisco said:

"We have now oil in the United States sufficient to last about eight years if consumption does not increase, and if we can get it all out in that time. Consumption will increase and we cannot get it out in eight years, so new discoveries are imperative."

"Half of our oil production is burned as fuel," said Mr. Requa. "That is too much. I do not attempt to set the limit that should be the deadline, but I do say the burning of perhaps 75,000,000 barrels of gasoline, or 50,000,000 or 60,000,000 barrels of diesel-engine oil, and 20,000,000 barrels of lubricating oil as fuel is without justification, save on the ground that co-operative action to control production is not permissible."

Mr. Requa advocated conservation without government ownership or operation, but through a spirit of legally permissible co-operation in the industry, a program which he said will take years to develop.

HOOVER IN DENIAL

Secretary Hoover, who presided at one of the sessions, said the oil problem hinges on the supply available for internal combustion engines and fuel oil. He did not consider that, when oil is burned as fuel it is wasted. The question before the industry, he added, is better utilization.

ALL'S WELL, EDISON VIEW ON BIRTHDAY

"World's Getting Better," Says 79-Year-Old Inventor; for Evolution, Prohibition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FORT MYERS (Fla.) Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, looked out upon a world which is "better than it used to be" on his seventy-ninth birthday, which he celebrated today in his Fort Myers winter home. He gladly granted interviews to newspaper men.

"The world is getting better," he said. "Civilization is measured by the number of fine, humane, honest people. Every nation has a percentage. We have more every year. I mean men like Burbank—good, honest, humane, one of the common people."

"How do you feel on your seventy-ninth birthday?"

"Noyhere near 79," Mr. Edison said.

"How do you feel?"

"Oh, about 50."

"How long do you expect to live?"

"Don't know," was the quick answer. "Some darn microbe might come along and haul me in."

"What are you interested in mostly now?" he was asked.

"Everything—except dancing," was the retort. "Ford is interested in dancing. Ford's dancing theory is nice, but I don't think he'll put it over."

Edison said he favored prohibition, evolution, the World Court and William Mitchell's air policies.

With regard to prohibition the inventor said big bodies move slowly, "but if we keep the law up twenty-five years and let the young people grow up, they won't have the habit. Not a large percentage of the people are breaking the law. The percentage is decreasing all the time."

"Yes, I believe in it," Edison said, concerning evolution, and as he swung his arm around with finger pointed toward Nature's jungle in his front yard, added: "I like this Bible best."

"The World Court is a good thing," he continued. "It's a starter. We have it worked out fine in this country with forty-eight States."

Speaking of wars, he declared: "We'll always have little wars, but no big war for another generation."

"Col. Mitchell is all right. We need a separate air force," he said later.

He declined to name the world's five greatest living men.

"You wouldn't know them," he concluded. "They are working around in laboratories and such places."

Will Conduct Dysinger Trial in Los Angeles

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The trial of Rev. W. S. Dysinger, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, on charges of insubordination, was ordered postponed today until March 2, when the hearing will be resumed in Los Angeles.

A jury of seven delegates to the convention of the California synod of the church, in session here, heard part of the evidence in the case, which was surrounded with the utmost secrecy. Mr. Dysinger is charged with insubordination by refusing to resign at the request of the synod.

STORM RESURRECTS DOBBIN

Horses and Sleighs Jingle Along Eastern Roads From Which Two Feet of Snow Expels Motors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—People of the Northeastern United States accustomed to motor travel tonight heard the old-fashioned jingle of sleigh bells as Dobbin was called forth to break trails where motors would not go.

Twenty-four hours after the passing of the second severe snowstorm within a week most highways were impassable to motors and all but the principal streets in other towns were likewise blocked. The two storms left a snow blanket two feet deep on the level ground and many frozen drifts six to twelve feet deep.

The death list as a result of the last storm stood tonight at seventeen and the number of accidents was many times greater. The property damage had not been estimated but the cost of clearing streets and roads already had run into millions of dollars.

Along Fifth avenue, the mecca for expensive motor cars, traffic drew aside today as four sleighs loaded with girls from a Broadway musical show bobbed along to the melody of sleigh bells.

Dobbin, however, was missing from this scene as the sleighs were drawn by a motor car in which was stationed a motion-picture camera. But the procession of waving tam o'shanters and gauntleted arms attracted more attention than would horsedrawn sleighs.

In smaller cities and country districts horse-drawn sleighs had temporarily displaced automobiles and trucks as possessors of the roads.

NEW HAVEN TRAINS STALLED IN DRIFT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ONECO (Ct.) Feb. 11.—Two passenger and mail trains, one eastbound and the other west, and a snowplow on the Willamette-Province branch of the New Haven Railroad have been stalled in a huge snowdrift at Coventry, R. I., twelve miles east of this town, since yesterday afternoon. Drifts from twelve to fifteen feet high had filled a cut in that town and the trains were unable to force their way through. Passengers walked a mile and a half to the nearest station. Railroad officials expected to free the trains today.

RAIN OR SNOW FOR CHICAGO, FORECAST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—More snow or possibly rain is scheduled for Chicago by Friday night, according to predictions today of the government forecasting bureau, suggesting a taste of premature March weather.

Chicago still continued its efforts to get out of the snowy mire left by Tuesday night's blizzard. Laborers were still employed in the Loop to clear the slush and mud.

Colder weather continues over most of the eastern half of the country, with further falls in temperature last night, in much of the lake region and a large area to the east. On the plains to the west the weather has become milder.

BOSTON PASSENGERS MAROONED IN TRAIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Feb. 11.—Forty passengers on two Boston-to-Newport trains reached here early today after spending the night in a snowdrift in Portsmouth. The passengers, who included Judge Hugh B. Baker, of the Rhode Island Superior Court and the Newport members of the Rhode Island General Assembly, said they suffered no discomfort from the cold, but would have liked a little food during their twelve-hour vigil.

One of the trains left Boston at 4:37 p.m. yesterday and the other at 6 o'clock over the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. At the Hummocks in Portsmouth on the northern end of the island drifts heaped up by yesterday's northeast blizzard covered the tracks many feet high. The train crews labored with shovels all night to clear the tracks.

The cars were kept warm and many of the passengers slept comfortably in their seats.

BRITISH COUNTESS BARRED

Exclusion Ordered on Admission of Moral Crime; Appeal Will be Made to Davis

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The Countess of Cathcart, the divorced wife of the Earl of Cathcart, today was ordered excluded from the United States. The exclusion order was made by the special board of inquiry at Ellis Island which was investigating the Countess's case since her arrival Tuesday.

Admission of the Countess to the United States was denied on the ground of "moral turpitude, and her admission of adultery."

She has announced that she will appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Meanwhile, immigration authorities have ordered her held at Ellis Island.

Unless Secretary of Labor Davis reverses the decision, the Countess will be returned on the next Cunard liner sailing for Liverpool, the authorities said.

The Countess, who had been accompanied to Ellis Island by Mrs. Gordon Carr, an English friend, and Horace Green, an American citizen, appeared before the board of inquiry alone.

Mrs. Carr will leave for Washington to carry the Countess's appeal to Secretary Davis.

Immigration Commissioner Curran issues this statement:

"The Countess was heard by the special board of three inspectors. She was excluded because she admitted the commission of the crime involving moral turpitude, adultery. She appealed to the Secretary of Labor, who has the final say."

Mr. Curran said the immigration authorities will make the Countess "just as comfortable as we do everybody." The Countess, Mrs. Carr said, was astounded at the decision.

MORE TAX CUTS MADE

Senate Continues Slashing Orgy

Final Vote Expected Tonight; Alcohol Levy Reduced; Appeals Board Kept

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Senate continued its liberal tax-cutting ways today while Secretary Mellon sounded a warning from the Treasury that a deficit was certain if the reductions already authorized became law.

Without even a record vote the Senate approved a slash in the alcohol tax involving an eventual loss of $5,000,000 annually, and by a vote of 48 to 13 it increased from 25 to 30 per cent the amount of allowance to be given for depletion on discoveries of oil and gas wells.

Administration leaders made no attempt before going into the night session to reconsider the actions of yesterday when the Democrats and some Republicans wiped from the bill the levies on automobiles, admissions and dues.

NEW REDUCTION OPPOSED

This action boosted the total reductions provided by the bill from $352,000,000 to $452,000,000 for this calendar year. Secretary Mellon has set $320,000,000, the amount of reduction provided in the House bill, as the limit which the Treasury could stand, but he has given approval to the $352,000,000 cut.

Another $100,000,000 reduction was declared impossible today at the Treasury, where officials expressed the hope that the conference committee which must adjust the differences between the Senate and House would bring the total cut within the limit.

As the Senate completed work today on the amendments proposed by the Finance Committee, Chairman Smoot said plans to bring about a final vote on passage of the bill by tomorrow night. He held the session tonight to start work on a score of amendments offered by individual Senators.

HUGE DIFFERENCES EXIST

Passage of the bill this week will assure tax reduction by March 15 when first income tax installments are due. Senator Smoot said, although considerable differences between the House and Senate will have to be ironed out in the conference.

The reduction in the alcohol tax was the same as voted by the House and provided for a 25 per cent cut provided January 1, 1921. The Finance Committee had disapproved this slash, but Senator Smoot announced it had rescinded this action.

In protesting against the alcohol cut Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, declared "you are giving away another $8,000,000 without the revenue to meet the loss." Senator Smoot also told the Senate he could not vote for any more reductions.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, urged that the provision allowing deductions for depletion in discoveries to owners of oil wells and mines be wiped out entirely since it amounted to a "gift of $37,500,000 a year in taxes to the oil industry."

ACCEPTS SLIGHT CHANGE

The Senate, however, voted to continue the allowance but accepted the change proposed by the Finance Committee for basing the depletion to be allowed for oil and gas wells on a percentage of the gross income. The committee had recommended an allowance of 25 per cent of the gross income but after Senators Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, and Harreld, Republican, Oklahoma, had strongly urged a 30 per cent rate, this figure was approved.

The proposal to continue the Board of Tax Appeals with a membership of sixteen to be appointed for terms of ten years instead of fourteen as provided by the House also was approved. Other items approved were:

An amendment by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, to allow exemptions from taxation of the income of American citizens who live abroad six months during the year and which income is received from the conduct of American trade.

The new tax proposed by the House of one-tenth of one cent a gallon on cereal beverages. This levy had been asked by the Treasury to give prohibition enforcement officials power to inspect breweries.

Woman in Berlin Ends Life After Mussolini Toast

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—The body of Marchioness Gabriele Di Serra was found hanging in her room in the Bristol Hotel last night.

The Marchioness returned to the hotel early yesterday morning after having been ejected from a fashionable West End club where she caused excitement by repeatedly shouting "Viva Mussolini!" and urging others present, including a number of Italian film actors, to arise and join in a toast to the Italian Premier.

The Marchioness, nee Brindermann, was 26 years of age. She was born in Russia.

SEA TWICE CHEATED BY RESCUE SHIP

Sailors of Stricken Vessel Saved, But Skeleton Crew Nearly Lost in Salvage

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The United States Shipping Board steamer Casper, safe at Copenhagen today, told her agents here by radio of a double rescue she had performed off the coast of Norway—first of the crew of the stricken Norwegian motorship Pinto and then of a skeleton crew of her own sent aboard the Pinto.

Capt. Harold Bill of the Casper, in a message to Moore & McCormick, steamship agents, said he had tried to tow the Pinto to port after her crew had been removed, but almost lost a skeleton crew of his own when the towing line snapped and the Pinto's hatches were smashed in the heavy seas.

The crew of the Pinto, he said, was taken aboard the Casper early Tuesday morning. They had been without provisions for three days. The captain of the Pinto was swept overboard from a lifeboat, but was rescued.

A skeleton crew from the Casper manned the Pinto and they had been under tow several hours when the line snapped and it became necessary to abandon her hastily.

Third Officer K. Hellweg, who had been in charge of the skeleton crew, was washed overboard from the lifeboat returning him to his own ship and two men were hurt in trying to pull him from the sea. He was saved. The Pinto was abandoned and her crew of thirteen men was taken to Copenhagen aboard the Casper.

TWO HUGE NEW YORK BANKS JOIN

Chase National Merger With Mechanics and Metals Has Resources of Billion

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The merger of the Chase National Bank and the Mechanics' and Metals' National Bank with combined resources of $1,000,000,000, was announced tonight by Albert H. Wiggin, president of the Chase National Bank.

Mr. Wiggin said the new bank will be second in size among the banking institutions of the country, the National City Bank of New York being first with resources of $1,215,053,000.

The merger was forecast several weeks ago, when it was predicted that the two banks and several others would finally be formed into one gigantic group. At that time it was reported in Wall street that steps were under way to effect the amalgamation of several banks by twos, with later mergers among these groups. The merger of the Chase National and Mechanics' and Metals' National was announced after several weeks of conferences between the officers and the directors of the two banks.

The Chase National Bank in its last public statement revealed total resources of $683,050,250. The Mechanics and Metals National had total resources of more than $387,000,000.

The Chase National has been established forty-eight years and the Mechanics and Metals National 115 years. The latter bank began as the first laborers' bank in the country, its original directorate in 1810 being chosen chiefly from members of the Central Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

CLEAN-UP IN DENS NEAR

Peteet Letters Stir Crusade

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 11.—While two governments moved with swift strides today toward the climax of the Peteet "shame suicides" investigation, the entire Pacific Southwest took cognizance of flagrant flaunting of justice and orgies of evil in the Mexican border resort of Tia Juana. High lights in the day's developments were these:

Mexican authorities questioned at length the seven men, including Tia Juana's Chief of Police, who are held in jail in connection with the drugging, kidnaping and assaults, which led to the deaths of four American citizens.

CHIEF OFFERS ALIBI

Tonight it was learned from those who had conducted the questioning that Chief of Police Llanos admitted having been "roped into" the Peteet party and, upon request, accompanied the girls to Tia Juana Hot Springs, known to many Angelenos and San Diegoans as a den of iniquity paling Tia Juana by comparison. Llanos is said to have declared that he left the party at the hot springs and had no further knowledge of occurrences. He was credited with the statement, however, that as chief of police, he was willing to accept responsibility for the party's welfare. This attitude brought forth sinister comment along the border tonight.

American authorities brought back from beyond the grave the sworn statements of the victims of the "shame suicide pact," giving in straightforward, burning sentences the fact that events heretofore theorized actually took place.

FIRING SQUAD FORECAST

Death before a firing squad was predicted for the principals among the seven prisoners held in connection with the case if they confess their parts.

Angel Zuma, Tia Juana city jailer, was arrested and placed in a cell on a charge of murder while the investigation of the fatal beating of T. M. N. George, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., progressed. George was so severely beaten in the border quartel that his skull was fractured and he died en route to a San Diego hospital. Zuma was the jailer at the time the beating took place.

Identity of the Capt. Adamson to whom Thomas M. Peteet, the father in the "shame suicide" case addressed his affidavits, was established as that of a private detective engaged by relatives of Mr. George to investigate the beating in a Tia Juana jail, which resulted in his death.

Movements were made by civic bodies and church organizations throughout the Southwest to curb potential evils pending a clean-up by demanding passports from American citizens wishing to cross the border line.

Launching of a clean-up campaign by Mayor Palacio of Tia Juana was promised and was declared to be awaiting a conference with Gov. Rodrigues, expected momentarily at the border.

HOPES TO QUIZ CAPTIVES

Coroner Kelly announced that he is anxious to have any or all of the prisoners held at the Tia Juana jail brought to San Diego to testify at the inquest which will be conducted at the Merkely funeral chapel here at 10 a.m. tomorrow. He added, though, that there is

ITALY SAYS ISSUE CLOSED

Press Declares Further Talk Useless and Praises Mussolini as Peacemaker

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, Feb. 11.—The controversy between Italy and Germany over the German-speaking minority in the South Tyrol is closed as far as Italy is concerned, in the opinion of the Roman press, including opposition journals as well as those supporting the government.

says:

"There is no further room for sophistry and mystification. The question is closed. Any further discussion will be merely verbal exercises to which we will not lend ourselves."

"It is absurd to endanger the relations of the two countries on the basis of such impalpable and untrustworthy elements," says the Giornale d'Italia. "Italy has spoken. There is not a single word to be added."

Even the Voce Republicana, which is anti-Fascist, joins this chorus, but utters a caution against an investigation by Italy of the "Germanic spirit of imperialism."

TERMED PEACEMAKER

The papers are careful to add that Mussolini's triumph, as they call it, is all in the cause of international peace.

L'Impero, extreme Fascist, prints a striking picture of Mussolini, captioned: "The masculine Latin leader," and a grotesque caricature of Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, which it entitles, "The Darwinesque Contradictor of Our Leader." Underneath, it prints the comment: "It was a dialogue between eagle and

The Messaggero, after maintaining that Mussolini adequately refuted every one of Stresemann's arguments, says:

"Mussolini's command to halt, which the German Nationalists call a menace, is a strong check to a dangerous attempt, putting peace into a discussion tending evidently toward war.

"The governments and peoples responsible for European peace will appreciate this virile, frank, decisive gesture by Mussolini, who accepts battle not only for defense of the dignity and interests of Italy, but for safeguarding the new European structure and thus the peace of Europe."

The Popolo di Roma declares that through Mussolini, the Italian nation has again pronounced the word of right and human justice. The Premier's speech rendered a service to Germany and Europe, the paper asserts.

CLEAN-UP FOR BORDER LIKELY

Inquest This Morning to Seek More Data on Crimes

small likelihood of this hope being realized. Mexican authorities, it was said, preferred to deal with the prisoners themselves after first learning the verdict of the Coroner's jury. Another complication is the fact that Luis Amador, one of the men held, probably would be arrested by American narcotic agents as soon as he set foot on American soil. He is a fugitive from justice in Los Angeles where he forfeited bail.

Establishment of the identity of Capt. Adamson revealed for the first time publicly that an honest effort was being made to solve the George mystery, and gave promises of other investigations into long-standing rumors of indignities approaching atrocities that have occurred after the closing of the border line in the Mexican town.

Not only has Adamson been on the ground for some time trying to get the "inside" on the George incident, but in his movements he made the acquaintance of Peteet and Peteet had confided to him much of the story of degradation visited upon the family. Adamson visited with the Peteets at their home on Arch street last Friday night and found them so despondent that he devoted some time to an effort to lighten their minds. Peteet is declared to have said to Adamson that night—the night the suicide pact subsequently was entered—that he was afraid to leave his family alone for fear of what they might do.

In the meantime, Federal narcotic authorities produced records to show that Luis Amador, proprietor of the Oakland Cafe in the border resort and one of the men accused of kidnaping, drugging and assaulting the Peteet girls, is a fugitive from American justice.

Federal Narcotic Agents Bright and Woods arrested Amador in Los Angeles on August 10, 1922, for selling an ounce of morphine, receiving $10 in marked money. He was charged with being one of the ringleaders in a drug-peddling ring dealing with wholesalers. He was a salesman for a cigar company in his spare time.

He was indicted on the charge September 15, 1922, and fifteen days later his bond of $3500 was ordered forfeited and he was declared a fugitive. Narcotic agents have made countless efforts to lure him from Mexico, where he fled, to the American side of the line to arrest him ever since, they said, but were not successful.

It was reported also here tonight that a witness whose name had not been fully established was available to testify that he saw the Peteet girls drugged, in accordance with the affidavits they made before they went voluntarily to death with their father and mother.

In connection with the letters discovered today revealing the horrors of the Peteet's "shame night," the poignant confession of a "Southern gentleman" also came to light in another letter written by Peteet to Capt. Adamson. It reads:

"Dear Captain:

"I am sorry but myself and family are of best southern blood. Death was always preferred to dishonor to our women. We are wiping it out tonight. Push this case and if you can have the government avenge our wrongs we will appreciate it where we go, maybe. We thank you for your efforts.

"T. M. PETEET, WIFE AND DAUGHTERS."

LETTERS FROM DEAD

Letters from the dead, penned while they were living, tell the story of indignities suffered by the Peteet girls. They are in the form of affidavits, duly sworn to and are signed by Thomas Peteet, the father; Clyde, the elder daughter, 26 years of age, and Audrey, the younger daughter, 19 years of age. They follow:

Thomas M. Peteet, being first duly sworn, deposes and says that he is an American citizen and that he is 55 years of age; that he is a salesman; that he gets goods from Chicago and sells them; that he lives at 4423 Arch street, San Diego, Cal.

That on Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1926, he went with his wife and two daughters to Tia Juana, Mex., about 6 p.m. They walked around the town and had some beer and registered at the San Diego Hotel (Tia Juana.) in rooms No. 1 and No. 6. On Sunday they returned to their home in San Diego and looked after some things in the home and later returned to Tia Juana. They did the same thing on Monday and Tuesday nights, staying at the same hotel.

On Wednesday, he left his wife and daughters at the hotel and he returned to San Diego and returned to Tia Juana about 4 p.m.

His wife not being very well, he took his two daughters and they had some beer in different places and later in the evening, wishing to hear some Hawaiian music, went to a saloon, the name of which and the location "I will give later."

"My daughters and I sat down at a table and we had some beer. There were some people dancing. The bartender told me that one of them was the Chief of Police and asked me if I would like to meet him, and I said yes.

"He introduced him to us and the Chief asked me if he could dance with my younger daughter and I said that he could. They danced and I bought a round of drinks and the Chief did the same. After I had taken that drink, I remembered nothing until I found myself in bed in the hotel.

"It is my belief that I was drugged.

"My wife said I had been taken there by a man about 10 o'clock. Then my wife said she left to go and look for the girls but could not find them. As soon as it was daylight we went again to look for the girls and I reported the matter to the police but could get no assistance. Later I reported the matter to Mr. Markley (United States immigration inspector at the border,) who promised to have the matter investigated.

"I was present today, February 5, A special investigator came to my house and asked if he could get a statement from my daughters. I heard the statement and heard the investigator read it to each of them. I had compared it with the copies hereby attached and I know it to be the same as told to him and signed by them.

"THOMAS M. PETEET."

SECOND AFFIDAVIT

"My name is Audrey Peteet. I am 19 years of age and the daughter of Thomas M. Peteet. I was drinking with my father and sister when I was introduced to the Chief of Police and danced with him. The last drink that I had, the chief said to the bartender something that I did not understand and he gave me a small drink.

"After that I do not remember anything until I woke up partly undressed.

"I know that I was assaulted by the Chief of Police.

THIRD AFFIDAVIT

"I am 26 years of age and the daughter of Thomas M. Peteet. My father and my sister were in a saloon having some beer and listening to the music. The bartender asked my father if he could introduce the Chief of Police, who was dancing with a girl, and my father said he could. My sister danced with him. The bartender and the Chief were ordering drinks.

"The next thing that I remember, I was in a car with a man by the name of Louie. He had his hand over my mouth and he dragged me into a hotel and into a room and there he attacked me. All the time I was calling for help, but no one came. I think that this hotel is the National (Nacional.)

"Later a man came to the room, and he said he had been sent by Louie. At this time I knew what I was doing and put him out of the room. Then a man came and said that I ought to have something to quiet me and he gave me something in a glass. After this I knew nothing until I found myself in bed.

"My father came later with a policeman and found me. Later we reported the matter to Mr. Markley at the border.

PETEET PROPERTY AMPLE FOR BURIAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11.—George N. Williams, neighbor of Thomas M. Peteet today telegraphed the Coroner in San Diego that Peteet's property holdings here are ample to insure burial in the family lot in Mt. Washington, a suburb.

The Peteets came to Kansas City seven years ago from New Orleans. Peteet purchased a home. He was employed by a Chicago punch-board and slot-machine company.

The Peteet home was destroyed by fire last March. A few weeks later they left for California. A neighbor agreed to take care of the Peteet home site and on January 17, last, Peteet sent him a payment for services. At that time Peteet wrote that the family was planning to return to Mt. Washington in May or June.

W.C.T.U. HERE URGES APPEAL TO COOLIDGE

A resolution adopted by the Los Angeles Union of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, yesterday follows:

"Whereas, while thousands of cases at Tia Juana, Mex., have never been made public, one awful case of doping and abusing young American girl tourists has brought the suicidal deaths of a whole family and a public investigation, and

"Whereas, the responsibility for this and other outrages rests on the public attitude of California's United States Senator, Samuel Shortridge, because of his inaction and quiet opposition to stringent border closing at Tia Juana,

"Be it resolved: That we call on all good citizens of California to appeal to our President, Calvin Coolidge, for the closing of the border at Tia Juana."

Cut in Canada Duty on Autos Will be Urged

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 11.—Finance Minister Robb's 1926 tariff proposals to Parliament will call for a reduction of the duty on motor cars.

A reduction from the present 35 per cent is one of the principal tariff asporations of the Progressive agrarians, who give the King government its power to rule. They proclaim that the small motor car is a necessary implement for the farmer.

Although there have been almost daily conferences of Progressive and Liberal members working toward closer co-operation of the two groups, the tight coalition which appeared at hand some weeks ago now seems unlikely. A continued co-operation between the parties is all that is now expected.

Western members are contending that a commission should be established to deal with farmers' claims for grain weight shortages and bad grading. A subcommittee of the Progressives met yesterday to deal with proposed Canadian Grain Act amendments.

TAKES TAXES OF FOREIGN COMPANIES

Corporations Restored to Standing in State by Act of Secretary Jordan

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11. — Four hundred and fifty foreign corporations doing business in California were restored to good standing today when Secretary of State Jordan decided to accept their checks in payment for the 1926 license tax.

Jordan had refused to accept the checks, totaling $110,000, because the legality of the corporations is under a cloud and soon will be determined by the State Supreme Court in the case of the Commonwealth Holding Corporation.

The question as to the right of foreign corporations having stock of different par value doing business in California was raised when the Supreme Court ruled that domestic corporations having such a stock structure were illegal.

Jordan declared that the Supreme Court is not expected to hand down a decision in the test case before the 27th inst., the day the 450 corporations would forfeit their franchises.

In the event the court decides the foreign corporations affected are illegal, Jordan said he will request the Attorney General to bring ouster proceedings against them.

Highway Officials Give Warning To Business Concerns

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—Officials of the State Highway Commission today warned business interests of California to beware of a man or group of men who are passing fictitious highway checks in many parts of the State.

The last check reported to the commission was drawn on the First National Bank of San Francisco and in the lower corner of the check was printed "State Highway Construction District No. 5." The checks have been drawn in amounts ranging from $15 to $40, purporting to be wages.

"These checks," declare the commission, "are fictitious, as there is no such highway division as Construction Division No. 5. All payments due from the Highway Commission are issued on its own checks and not on checks issued by banks."

Warrants for the arrest of the forgers have been issued in Richfield, Willows and Redwood City.

NEW CONFUSION ON RIVER ISSUE

Swing's Optimism Belied by Gov. Hunt's Statement

Hearings Delayed on Revised Colorado Measure

his letter today to Chairman Smith of the House committee.

Equally important in its fundamental revision of the measure is a suggestion that the words "and directed" be omitted from the sentence reading: "The Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized and directed to construct" the dam, incidental works and a canal.

MIGHT TIE HANDS

Secretary Work did not explain his reasons for requesting the omission, but it is asserted by representatives of States not in harmony with the Swing-Johnson program that it permitted to remain in the bill the apparently innocent words would have tied the Secretary's hands and left him no discretion in carrying out other provisions of the measure.

The further suggestion is made by Secretary Work that the amended clause in the new bill granting preference right to electrical energy developed at the dam be removed and that the allocation, sale and delivery of energy be left to the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior.

In view of the fact that the new bill, aside from the amendments indicated, is virtually his own proposal, Dr. Work might be accused of indulging in a bit of humor in inferring that "with the foregoing amendments it is believed" that the bill "will constitute a feasible and workable measure, under which the purposes sought to be attained through this development may be accomplished."

Gov. Hunt's letter, in which he seems to vision Arizona as a sort of Belgium of the Southwest, with Senator Johnson and Representative Swing leading a force of invaders into his dominion, has created quite a stir in Congress and, chiefly because of the derision he heaps upon Senator Johnson, has been broadcast through the country by gleeful newspaper correspondents.

ADDS TO CONFUSION

Coming on the heels of Mr. Swing's intimations that Arizona and California are about to compose their differences, the Governor's bellicose communication has added materially to the increasing confusion and uncertainty surrounding the river situation.

Few of those personally acquainted with Gov. Hunt and his original ideas on the phrasing and enunciation of words are willing to accord him the actual authorship of his epistle, which in many respects appears to be an able presentation of views promulgated by the Hunt administration.

The Governor's versatile secretary, H. S. McCluskey, who has been a member of Hunt's Colorado River commisson during the recent negotiations with California and Nevada representatives, is generally believed to be the author, and if this assumption is correct it probably has significant bearing upon the likelihood of an early agreement.

The letter breathes defiance from beginning to end and is permeated by a spirit of resentment not only at Swing and Johnson, but at the principal Swing-Johnson bill advocate in Imperial Valley — Charles L. Childers—whom Gov. Hunt says made the most "naive, patronizing and unconsciously hilarious statement" in the hearings before the Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation.

Wholly aside from the humorous aspects of the letter, Representatives and Senators have had their attention focused on the Arizona situation by the Governor's expression and it is not improbable that the campaign of those insisting upon a seven-State compact prior to any development in the river has been somewhat advanced.

The entire communication occupies more than three and a half columns of the Congressional Record today. It advertises to the nation's representatives the fact that regardless of merits, Messrs. Hunt, Swing and Johnson have managed to involve the interests of Arizona and California in a political controversy of which the unfortunate consequences are becoming more and more important.

URGES STATE LINES BE FORGOTTEN IN TASK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Feb. 11.—Suggestion that a commission of engineers be named who will "forget State boundaries" in the solution of the Colorado River problem was made by Dr. H. A. Widstoe, president of Utah Agricultural College in an address here today. Dr. Widstoe declared that the seven basin States, bounded by artificial lines and kept from recognizing their economic unity by politicians, are quarreling over an insignificant issue as to the apportionment of the benefits to be derived from the Colorado River, which he said, has enough resources to "do all the work we want it to do."

Dr. Widstoe said a commission of engineers "forgetting State lines should consider the great basin of the Salt Lake and the greater basin of the Colorado River as dual parts of a tremendous empire and work out a program of development that could be achieved over a period of from fifty to 150 years."

As a member of the fact-finding commission appointed by the Secretary of the Interior, Dr. Widstoe investigated all of the reclamation projects of the country.

EARLY FAMINE IN OIL FEARED

Speaker at Federal Council Sets Seven-Year Limit

Meeting Warned of Need for Substitute Search

Hoover Says All Resources Must be Utilized

University of California, advocated conservation of natural gas in oil fields to maintain pressure in the pool and thus make greater recovery of oil possible. Data he collected from 161 California wells, he said, indicated that lack of this procedure has resulted in a loss to the field of $60,000,000 barrels.

Opposing any form of conservation based upon restriction through price, L. V. Nichols of Chicago, president of the National Petroleum Marketers' Association, said he leaned to conservation in some form or other and suggested the consideration of legislation to restrict the consumption of petroleum products to superior uses.

LOCAL MAN'S VIEWS

In a paper read in his absence, T. A. O'Donnell of Los Angeles, recommended an investigation of the practicability of pumping gases back into the strata from which they came or into nearly exhausted pools.

Earl Oliver of Ponca City, Okla., said he believes the recent decline in petroleum production does not necessarily forecast an oil shortage but he argued for the system of unit development of pools to eliminate overproduction and waste. He declared the development of substitutes should be speeded up because there is no way of knowing how many and how large oil beds remain to be discovered.

Mr. Oliver said the nation will not be seriously damaged if it underestimates its oil supply, but that it can be seriously endangered through overconfidence.

"We know how rapid can be the decline in our daily supply if new discoveries are to become infrequent," he stated.

DECLINE ILLUSTRATED

"To illustrate, on May 30, 1925, the daily oil production of the United States was 2,348,000 barrels, today it is 1,916,000 barrels. Thus over a period of eight months there was a steady decline amounting to 432,000 barrels, or at the annual rate of 27.6 per cent. During that period of eight months the oil companies were not inactive in their attempts to make new discoveries. On the contrary they were active and vigilant. Thus a 27.6 per cent rate of decline took place notwithstanding much drilling continued and considerable new production was developed to offset the decline in the older wells.

"Since we realize how rapidly the decline can be and also that we can never determine which is to be the permanent decline until frantic efforts to find new pools will have failed, it is quite clear it will not be the part of wisdom for the nation to continue its present system of strenuously depleting each pool immediately upon discovery and yet delay preparation for providing adequate substitutes until the shortage is known to be upon us. Realizing as we do the importance of petroleum to this nation, the uncertainty of the supply and the wasteful manner it is being developed, it is inconceivable that the petroleum industry will rest content without determining some manner in which these evils can be overcome."

Secretary Hoover told the gathering that the problem revolved about the supply available for internal combustion engines and fuel oil.

"I don't take it that when oil is burned as fuel oil it is wasted," he said.

"The question we have before us is better utilization. We must secure a better utilization of all natural resources at our disposal."

REFUTED BY DOHERTY

E. W. Marland of Oklahoma said there has been so much discussion of waste that the public has become convinced that enormous waste was going on.

"We've not been wasting oil," he said.

Henry L. Doherty of New York, who spoke yesterday upon the extent of the waste of oil resources, disagreed, declaring Marland two years ago said the waste in the industry was "criminal."

Optimism as to the future of the oil resources was expressed by J. Edgar Pew of Dallas, Tex., who said early predictions as to the extent of oil resources have always proved to be underestimated.

"It is never safe to predict as to the future of oil production," he said. "The precedent and experience of the industry is entirely in favor of the opinion that sufficient oil will be found."

YEAR'S OIL OUTPUT EXCEEDS ALL RECORDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The petroleum output of the United States during 1925 is believed by the Bureau of Mines to have exceeded all previous records.

The bureau today announced "preliminary estimate" of 755,852,000 barrels, but added that the final figures probably will reach 764,000,000 barrels, which will be an increase of 7 per cent over the 1924 return and an increase of 4.36 per cent over the record-breaking total of 1922.

World production of crude oil in 1925 was placed at 1,060,000,000 barrels, a 5.5 per cent increase over 1924. Largely due to increased production in the United States, this more than offset a reduction in Mexican production.

California's 1925 production was estimated at 220,145,000 barrels, a slight decrease from 1924, while Oklahoma's 176,760,000 barrels was a slight increase. Texas was credited with 142,618,900 barrels and Arkansas with 74,749,000.

Imports of crude oil were 62,005,000 barrels during the year and there was a decline of crude petroleum stocks east of California at the end of 1925 to 252,288,000, the year beginning with 312,725,000 barrels. For the year 1925 the total gasoline production was estimated at 11,229,900,000 gallons. The exports of domestic crude oil to foreign countries were 8,815,000 barrels, as against 10,992,000 in 1924. Gasoline exports were 9 per cent over those of 1924 and amounted to 1,230,314,000 gallons.

EVERY FASCIST ACT ASCRIBED TO PREMIER

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MILAN (Italy) Feb. 11.—Every important decision of the general executive committee of the Fascist party during the last three years has not only been inspired by Benito Mussolini, but actually been written by him. His brother, Arnoldo Mussolini, director of the Popolo d'Italia, is authority for this sidelight on the industry of Italy's dictator.

"It is irreverent to imagine," said Arnold Mussolini, "that the activities of the party could go on at a given moment independently of Benito Mussolini, without whom neither Fascism nor the regime it has created can exist today or could exist tomorrow.

SMOOTHING OVER OF DIFFERENCE URGED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—A mixture of "ignorance and brutal arrogance" is the comment on Premier Mussolini's speech today by the Taeglische Rundschau, which paper Mussolini referred to as the personal organ of Foreign Minister Stresemann.

The Rundschau was one of the few morning papers to take editorial notice of the Fascist chief's latest broadside in the Italo-German controversy over the treatment of the German-speaking population of Southern Tyrol.

The Lokal Anzeiger recognises that Mussolini adopted a politer tone than in his first speech but observes that he does not recede a bit from his standpoint regarding what the paper terms "the suppression of the minorities in Southern Tyrol."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says:

"These new insults and charges cannot wipe out the impression that Mussolini's case is weak. It is time for a quiet survey of the differences."

The Berliner Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, also pleads for a return to correct official German-Italian relations.

NITTI JOINS ATTACK

Former Premier Nitti of Italy, in an interview with the Paris correspondent of Vorwaerts, expresses conviction that the Southern Tyrolese will never be disloyal to Italy, provided they are treated fairly.

He remarks that there were never untoward incidents in the Tyrol while he was Premier and takes a slap at Mussolini by declaring that "only ignoramuses could dare to belittle German culture."

The measures taken against the Southern Tyrol minorities are much like those taken against Italian opponents to Fascism, he says. He pleads for friendship between the two peoples.

FEDERAL FILM RULE ASSAILED

Abuse of Governmental Power Feared

Washington Censorship Hit by Judge Lindsey

Gutzon Borglum Tells of Artistic Outlook

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Secretary of State Kellogg and former Postmaster-General Burleson were taxed with "abuse of power" in a warning against excessive censorship in an address today by Prof. E. A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin before the National Motion-Picture Conference.

"It is inevitable," declared Prof. Ross, "that the motion picture, now a means of entertainment, will become a vehicle of ideas. A Federal government board empowered to censor moving pictures for adults would enable the party in power to choke off opinions opposed by favored political or economic groups. Witness the abuse of power by former Postmaster-General Burleson. Witness the present abuse of power by Secretary Kellogg. Witness the four years (1918 to 1922) of dissemination by the State Department of misleading propaganda about Russia."

The exclusion from this country of Countess Karolyi was an instance of "the abuse of power" he ascribed to Secretary Kellogg.

LINDSEY SUPPORTS ROSS

Judge Lindsey of the Juvenile Court of Denver applauded Prof. Ross's warning against censorship, declaring the professor's views were his own. "By no system of wet-nursing can you solve the problem of crime," said the judge.

Miss Maude Aldrich, chairman of motion pictures, W. C. T. U. believed Federal censorship was necessary to protect the young from false ideals.

"The picture producer is dallying over an olive on his plate when he might be tackling a pumpkin," Gutzon Borglum, New York sculptor, declared outside the convention chamber. "The moving-picture has tremendous artistic possibilities yet unrealized. The producers seem preoccupied with the box office. Well, even Old Bill Shakespeare thought of the box office but it is a mistake to suppose art will not pay. People will stand in line to see artistic pictures but there are too few such pictures."

Mr. Borglum said he was to address "the picture crowd" in Hollywood in the near future and hoped to awaken some of its members to their opportunities.

ORIENT TELLS NEEDS

Opportunities for better international understanding through constructive motion pictures were held out by speakers from the Orient.

"There is a great eagerness," said Dr. Charles W. Gilkerry, Chicago pastor, "among the youth of India to know what the younger generation in America is thinking about."

Dr. Gilkerry indicated that at present they formed their ideas in a large measure from travelers and from the moving pictures.

V. E. Charawamuttu of Ceylon, India, said the American industry apparently monopolize moving pictures in India and the films which reach India from this country are full of the worst side of society life.

MEXICO HITS CHURCH FOR CRITICISMS

Situation Between State and Catholics Becomes Alarmingly Acute

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Interest here is centered upon the situation developed between the Catholic church and state arising out of declarations attributed to the supreme Mexican prelate, Archbishop Mora Y Del Rio, attacking certain articles in the Mexican Constitution. These statements are now under investigation by the Attorney-General and undoubtedly an acute situation exists.

Yesterday orders were issued by the Attorney-General instructing government agents to nationalize church property, clerics, according to the Constitution, not having the power to hold property. This order is to be enforced, especially regarding much property at present ostensibly held by individuals, although the real owners are church interests.

Following this action last night a number of Spanish priests from various city churches were detained by mounted police, according to reports in the newspapers, then conducted to the railway station, and thence embarked for the port of Vera Cruz, where it is understood they will be deported today.

Although the religious laws apply to Protestant foreign clergy, as well as to Catholics, no apprehension exists among the Protestants in view of the fact that the government's policy in the past has had to do only with the Catholics.

ADMITS VILLA HEAD QUEST

Chicago Criminologist Says "We Want to Know What Greatest Criminal's Bumps Show"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Reports from Mexico City that "an eccentric Chicago millionaire interested in criminology" financed the recent theft of the head of Francisco Villa from his grave in Parral may be based on truth, it developed today.

Dr. James Whitney Hall, noted alienist and criminologist, admitted that "there has been considerable talk of getting hold of Villa's skull and brain for study."

"We want to see what the bumps show," he said. "I suppose Villa was the greatest criminal of the age and, of course, that fact gives his head scientific value."

"To whom do you refer when you say 'we'?" Dr. Hall was asked.

"Oh, I can't reveal the names of my associates," he said.

The alienist flatly refused to discuss the matter further or to develop the implication that he knows something about the bandit's head.

Villa's grave was robbed the night of the 5th inst. Five men dug up the concrete coffin in which the body of the bandit chief was placed in 1923, after malcontents of the Villa band had murdered their leader. They smashed in one end of the coffin, decapitated the body and fled.

Near the grave a note was found next day. It said Villa's head was being taken to Columbus, N. M. Villa and his band raided Columbus in 1916, provoking the punitive expedition that Gen. Pershing led into Mexico.

MEXICAN PAPER SAYS HEAD CHICAGO BOUND

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11. — According to an article in El Universal Grafico, an unnamed Chicago millionaire is behind the plot that resulted in the decapitation of the body of Francisco Villa, famous bandit, at Parral last week. The article asserts that "the fiercest head that ever existed in Mexico will be used for scientific research work in a Chicago laboratory. It adds that one American and one Mexican, held by the authorities in Parral, charged with having opened the chieftain's tomb and cut off his head are only blinds.

Villa's head, says the account, has already crossed the border and is well on its way to Chicago.

Police Official Testifies Quebec Lacks Protection Against Smugglers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 11.—Preliminary hearing by the special smuggling inquiry committee of Canadian Parliament revealed that the Quebec-United States border alone of all international points was without customs patrol by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Examination of Commissioner Cortland Starnes of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police featured yesterday's sitting. Col. Starnes brought a number of files dealing with investigations by his forces on behalf of the customs department. These included a number of drug and smuggling cases.

The commissioner was asked whether cases were dropped on instructions from somebody after seizures had actually been made. Col. Starnes could give no information, but was willing to produce his monthly reports. The R.C.M.P. did not prosecute, but reported to the department administering the act.

Col. Starnes said that the detachment stationed at Pillinsburg, Que., on the international border, had been removed three years ago. He did not know why. Perhaps for reasons of economy.

REALTY MEN OF BAY CITY HEAR YOUNG

Lieutenant-Governor in Address Gives Version of State's Needs

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, Feb. 11.—New highway construction, forest conservation and water storage and distribution are the three vital problems confronting the people of California, Lieut.-Gov. C. C. Young declared in an address before the annual meeting of the Berkeley Realty Board here tonight. Young is a candidate for Governor.

"For the first time in many years, the building of new State roads has practically ceased in California," said Mr. Young. "Our three highway bond issues have been expended, no new funds or sources of income have been provided, and we have been brought to a standstill. This must not be, as it costs the State more to do without improved roads than it costs to provide them.

"Our second great problem is forest conservation and the protection of the watersheds at the sources of our streams. No better investment could be made than the proper cutting of fire lanes, a more thorough patrolling of forest and brush lands, the providing of sufficient manpower to combat the annual fire menace, and the adopting of a consistent forest conservation policy.

"It is proposed to create the largest water storage the world has ever seen at Boulder Canyon, an enterprise, which will cost $180,000,000, will supply a great water district. This splendid public project seems now about to be realized. We in the north have commenced the important task of bringing to our cities an adequate supply of water.

"California is a State of splendid possibilities, and it is only in accordance with sound business principles that a sane and business-like solution should be directed to these three great problems."

GUN AND MICROPHONE LOCATE SEA DEPTHS

NEW DEVICE, ELIMINATING NEED FOR LINE, USED ON FRENCH SHIPS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A new device for location of sea depths was brought here on the French liner Paris. It is known as Le Sonde Behm and is a German invention. Capt. Ernest Maurras, commander of the ship, explained the instrument which, if successful, will do away with the unraveling of thousands of fathoms of line to determine the depth of the sea.

The apparatus consists of a gun and microphone. The gun, on the port side, fires a projectile which explodes one fathom below the water. The detonation is recorded by the microphone, which is attached to the forward section of the keel beneath the water line. And this is transmitted to the instrument on the bridge, operating a dial.

When the cartridge strikes the ocean bed there is another sound, which the microphone also records. The dial on the bridge gives the depth.

COOLIDGE MAY MEDIATE STRIKE

Coal Miners and Operators Consider Plan

President Will be Judge if Intercession Fails

Men May Return to Work Pending Decision

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILKES-BARRE (Pa.) Feb. 11. It was learned here tonight on reliable but unofficial authority that the plan of settlement of the anthracite strike under consideration in Philadelphia substantially is as follows:

First, that President Coolidge be invited to mediate the differences between the miners and operators.

Second, that pending the mediation by the President the miners shall return to work or under certain conditions remain on suspension until the decision is made known.

Third, that in the event the mediation decision is unsatisfactory President Coolidge shall be asked to sit as a judge and make a decision on the question at issue.

This decision to be binding on both sides with the proviso that either side may appeal on questions of fact within ten days.

BOTH SIDES IN SESSION IN PHILADELPHIA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—Efforts to bring to an end the long anthracite suspension are being made here with indications that a settlement may be reached tomorrow. Operators and miners with authority to reach an agreement are here and the full scale committee of the miners, which would have to ratify any understanding arrived at by the negotiators, has been summoned to be in Philadelphia tomorrow at 9 a.m.

The operators were behind closed doors at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel all day and across the street in the Bellevue-Stratford the subcommittee of the miners' scale committee also sat in secret throughout the day.

The spokesman for the miners said there was nothing to make public. The only positive statement made was that the miners during the day were not in communication with Washington. The spokesman for the operators was equally reticent but gave an emphatic "no" when asked the same question whether operators were in touch with the Federal government representatives.

It was reported that during the day information looking toward a settlement was conveyed to each side.

There were many reports, also, regarding the terms of settlement. The best information obtainable, however, was that the old wage scale would form the basis of settlement with some additions to satisfy both sides.

LABOR SECRETARY SEES COOLIDGE ON COAL STRIKE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Hope for a renewal of negotiations between the anthracite miners and operators to bring an end of the strike which now has equaled the longest hard-coal stoppage on record, was brought more plainly to the surface than ever today in government circles most intimately in touch with the situation.

Just what will emerge from official conferences and utterances today on the subject was not evident. Likewise, there were no indications that President Coolidge will abandon his hands-off policy.

Secretary of Labor Davis conferred with the President at the White House on the situation and Congressional debate again touched upon the subject. The Republican steering committee of the House also decided to hear five Republican members tomorrow on their reasons for suggesting immediate action on coal legislation by the House Commerce Committee.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican leader, told the House that it was time that "loose talking" stopped and he called on those who believed the President or Congress should settle the strike to "take pad and pencil and draft a law that is constitutional, and that will end the coal strike now."

REMEDIES PROPOSED

The speech drew a reply from Representative Fish, Republican, New York, who declared it was "absurd to contend that no legislative remedy has been proposed."

The House Republican steering committee will hear tomorrow Representatives Fish, Wainwright and Tolley, all of New York, and Gibson, Vermont, and Treadway, Massachusetts.

Representative Somers, Democrat, New York, who circulated the petition for a House Democratic caucus to place the party on record as favoring immediate coal legislation, declared in a statement that the decision of the Republican steering committee "to at last take up coal indicates that the pressure brought to bear since the strike started five months ago has had its effect."

HALF OF ILLINOIS MINERS IDLE DESPITE SEASON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Feb. 11.—Hardly more than half the 90,000 miners of Illinois are now at work, despite the anthracite strike and the winter season, it is estimated by responsible officials of the Illinois Mine Workers.

Those who are still at work are employed from one to six days a week, but 25,000 to 45,000 have quit mining in Illinois. Some have gone to Michigan automobile factories, others to nonunion fields of Kentucky.

This condition, mine officials have said, is due to increasing competition of nonunion fields and introduction of machinery.

Pointing to the great surplus of workers, Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Mine Workers, has advised local unions to refuse new members, other than sons of active miners.

A Great Offer To Chronic Rheumatic Sufferers

Money Back if Allenrhu Fails to Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

"It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges," says James H. Allen. "I know that Allenrhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints."

"I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenrhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me."

"I know because since I cured myself, hundreds have taken Allenrhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease."

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposit and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases.

With this understanding he has instructed Los Angeles Druggists and druggists everywhere to guarantee it in every instance.—[Advertisement.

Eielson, the expedition's chief flyer, is on his way to Fairbanks, where he will prepare the temporary hangars for the airplanes.

The snow motors division of the expedition, which will carry the fuel and oil for the airplanes overland to Point Barrow, will leave Fairbanks within a few days.

ARMY MEASURE STARTS DEBATE

House Halts Work to Argue About Court-martials

Penalties During War Held Out of Proportion

Military Force Retained at Present Strength

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Consideration of the War Department appropriation bill served as a vehicle today for the House to engage in a general debate on various army activities, the recent court-martial of William Mitchell coming in for a share of the discussion.

After approving a section of the measure providing for maintenance of the Army at its present strength —11,140 officers and 118,583 enlisted men—for another year, the House paused for debate, and later adjourned without approving a section carrying $70,000 for court-martial expenses, of which amount one-half is for the Mitchell trial. Consideration of this section will be the first order of business tomorrow.

TRIAL HELD SHAME

Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, termed the Mitchell trial as "farcical" and asserted it was a "shame" that the people had to pay $85,000 for such an "exhibition," while Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, urged that Congress order an investigation of all court-martial trials during the World War.

"The punishments meted out," he said, "frequently were out of all proportion to the offense. Most of those sentences undoubtedly should be reduced."

While Representative McLaughlin, Republican, Michigan, expressed doubt as to whether accused military men always were properly defended, Representative Simmons, Republican, Nebraska, maintained that they were "as well defended as prosecuted."

CRUEL PUNISHMENT

Representative Laguardia, Socialist, New York, offered and then withdrew an amendment to require general staff officers to spend at least three hours a month in the air in an airplane. Representative Wingo, Democrat, Arkansas, asserted this requirement "would be cruel and unusual punishment."

"Oh, they wouldn't have to pilot the plane," replied Mr. Laguardia. "They would go up as passengers."

He withdrew the proposal after Representative Anthony, Republican, Kansas, in charge of the bill, made a point of order against it as unauthorized legislation.

TAX ON ALL MEN URGED FOR RUSSIA

Woman Ambassador Offers New Scheme to Provide National Alimony Fund

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Feb. 11.—Discussing proposed changes in the soviet marriage code Madame Kollantay, Russia's militant woman Ambassador to Norway, suggests the creation of an "alimony fund," derived from direct taxation of all men in the country out of which abandoned mothers and their babies may be supported. This, she says, would be a much less degrading form of support than the existing plan, which makes it obligatory for divorced fathers to provide for their former wives and offspring.

Madame Kollantay asserts that, for the peasantry, marriage represents a real producing factor, because the country woman helps her husband to produce goods, whereas, for the manual workers, matrimony means only a consuming element, in that the city woman only helps her spouse consume what he earns. On the theory that social conditions in Russia vary widely, she proposes that the conditions of the marriage contract should also vary for different classes. She would have one contract for peasants, another for manual workers, and a third for soviet officials with different requirements for each category.

Governor Opens War on Arizona Colony Scheme

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 11.—That negro colonization in the Vicksburg section of Yuma county is a palpable fraud was declared today by Gov. Hunt in a letter addressed to Federal and county authorities, with a request for action. Attached was a report made for the Governor by Ira W. Wagnan, who states that Frank Rose of the Carlton Farms Company, Los Angeles, has located thirty-five negroes, most of them with families, on an unsurveyed township, receiving a fee of $1 an acre.

Rose is asserted to have told the settlers that money had been appropriated for the Boulder Canyon Dam, from which water would be available by May, 1926. He also is said to have promised a Southern Pacific branch railroad, a schoolhouse, a cotton gin and highways. On the basis of these hopes, many of the settlers are said to have built substantial homes and to have made other improvements. As the land is arid and the season has been dry, many have been compelled to leave and seek employment elsewhere.

Greek Peddler Arrested After Five-Year Hunt

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON (Mass.) Feb. 11.—Louis T. Poulos, a fruit peddler, sought for five years by authorities of this country and Greece, was taken into custody by Patrolmen Henry Smith and John Sexton as he was walking along Winter street with a basket of choice bananas and organes on his arm.

In Greece he is wanted in connection with the murder of Maria Sinou, 19 years of age, who was found with her throat cut, on May 2, 1920, in a township called Skoupi. The girl was murdered after a courtship of several months with Poulos.

Priest Appeals From Sentence on Auto Charge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Feb. 11. Rev. John A. Bratton, pastor of the Woodlawn Catholic Church, today appealed from a sentence imposed upon him in Police Court late yesterday following his conviction upon a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. He was fined $100 and suspended from driving for six months.

He was arrested Tuesday by policemen who said the minister's car "was wobuling" and had the appearance of having been in a wreck. The policemen testified that Rev. Bratton was intoxicated.

A woman parishioner, who was a passenger in the car, testified that the priest was not intoxicated.

Board Rejects Dollar Line Bid on Five Vessels

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. — The Shipping Board rejected today the $2,000,000 bid of Stanley Dollar for purchase of the five liners of the Admiral-Oriental Line operating out of Puget Sound ports to the Orient.

The board approved the recommendation of President Crowley of the Fleet Corporation in rejecting the bids on the ground that the offer was not responsive to the advertisement of the ship for sale.

Mr. Crowley was authorized to negotiate with Dollar or any other prospective purchasers to obtain better offers for the ships and was directed to report back to the board within ten days.

LETTER FROM PRIEST DISAPPEARANCE CLEW

MISSING CLERGYMAN TELLS OF SUFFERING PAINS IN HIS HEAD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11.—A letter written by Rev. Francis E. Hagedorn, missing Catholic priest, to his parents, in which he complained of being under "an awful strain" from overstudy, has given strength to the theory that he has suffered mental aberration.

The letter was brought here yesterday by his brother, Tony Hagedorn, of Pierce City, Mo. It was dated last Saturday, the day the priest disappeared. Father Hagedorn's brother, who was accompanied here by a brother-in-law, was unable to give any reason for the disappearance other than that in the letter.

In the letter Father Hagedorn said he suffered severe pains in his head "that just knock me."

"I have simply got to have it tended to," he wrote. "And now the bishop is short of priests and needs all the help that I can give, but I'm afraid of that pain, no matter how trifling it is. I don't want you to worry, for it is not serious, understand."

PARIS RADICALS FALL INTO LINE

Accept Modified Proposal on Bond Question

Shifting of Positions Features Chamber Session

Budget Balance Needed to Ward Off Crisis

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Feb. 11.—The shifting of positions in the conflict over the financial restoration measures continued in the Chamber of Deputies today. The Radicals accepted a modified system for the transformation of bearer bonds to nominative bonds, while the Socialists reserved their decision.

The tax on agricultural profits on which a compromise was reached yesterday again came up and was adopted.

Both the government and the Chamber were much impressed by representations made by delegates from different Senate groups that unless the Senate is very soon put in possession of measures to balance the budget the situation will become critical. It was the action of the Senators that had the greatest effect on the Finance Committee of the Chamber when that body met this morning to consider a compromise proposal with respect to bonds, presented by Finance Minister M. Doumer.

The Radicals at once decided to accept this proposal, but the Communists and Socialists put through an adverse motion. M. Lamoureaux, reporter of the committee, thereupon left the committee room with the intention of resigning, but the Radical leaders induced him to return. The previous action of the committee was reversed, and the Doumer compromise adopted. This plan gives preference to nominative bonds, but leaves the issue of bonds to bearer optional.

THOUSANDS FACE BALDNESS and Don't Know It

Working Almost Secretly, Destructive Bacteria of "Alopecia Pityrodes" Spread Disease Through the Scalp Which Brings Baldness in from Two to Seven Years. Now Recognized as Cause of 85% of Baldness.

Only Effective Remedial Agents Known to Science Now Combined in Remarkable New Formula by Prof. John H. Austin, Over 40 Years a Hair and Scalp Specialist.

RECORDS carefully kept over a period of years by Prof. John H. Austin, nationally known hair and scalp specialist, show that a great percentage of people are afflicted with "Alopecia Pityrodes," a serious scalp trouble which is a forerunner of baldness. Many people mistake this affliction for common dandruff, because the bacteria quietly carry on their destructive work from two to seven years before any decided loss of hair is noticed and the first sign of baldness appears.

Neglect

The Warning

How Alopecia Pityrodes Destroys Healthy Hair

This trouble starts with a scaling of the scalp, sometimes slight, commonly called "dandruff," sometimes abundant, producing thick, grayish-white, greasy scales —which leads to falling of the hair. This stage lasts from two to seven years as a rule. Then, as the bacteria multiply by the million, the falling of the hair increases rapidly, and in time the top of the head becomes entirely bald.

One of Nine Famous Hair Discoveries

Of nine tested formulas developed by Prof. Austin and his private practice, only one, known as Formula G, proved remarkably successful. Practically stopped the progress of the disease, restored the scalp to normal condition and promoted a growth of new hair.

Secret of Success Formula G

This remarkable formula, the only known to Science as capable of the treatment of Alopecia Pityrodes in the early stages, can be mastered in full strength. Formula G is packed in glass containers to make treatment easy and convenient. Formula G penetrates to the roots of the hair, attacks and destroys the bacteria, stops scaling and stops falling hair, relieves dandruff, restores the hair roots to normal growth, etc. No matter how severe the trouble, no matter what the cause, etc., you have the full benefit of Formula G. Get it at any reliable druggist. Formula G is a scientific success. Always in stock at Owl Drug Stores.

FRIENDLY ENEMIES TONIGHT

When the California and U.S.C. basketball teams hook up this evening at the Olympic Auditorium two men in the limelight will be Bill Higgins, top, and Manual Laraneta. Higgins is the bright and shining star of the Bruins. Laraneta, while not a good shot, plays a whale of a game at guard for the Trojans, his never-say-die attitude stopping a lot of rushes on the part of his opponents.

Windy City Athletes Arrive at Catalina Sunday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—The first squad of Cubs—recruits and some veterans—gave spring training an early start this morning. Eighteen athletes and a retinue of a dozen more left on a Santa Fe train at 9:45 a.m.

JOE McCARTHY

The departure was marked by an incident unusual in baseball annals. A rookie holdout failed to show up. This was Russell Pence of Marine, Ill., a big right - hander, who pitched for Dallas last season. He is not satisfied with the terms and is the only player who hasn't signed a contract.

Ernest Holman, a recruit infielder, stayed behind to have his arm treated. He will join the squad later. Outfielder Mandy Brooks appeared at the depot just in time to catch the rattler and he will occupy Pence's pew in the Harvey eating houses en route to the Coast.

ARRIVES SUNDAY

The squad will arrive at the Catalina Island camp Sunday and there will be work for them to do Monday. They will meet Manager Joe McCarthy and eleven of their comrades at Los Angeles.

FANS FAVOR HUFFMAN TO BEAT SHARKEY IN BATTLE TONIGHT

EDDIE HUFFMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, and Eddie Huffman, that hard-hitting young man from California, are primed and ready for their ten-round scuffle in Madison Square Garden tomorrow evening. Eddie wound up his training at Stillman's gymnasium this afternoon before a large and enthusiastic audience.

Most of the critics who watched his concluding flourishes were of the opinion that he has improved wonderfully since his great struggle with Ad Stone over in Newark, a few weeks ago. His work in the gymnasium has been sufficiently impressive to make him a favorite in the betting over his Boston rival although the margin is rather slight. In boxing circles tonight the boys were betting 7 and 8 to 5 that Huffman is awarded the decision.

STATE PREP MEET HERE

Annual California Interscholastic Track-and-Field Championships at Coliseum May 8

For the second time in three years Los Angeles will be the scene of the State interscholastic track-and-field championships, according to an announcement made last night by Zack Farmer, manager of the Coliseum, where the meet will be held. The affair will be staged May 8 with more than 150 high school athletes from all over the State entered.

Los Angeles gets the meet again this year because Sacramento waived its claim to the annual affair when the Solons decided their facilities were not adequate for the staging of such an important athletic event. Stanford was the scene of the meet last year, while Los Angeles had it the year before. In the regular order of events this city would not get the event again this season but when Sacramento dropped out of the running the Coliseum was selected.

Dates for many other important meets were announced last night by Coliseum officials. The season will open the 20th inst. with the University of Southern California meeting Occidental College. It will close about May 23, with a A.A.U. event for an industrial league that is being formed.

The big event of the season will be the A.A.U. championships, which are scheduled for May 15. Another blue ribbon meet will be the University of California against the University of Southern California on March 20.

The complete schedule follows:
February 20—U.S.C. vs. Oxy.
February 27—A.A.U. open relays.
March 20—U.S.C. vs. California.
March 27—A.A.U. high school relays.
April 3 — Southern California Conference championships.
April 10 — U.S.C. vs. Olympic Club.
April 14—City high school preliminaries.
April 16 — Junior city high school preliminaries.
April 17—City League finals.
April 24 — Southern California C.I.F. preliminaries.
May 1—C.I.F. Southern California finals.
May 8 — State interscholastic championships.
May 15—A.A.U. championships.

FILM FIRMS PROTEST EXCLUSION FROM COURT

Appeal to Lawn Tennis Body for Right to Take Photos; Rain Again Halts Play

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Four American news-reel corporations today protested to the United States Lawn Tennis Association against the exclusion of their photographers from the prospective tennis match between Helen Wills, American champion, and Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, European title-holder, at Cannes, France. Urging that their arguments be placed before the French Tennis Federation, the exhibitors declared that they would refuse to purchase the films from private concessionaires, a step which would prevent their showing in America.

The concerns signing the following protest were Kinograms, Fox, International and Pathe. Their statement said:

"The undersigned, exhibiting news events in every motion-picture theater in America, wish through the United States Lawn Tennis Association to protest vigorously at the exclusion of our representatives from the Lenglen-Wills match. Such discrimination is a violation of the rights of news organizations to cover events of universal interest.

"Moreover, showing through our products is the only possible method for millions of Americans to see the pictures, as films taken by private concessionaires positively will not be purchased by any of the undersigned. We respectfully urge the transmission of our protest to the French association."

Formation of a Pacific Coast Professional Football League this fall is forecasted by the announcement last night of Harry M. Pollok that he has filed incorporation papers for such a proposition. Tim Mara and Billy Gibson, who are associated with the New York Giants football club, have promised to lend Pollok their support and it is not unlikely that an annual East vs. West pro game will be arranged with the Gotham outfit.

According to Pollok, Jack Kearns, who arrives today with Mickey Walker, has handled arrangements with Mara and Gibson so that the Pacific Coast League will stand in well

WINTERBURN GETS CARD JOB

Santa Ana Mentor Picked to Assist Warner With Card Backfield; Hunt is New Cage Mentor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Appointment of E. P. "Husky" Hunt to the position of head basketball coach of Stanford University and J. Charles Winterburn as assistant football coach, was approved today by the trustees.

Hunt has been director of freshman athletics at the university, and Winterburn is football coach at Santa Ana (Cal.) High School. Both positions were made vacant by the resignation of Andy Kerr, who will leave after the spring season to take over a coaching berth with Washington and Jefferson College.

GLENN "POP" WARNER

The board of athletic control previously had recommended Hunt and Winterburn for the respective positions. They will take charge at the opening of next season.

Winterburn, who will direct the backfield men, is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, class of 1923. While there he starred on the gridiron for three years, under Coach Glenn Warner, present head mentor of Stanford.

Coming to the Pacific Coast in 1924, Winterburn became coach at San Mateo High School, and last season took over similar duties at Santa Ana.

Three World Swim Records Are Cracked

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. AUGUSTINE (Fla.) Three world records were broken, Ethel Lackie, Chicago, national 100-yard free-style champion, retained her title and the Women's Swimming Association of New York swam to the national 400-yard crowd in the third day's events of the national women's A.A.U. swimming contests here tonight.

Eybil Bauer, Chicago, broke her own world's record when she negotiated the 300-meter backstroke against time in 4m. 53 2-4s. Her old mark was 4m. 59 3-5s.

Not allowed their new world records set last Tuesday because of defects in the turning boards, Agnes Geraghty and Martha Norelius, both of New York, tried again in special events and reset their laurels. Miss Geraghty made the 200-yard breast stroke in 2m. 59s., and Miss Norelius in a special 250-yard free-style event was clocked in 3m. 12s.

MIDWICK POLOISTS WIN

Goal Squad Scores 8-to-0 Win Over Stanford Four; Jack Holt Injured in Play

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASO ROBLES, Feb. 11.—Playing the entire game in a driving rain, Midwick Country Club's eight-goal polo team today defeated Stanford, 8 to 0, in the first round of the San Mateo eight-goal tourney. Despite the wet field, not a single spill marred play and the heavy condition of the turf slowed up the game con-

Midwick team was without the services of Bill Holt, back, who received a nasty cut on the back of the head when struck by a mallet during practice this week. Holt was not injured in this home by the way, but it was found necessary to take a couple of stitches in the wound. It is possible that he will be able to play against the Stanford team Sunday on the Midwick field. Cooley took Holt's position at back and defended the goal as well that player was unable to score.

Play during before the rain fell on the field, and it was fast throughout the period. Paddock and Cooley played excellent polo throughout the game, each scoring three times during the period. Through the remaining, the Midwick team was given two goals by Stanford.

Summary:

Stanford (0)		Midwick (8)
E. Kirsch		C. B. Wrightsman (1)
C. O. Thompson		Neil McCarthy (3)
George Baker		Rowland Paddock (4)
L. C. Vanderwerp		Willis Cooley

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American A. C., who won the two-mile race, feature event of the Cresent A. C. meet in Brooklyn tonight in 9m. 17s.

Henry Jones of Syracuse finished a half lap behind Ritola and Verne Booth of the Millrose A. C., New York, was third.

Hoff of Norway, world champion pole vaulter, scaled 13 ft. This is half an inch better than the world's record he set in Boston last Saturday but will not stand as it was not a competition. Hoff leaped the bar on his first trial.

FEATURED IN PASADENA TOURNEY

Three of the best-known feminine players in Pacific Coast tennis circles will be seen in action today on the Hotel Huntington courts. From left to right the stars are Eleanor Goss, Marion Williams and Helen Jacobs. Miss Jacobs is holder of the girls' national junior title and is being picked to offer Helen Wills some rather strenuous opposition in the near future.

BABY JOE GANS STOPS CARTER AT PASADENA

Babe Joe Gans, claimant of the Pacific Coast negro lightweight championship, stopped Sailor Carter in the second round of the Pasadena Armory main event last night. A right to the jaw lured the birdies out of the cuckoo clock for Carter. The scrap was scheduled for ten rounds.

In the semi-wind-up Pinky Urquiti knocked out Frankie Doland in the sixth round of their six-round go. In the other bouts Frankie Keath and Nifty Gonzales went six rounds to a draw; Cal Correa beat Bobby Rubio after four stanzas, while Alex Balaz won the four-round curtain-raiser from Tony Cocon.

PALAIS HOCKEY TEAM VICTOR; LEADS LOOP

The Palais de Glace sextet went into the Commercial Ice Hockey League lead by defeating the Richfield team, 2 to 1, after a thrilling tilt last night at the Palais de Glace. A superior combination and a sterling defense were coupled by the Palais team to acount for the win.

A heavy fog settled over the ice soon after play started, and for fourteen minutes the rivals chased the puck without a score. Finally, Palais forged in front when Wilson scored on a pass from Newell. Richfield evened the count in the second period when Harris scored, but Ernie Moore won for the Palais squad when he netted the deciding goal early in the last period.

Callahan and Schaeffer Tangle in Hollywood Arena Tonight

MUSHY'S TRIP EAST AT STAKE

Former Newsboy Appears First Time This Year

Frankie Has Recent Win Over Silver to Credit

House is Sell-out Except for Gallery Seats

The greatest disappointment that could happen to young Mushy Callahan at this time would be for Frankie Schaeffer to slip the former newsboy a defeat at Hollywood tonight on the eve of his departure for New York.

Wouldn't it be tough on Eddie Sears and Mushy if Frankie Schaeffer whipped Callahan tonight and they had to tear up those tickets for New York? Eddie Long, manager of Schaeffer, was the spokesman and he meant every word of it. In fact, Long thinks that Schaeffer is going to win.

MUSHY CALLAHAN

Callahan is making his only appearance of the year at the Legion Stadium. He leaves for New York in the morning to make his New York debut at Tex Rickard's Madison Square Garden. A defeat would just about ruin Mushy as a card in New York and don't think for a minute that Callahan and Sears don't realise this.

Mushy is in condition. He has been working carefully but well under the watchful eye of his manager. Sears has a way about him of getting the best there is in a fighter out of him. He stated last night that he wouldn't be at all surprised if Mushy stopped Schaeffer.

Eddie Long laughs at any talk of Schaeffer's being kayoed. Frankie has been on the floor several times in his life but never knocked out. Last Friday night Frankie surprised all San Francisco by giving Jack Silver a good trimming.

There will be a packed house at the Legion Stadium tonight. The gallery seats go on sale at 7 o'clock. Scalpers are going to have a tough time as there is a picked staff of new faces out after the boys who make it a practice of cleaning up on setouts.

The card:

Mushy Callahan vs. Frankie Schaeffer, ten rounds.
Ad Allegriol vs. Sailor Lipton, six rounds.
Johnny Godfrey vs. Danny Peralta, six rounds.
Charlie Lefour vs. Oscar Keller, six rounds.
Frankie Calvo vs. Johnny Verdi, four rounds.

COLLEGIANS IN BASEBALL
Chapter LXXVI

HUGH JENNINGS

The first college player to appear in the majors arrived in 1880. Up to that time baseball material had been taken by the minors from the sandlots and by the majors from the minors. Two collegians arrived in 1880. One of them was John M. Ward, who afterward became a successful lawyer in New York City, and the other one was William McClure, who also took up law after quitting baseball and became a judge of the western district of Pennsylvania.

"Willie Bill" Hutchinson, a pitcher, came from the campus of Yale to the Chicago Cubs in 1892 and was successful. Christy Mathewson then entered the professional game and the success of Mathewson turned managers to the college diamonds for material. The percentage of collegians in the major leagues has been increasing ever since.

The question is often asked: "Do college men make better ball players than those from the sand lots?" Many are under the impression that because of an education the collegian's brain works faster on a ball field than that of the sandlotter who, as a rule, has little education. This is the wrong impression, for I have seen graduates from great universities pull some of the most stupid plays conceivable and, on the other hand, I have seen the products of the sand lots give to the situation and deliver brilliantly at the crucial moment. In a discussion of rules involving the finer points of baseball I have time and again seen the sandlotters win the arguments.

HANDICAPPED

The collegian is handicapped by theories; the sandlotter has no theories. His play is mechanical, his knowledge practical; he has learned baseball as a skilled mechanic learns his trade.

College players are good hunters —there they have it on the sandlotter and major-leaguer, too, for that matter. While as a whole collegians are not good fielders nor good hitters, they can bunt. The reason is that they practice bunting constantly, while the professionals prefer to slug a ball; laying it down does not appeal to them. Therefore, college teams all play the old army game. They can play that best, all being able to bunt.

I want to say something here about summer baseball. It is an open secret that a large number of college men play summer ball. Nearly all of them get money for playing, although few ever admit that they are paid, which is natural. For years, good college players have been given opportunities to play in the summer. Now, I don't care whether a boy is wealthy or poor, whether he rides to his classes in a Pierce-Arrow or whether he makes his way through school by washing dishes, he is going to play summer ball if he gets a chance, not because of the money he will get for playing summer ball, but because of his love for play. Since these boys will play, why not make it possible for them to play honestly instead of under assumed names? It has been done for years and it will continue to be done, regardless of what rules are passed and what restrictions are placed on them by college and university authorities. Since the habit persists, I still believe that a suggestion made by me thirty years ago is applicable today. I suggested then that the colleges get together and agree on summer ball for pay as long as the students do not play with teams in organized baseball. Let them go out and get the practice and develop; also let them get the money that owners or managers are willing to pay, for they will get it anyway.

It is not difficult to find out whether a boy has played summer baseball. It is most difficult to prove that he received money for playing. There is a marked difference between college and professional baseball, collegians making plays one way and professionals in another. I have seen collegians return to the diamond and show the results of a summer spent in professional company. There is no mistaking it. Their style will always be different from that of the previous season.

HELPS CONDUCT

It is a good thing to have collegians mixing with noncollegians. The collegians have added a certain amount of dignity to the profession. They make the noncollegians careful about their conduct. They help them. The collegians have social graces that the man off the sand lot lacks. Players have improved in deportment and habits since the coming of the collegians in large numbers. Whether this improvement is due to the collegians or not, they are entitled to the benefit of the doubt as to the influence underlying the improvement.

Looking over the rosters of the various major-league clubs I find a large percentage of men that received college educations. Among the products of colleges that saw the major leagues I may mention offhand John M. Ward, William McClure, Bill Hutchinson, Christy Mathewson, Harry L. Taylor, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, "Moose" McCormick, Jack Coombs, George Sisler, the Sewell brothers, Frankie Frisch, Travis Jackson, Arthur Nehf, Harry Hellmann, Tom McNamara, Heathcote, Arnold Statz, Ed Wells, Eppa Jeppa Rixey, Pete Donohue, Cy Williams, Ford, Emory Rigney, Derrill Pratt, Riggs Stephenson, Joe Dugan, "Muddy" Ruel, Vic Keen, Joe Birmingham, Billy Lauder, Dave Fultz, Mike Lynch, Fred McGuire, Walter Huntzinger, Clint Blume, Mike Powers, Johnny Lavan, Ernie Koob, Ray Kolp, "Rib" Falk, "Rip" Collins, Larry Woodall, Glen Killinger, "Hinkey" Haines, Jim Thorpe, Hoge Workman, Eddie Plank, Walter Pipp, Larry Gardner, Arlie Pond, Ted Lewis, Fred Tenney, Sexton, Tommy Cahill, Tommy Dowd, Arthur Devlin, Eddie Grant, Harry White, "Jocko" Conlon, Outfielder Wilson, Lou Gehrig, Herb Pennock, Louis Sockalexis, Max Carey, Mike Doolan, Vogel, Ralph Shinners, Bill Ryan.

SOLDANI LEADS AT HILLCREST

Clark and Fitzgerald Collect Divisional Medals

Mrs. Schulman Cops Feminine Play at Girard

BY BILL WISE

C. L. "Chief" Soldani of Lakeside, finished two strokes under W. W. Beckwith, Rancho's veteran campaigner, with a 75, to win low gross honors in the first eighteen-hole qualifying round of the annual thirty-six-hole invitational tourney at the Hillcrest club yesterday.

Chief Soldani

Soldani, also a member of Rancho, was on top of his game yesterday. Out in 36, he three-putted three greens, coming home to finish with a 39. Lakeside's picturesque star has been threatening to break into the real championship class for months past.

Yesterday's medalist has broken 75 consistently on nearly every course in this vicinity, but won his first competitive trophy in a two-ball mixed foursome event at Rancho several months ago. He later won the one-day invitational during golf week at the El Caballero Club.

George Cornes, another Lakeside star, finished third in the Class A bracket with 79, while C. E. Smoot and Elmer Henderson, former Trojan grid coach, scored 80's.

The Hillcrest course, slightly heavy yesterday from a lot of recent fog, is one of the finest and most enjoyable tests of golf in this State. Lewis Scott, former San Diego Country Club professional, now in charge at Hillcrest, has done wonders for the layout. The fairways and especially the greens were in wonderful shape for the championship play yesterday—and for the first time in many, many months, there was no criticism for the entertaining club.

Play yesterday was in three classes, scratch to 6, 7 to 12 and 14 to 18. More than 200 golfers will also qualify eighteen holes in the tourney today. Low thirty-five scores in all classes will play a final eighteen-hole round tomorrow.

Leo W. Barnett, tourney chairman, and Ad Frankel, were in charge of the tourney yesterday. Barnett was the instigator of the medal class of play for the annual club invitational, three years ago. The play has increased each year and scoring has always been remarkably good. Herman Politz, third member of the tournament committee, has been confined to his home with a severe cold, for several days past and will not be on hand to welcome the large field expected to play through the event today.

In the six-round semi-wind-up Mike Hector and Eddie Shepperds will be the rivals. Bud Cougler and Danny Toomay will stage their return date in the six-round special.

ROW LOOMING OVER NET PLAY

that that long-looked-for Wills-Langlen tennis match would not take place after all, has become settled, and with both Suzanne and Helen committed to playing through the tournament, there would seem to be no further hitch to prevent the meeting.

The Riviera sun, however, is still sulking after three days of steady rain and even should the deluge end tonight the courts would not be ready for play before tomorrow afternoon. It is hardly likely that the meeting between the French and American champions can take place before Monday next, or, perhaps, Tuesday.

There is a possibility that the exclusive picture rights may be canceled and that all cameramen may be allowed to take pictures of the finals. Miss Wills and Mlle. Langlen both have protested against the publicity caused by selling the rights and the adverse comments appearing in the French press have led Thomas Burke, lessee of the Carlton courts, who negotiated the moving-picture deal, to think seriously of reconsidering his decision.

The arrival at Cannes today of the American who was reported to have purchased the exclusive privilege, and his failure to produce the amount agreed upon is also said to have exercised influence upon Mr. Burke's hesitation to go through with the arrangements. No contract has yet been signed, the agreement being only verbal thus far.

In the meantime, George W. Hillard, former secretary of the Wimbledon Association, has been selected as umpire, and eleven linesmen, none of them Americans or French, also have been chosen.

There remain 150 matches to play in the open events, while all handicaps have been canceled owing to the delay necessitated by the rain.

The referee, Georges Simond, says he will hurry the women's singles along with all possible speed so as to have the finals Monday. Tentatively, the hour of the great match is fixed for Monday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, or Tuesday at 11 in the morning.

Three days' absence from the courts is a much greater handicap to Helen than to Suzanne. The American girl needs all the practice she can get, while the French woman, playing all winter, rather wants rest, which she has been getting.

Miss Wills this evening seemed less perturbed than she had been during the filming controversy. She did some painting today from a hotel window overlooking the rain-soaked palm trees and the foggy Mediterranean.

MASON KEEPS EUROPE LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Harry Mason of Leeds, lightweight champion pugilist of Europe, retained his title tonight by defeating Ernie Rice. Rice was disqualified in the fifth round for low hitting.

Mason was first to get going and as usual was very elusive, although Rice managed to land a couple of rights to the jaw.

In the third round Rice hit rather low, but the referee took no notice of it. Mason had the better of the two-handed fighting in the fourth, but in the fifth Rice rushed in and fouled so palpably that the referee stopped the contest, and disqualified him.

PRINCE SENDS HIS GREETINGS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The greetings of the Prince of Wales on the occasion of the National League's jubilee dinner, have just been received by President Heydler.

"I have been deeply interested in your national games for years," he wrote. "I would have been present on the occasion had it been possible."

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

THOSE who journey over to the Hotel Huntington in Pasadena during the next three days will have a rare opportunity to see some of the finest tennis players in the country doing their stuff in the annual invitational tournament of the Pasadena Tennis Club. Among the women will be Miss Eleanor Goss, who has been ranked in the first ten for the past six or seven years; Miss Helen Jacobs, national girl's champion who can probably beat anybody in the tournament except Miss Goss; Marjorie Thorne, fifth ranking player in the State; Marion Williams, former Southern California champion, and all of the best local junior players. Among the men will be the best college tennis players in the country starting with the national intercollegiate champion, Bud Chandler of U.C.; Cranston Holman, national junior champion; Gervais Hillis, national intercollegiate doubles champion; Alan Herrington, Southern California champion, and a whole flock of the best senior players on the Coast including Howard Kinsey, Harold Godshall, Phil Neer and numerous others. That will be worth an afternoon of anybody's time.

Boyd Comstock's aggregation of hand-picked track and field athletes from the L.A.A.C. ought to be a pretty tough outfit to beat this year if all of those whose names have appeared in the papers, really do perform. They make their first appearance as a team tomorrow against Joe Pipal's Oxy Tigers and Joe very frankly says he doesn't expect to do much against them. The Clubmen will have some of the finest athletes that ever drew on a spiked shoe in Southern California performing under their banner and, for a change, will have a lot of good men in all events instead of having just a few old-time stars in two or three events. Several graduates of last year's fine teams at U.S.C., Pomona and Occidental will bolster up the ranks of the Clubmen appreciably.

Which brings us around to the possibility that there may be a couple of club teams performing on the track in the near future. The Hollywood A.C., which is noted for its progress and activity in the matter of active athletics, had a slick team last year and is considering putting one in the field this year. Among those who would perform for the Hollywood outfit would be such stars as Keith Lloyd and Vic Klein, sprinters, and others of similar capabilities. Were we able to develop real rivalry between the club athletic teams we would be a great deal better off as both organizations would give the local colleges good practice before getting together in a battle to the death among themselves.

We read of the accomplishments of the mermaids down in Florida and shudder. About fifteen years ago we were suspected of possibilities of greatness when we swam 220 yards in a fraction under 2m. 50s. The other day at least three girls beat that mark, two of them by five seconds. All of which leads us to believe that if we'd been born fifteen years later than we were, we'd never have been as much of a hero as we were—which wasn't much.

RUNSTAR IS BEATEN

Speedy English Colt Takes Measure of Former Coffroth Handicap Winner

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Feb. 11.—Carlaris, speedy British colt owned by Fatty Anderson of Chula Vista, stable, finished a length ahead of Spic and Span, J. C. McGill's powerful runner in the Chapultepec Handicap at six furlongs here today. Moonraker was third, with Runstar fourth.

Sunshine, former Coffroth winner, made his first start in more than a year. Baron Long, local turfman, bought him for breeding purposes and retired him to his Alpine ranch. A short time ago it was found that the big chestnut had improved to such a degree that he would again be able to stand training. After a short prep he made his start, but was short. He pulled up without any trace of lameness, however, and will doubtless be one of the strong contenders in the Coffroth again this year.

Runstar lived up to his old reputation and broke in front at the barrier and held the lead for three furlongs, but had to give way to Carlaris. The speedy colt proved to be easily the class of the field and held the others safe without much difficulty. Results:

First race, three and one-half furlongs—Kanzabel (O'Brien) won, Shasta Rosie (Rook) second, Gabaldon (eFlemal) third. Time, 0:43.

Second race, five furlongs—Kindrad (Straight) won, Don (Rent) second, Midnight Bell (Halburton) third. Time, 1:02.

Third race, six furlongs—Brazen (Schaffer) won, Sally's Mary (Kelso) second, Superchief (Crow) third. Time, 1:14 3-5.

Fourth race, mile and one-sixteenth—Chilltwalk (Kastelinger) won, Rumpti (Hannan) second, Bonarth (Neal) third. Time, 1:49 2-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs—Full o' Fun (Rook) won, Walter Dell (Crow) second, Tigent (White) third. Time, 1:14 4-5.

Sixth race, four and one-half furlongs—Miss Lester (Pollard) won, Jack Pond (Wells) second, Ellman (Edwards) third. Time, 0:53 1-5.

Seventh race, six furlongs—Carlaris (Taylor) won, Spic and Span (Burns) second, Moonraker (Smith) third. Time, 1:13.

Eighth race, eighteenth course—Betty Malone (White) won, Coffield (Buck) second, Perhaps (Neal) third. Time, 1:38 4-5.

Ninth race, mile and one-quarter—Shady (Neal) won, John Merrill (Pacio) second, Hyacone (Wallis) third. Time, 2:06.

BULLDOG FIVE WINS

Lightweights Down Santa Ana 12 to 8; Other Two Teams Tangle for Title This Afternoon

The Pasadena High School lightweights downed the visiting Santa Ana High School five yesterday afternoon in the next to the last game of the season for the two basketball teams. The Crown City quintet won 12 to 8 when Capt. Rogers scored 9 points, enough to beat their opponents had his team-mates failed to tally.

The line-ups:

Pasadena		Santa Ana
Smith (1)	F.	Treble (3)
Rogers (9)	F.	White (1)
Peugher (2)	C.	Adams (1)
J. Harrison	G.	Goodman (3)
G. Harrison	G.	Sullivan (1)

Today the varsity and the midgets take the trip to Santa Ana for their next to the final game of the Coast League season. Pasadena has the edge in the contest figuring by their season's comparative showings. The Foothillers have won four and lost no games, while the Saints have won two and lost two tilts, standing in fourth place. The Long Beach five is tied with Pasadena for the lead, they having won four and lost no games.

Long Beach meets San Diego on the former's court today and should the Jackrabbits and the Bulldogs each win they would meet next week in the game that will decide the title of the Coast League. Tyler, Goode and Reynolds are the trio, two forwards and a center, on whom Pasadena places the burden of its struggles. Opposing them will be just as famous a trio in Shaw, Hepp and Coleman of the beach team.

HUDKINS TO LIMIT WEIGHT FOR O'BRIEN IN OLYMPIC GO

Nebraska's most famous wildcat, Ace Hudkins, has been called a combination of "Bat" Nelson and Ad Wolgast, two of the greatest lightweights who ever lived.

It is a cinch that Hudkins holds a spot peculiarly his own in the present-day lightweight situation. His style and mannerisms date back to the old days when boys used to box twenty and thirty rounds. In other words, Hudkins is one of the few modern boxers who can be compared with the old masters.

Hudkins will throw everything he has in his stock against Tommy O'Brien next Wednesday night in their rematch at the Olympic Auditorium.

A chesty, overconfident wildcat was nearly tamed by O'Brien last summer when Tommy flattened him three times. Each time Hudkins came up without a count.

Hudkins vows he will knock out O'Brien and to better his chances he intends to scale not more than 135 1-2 pounds for the fight. According to the articles of agreement, both men may make 137.

Ace is at his best at 135 pounds or within a half-pound of that either way. When he carries 137 or 138 pounds, he is sluggish. The only times Ace was ever held anywhere near close have occurred when he stepped into the ring overweight.

U.S.C. COLLEGIANS AND FACULTY STAR IN BRENTWOOD GOLF PLAY

Ralph Eckles, U.S.C.'s outstanding bid for national collegiate golfing fame, was home in 75—2 over par, in the intercollege golf tourney at the Brentwood club yesterday. Other scores were as follows: Schooling, 80; Deible, Prunders, 81; Majors, 84; Walters, Drury, 87; Srere, 88; Kerr, 91; liberal arts, dental, law, commerce, English and pharmacy colleges were represented in the event.

Aubrey Devine, golf coach, medaled 86 to cop the faculty tourney held in connection with the intercollege event. Dean Ford and Harold Stonier, sponsored the faculty event. Other low net scores were as follows: Dr. Nokes, 93-18-75; Dr. Kaiser, 89-14-75; Hal Stonier, 79; Dr. Gail, Dr. Backley, 81; Dr. Eanes, 80; Dr. Mass, 79; Dr. Felfenthal, 78; Dr. Touchey, 83; Dr. Ford, 85.

Mickey Walker, Welter Champ, Arrives Today

Mickey Walker is scheduled to arrive this morning with his family and manager, Jack Kearns, in search of work. The welterweight champion has been tentatively matched to box Lee Lomski at Vernon next month. This will be one of three fights which the 147-pound king plans to make in the Southland. He may be matched to meet the winner of the Moore-Jock Malone scrap, which is scheduled for Vernon a week from next Tuesday for his second bout, and the third may be waged either here or in San Francisco.

HOLLYWOOD BOXERS GUESTS OF GALLERY

Members of the Hollywood Athletic Club boxing team were the guests last night at a dinner given at the club by Tom Gallery, boxing commissioner, and Bob Howard, boxing instructor for 1926. Both Gallery and Howard made short talks in which they declared that the present season would be the best that the Movie City club ever enjoyed in boxing and thanked the athletes for their efforts to put the Orange "H" boxing squad on the map.

HARRY BEUM TO BOX EMANUEL IN NORTH

Harry Beum, Los Angeles Athletic Club heavyweight boxer, will be taken north next week by George Blake to box Emanuel of the Olympic Club in San Francisco. The northern scrapper holds the light heavyweight title of the Coast while the local socker is the reigning king in the heavy division, both won their titles in the amateur tourney held at the Olympic Auditorium late last fall.

SALAS WILL BATTLE ZORILLA AT CULVER

Joe Salas will find a tough opponent in front of him Tuesday night next at the Culver City Athletic Club when he meets Santiago Zorilla in the ten round main event, the top bout on an all-star card. Zorilla has won thirteen fights and his whirlwind style has played havoc with everybody he has met. In the six-round semi-wind-up Willie O'Brien and Pedro Amador will occupy the spotlight.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

THE argument over the correctness of the old St. Louis Browns' line-up of the early 'eighties as given by Hugh Jennings in his "Rounding Third" series, now appearing in The Times, continues to wax hot and furious. Harry F. Schopf, a Sawtelle fan, takes his pen in hand to say that neither Jennings nor those who have taken issue with him are right.

He says the success of the Browns dated from 1885, when Comiskey came to St. Louis to play first base, and he lists the line-up as follows: Frutz, Carruthers and Maguire, pitchers; Bushong, Boyle and Robinson, catchers; Barkley, second base; Comiskey, first base; Latham, third base; Bill Gleason, shortstop; O'Neil, Welch and Nichol, outfielders.

"Robinson went to second in 1886 and later additions to the team were King Chamberlain, Lyons, Fuller and McCarthy. Frutz, Carruthers and Bushong were sold to Brooklyn in 1887 for $20,000, and Welch and Gleason to the Athletics. The team won four pennants, '85, '86, '87 and '88—and the world's flag in 1886.

"Mullane never played with the Browns, but pitched for the Cincinnati team of that period. The others—Quest, Lavin, Loftus, etc., formed the team prior to 1885."

Old Baldy, the north side, is represented in the controversy, by M. D. Hurley, who writes: "Walter Wheaton of Eagle Rock is correcting Hughey Jennings in confusing Bill Gleason with "Kid" Gleason in his recollections, is right to the letter. Bill Gleason was in and out of the game before 'Kid' Gleason showed in baseball.

"That you may know I am qualified to furnish facts as to Gleason, I will say I played with Bill and Jack Gleason, Dave and Jock Rowe, Tom Loftus, Cliff Carroll and the greatest pitcher who ever lived (in my estimation)—Charles 'Old Hoss' Radbourne, in Peoria, Ill., in the year 1878."

Our old friend "Megaphone" Cook is ill in bed and anxious to see his friends at 2275 Duane street. The veteran announcer has been suffering for nearly five years from a badly diseased bone in his left hip which developed into a tubercular affection. A few days ago the weak limb gave way, precipitating him to the bottom of his front porch steps. His right shoulder was thrown out of place, his left foot sprained and he will be forced to remain in bed for several weeks.

The Boxing Commission through its chairman, Seth W. P. Strelinger, yesterday ended the battle with newspaper men who stood on their rights to enter dressing-rooms of local fight arenas. The commission climbed off its high perch and submitted the following document:

"This will permit the bearer to have access to the dressing-room and records that may be of interest to the reading public.

SETH W. P. STRELINGER."

far does to the Southern Branch tossers tomorrow evening. Both attempts will be made at the Olympic Auditorium.

When last in these parts Mr. Price was chaperoning the California football team, the late Coach Smith having come down in the morning and returned the same night, not bothering to remain over for the next day's clash with Pomona. Under Mr. Price's guidance the Bruins cleaned up the Sagehens, 27 to 0, but did so in anything but a convincing manner, due principally to the fact that most of the regulars had been left at home.

The Bruin basketballers seem to have taken to heart the stopping of California's unbroken string of grid wins last season. At any rate, the casaba casters have started on a winning streak of their own and have copped twelve successive games, having yet to taste defeat this year. It is unlikely that either the Trojans or Grizzlies can stop Mr. Price's charges, although you never can tell just what's going to happen in basketball.

U.S.C. has already been thumped twice by the Bears, both victories being lopsided affairs. Southern Branch has not played California this year, but can hardly be given a much better chance to win than the Trojans, the recent games with Stanford here showing that the Grizzlies are about on a par with their U.S.C. friends.

Bill Higgins, the elongated center, is the outstanding star of the Bruins. He is playing his third and final year and rates as the best center on the Coast. Capt. Benny Holmes and Watson handle the forward berths, both men being good shots and smart floor workers. Latest reports have it that Varn Carver, guard, has an injured hoof and that his place tonight will probably be taken by Walkie Mills. George Dixon plays the other guard berth and is rated rather tough. He is a brother of Jimmy Dixon of football fame.

Les Turner will start Capt. Kenny Boyer and Harold Thomas as forwards, Bruce MacHaffie at center, and Gene Dorsey and Manuel Laraneta in the guard positions. The Trojans are a hard-fighting bunch and always have a chance. They seem to lack the thing most needed in basketball — the ability to waft the watermelon through the hoop. You can't win games if you can't shoot baskets and that's been the locals' main trouble to date.

ANNOUNCE MONTHLY HOLLYWOOD SMOKER

Bob Howard, boxing instructor of the Hollywood Athletic Club, has three bouts down for the program on the 24th inst. The main event, between Jimmy Piele and Frankie Borum, is attracting no more attention than the semi-wind-up or the special event, Benny Choen and Dave Schnertz clash in the second top spot and Heutra Evans meets Johnny Jordon in the special event.

visit to local courts by Miss Jacobs.

Miss Eleanor Goss, national ranking woman player, arrived yesterday morning with Miss Jacobs and Johnston, while the remainder of the northern stars will arrive at 10 o'clock this morning. Howard Kinsey, who, with his brother, is national doubles champion; Cranston Holman, national collegiate and junior champion, and Gerald Strasford of the University of California are the principal visitors to participate in the tourney.

As Southern California junior tennis stars rank among the best in the country, the showing of Miss Jacobs will be closely followed.

In her first match at the Huntington this morning Miss Jacobs will meet Peggy James, city junior champion. While Miss Jacobs is expected to win, the local miss should give her a hard battle. The match is scheduled for 10 o'clock.

Miss Goss will face Margery Gladman, brilliant young Santa Monica star, at 11 o'clock in another feature match on for this morning.

As the drawing for the men will not take place until just before the first matches, it is not possible to tell who the champions will meet. It is probable, however, that Johnston will either meet Walter Westbrook or Harold Godshall. The players are the best of the local talent and should push Johnston to his best game.

PLAN IMPROVEMENT OF TROTTING RULES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11.—Suggestions and recommendations for the improvement and more rigid enforcement of the rules governing trotting racing throughout the country were considered here today by the joint rules committee of the National and American Trotting Association. Changes must be approved by both associations before being incorporated into the racing code.

MOVIE CITY TRACK SQUAD GETS STARS

It was announced last night at the Hollywood Athletic Club that Keith Lloyd and Otto Anderson would compete for the Movie City club track team this year. Bob Howard also stated that Leslie Eades of Hollywood High School and Bert Darling of Poly High were to be added to the squad.

Farm Bureau Leader Assails Abolition Effort

J. J. Deuel Says Commission Has Vital Sphere

Points to Inevitable Return of Political Reign

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Commenting on the attempt being made to organize an effort to abolish the California Railroad Commission, J. J. Deuel, manager of the law and utilities department of the California Farm Bureau Federation, today issued the following statement:

"Prior to 1911 the Railroad Commission of California was merely a sinecure in to which were placed the politically faithful, but inactive, henchmen. In that year, under the urge of the chaotic conditions then existing in the public utility field, the people of this State by Constitutional amendment enlarged the personnel and the jurisdiction of the commission and under the leadership and initiative of men like John M. Eshleman and Max Thelen, it became a recognized force in the regulation of all public service companies.

HIGH MOTIVES

"Where it had been but a perfunctory and purely judicial organization it was transformed into an agency which controlled to the minutest detail the methods employed by public service companies. The growth of this State has naturally greatly increased the demands upon the Railroad Commission and upon its advisory personnel, but it has at all times functioned to the limits of the funds provided by the Legislature for its use.

That it has made erroneous decisions will not be denied but that its motives were anything other than the highest has never been doubted. As long as human beings are placed in positions of responsibility it is certain that the frailties of human intelligence will cause a certain percentage of error. Rural populations have felt the force of these erroneous decisions as well as the city residents, but concluded that the results reached were due to the fact that rural people were not fully organized, and therefore, their interests were not adequately presented to the commission.

"Of late a movement has arisen in certain political quarters to impugn the sincerity and conscientiousness of the railroad commission and to attack the necessity for its very existence.

THOUGHT NEEDED

"This is certainly a peculiar proposition in the country the efficiency and adequacy of whose institutions has been demonstrated by centuries of use and development. No one has yet seen fit to start a movement for the abolition of all courts because of some unfavorable judicial decisions. When considering the question of the advisability of the abolition of the Railroad Commission, ample time should be taken for reflection upon the conditions which will naturally follow such an act.

"It must reasonably be assumed that the same conditions which drove the people of the State to the adoption of the present system would follow. If they were intolerable then how much more so would they be in these days of tremendous consolidation and greater monopolistic tendencies? We would again revert to the days of duplicate facilities, duplicate overhead and duplicate running expenses, all at the expense of the public.

"This movement is of vital importance to the farmers of this State for the reason that they realize that without the control by the regulatory body they would be subjected to the increased costs of unrestricted competition and the extortionate rates, which would be charged by the combinations which would inevitably follow any competitive period. It is of further importance to the farmer of this State because of the fact that present utility systems serve country and city alike.

LOSSES QUESTION

If utility systems are to be subjected to the political exactions of metropolitan areas it would follow as surely as the night follows the day that the losses suffered in the city would be made up by increased rates in the country.

"This movement attempts to beguile the larger cities to its support by pointing out that the municipal legislative bodies would have control over the utilities serving them but its sponsors deliberately fail to disclose the fact that in fixing rates these same legislative bodies would be limited by the same constitutional restrictions now imposed on our present regulatory body.

"The United States Supreme Court has ruled that every public service company is entitled to a fair return on the property it has devoted to the public service and in numerous cases has already enjoined the enforcement of rates fixed by municipal authorities which would not produce the required revenue. The city councils and boards of trustees are bound by these restrictions in just the same way and to just the same extent as the Railroad Commission.

SYSTEM BACKED

"Without any consideration as to the present personnel of the Railroad Commission the farmers of this State are practically unanimous in their support of the present system of controlling public service companies and to keeping them out of politics as far as possible.

"The movement for the abolition of the Railroad Commission was initiated and is being carried on by certain political office holders who desire to open the way for the cities in which they hold political preferment to return to the old regime, which was in vogue before the establishment of the present system of regulation, which, no doubt, would provide an abundant opportunity for petty graft by ward politicians, but would not be desirable on the rate paying public.

"We submit that the only proper way in which to attempt to change the decision of the commission and the only way in keeping with our traditions, our institutions and our methods of government, is to collect all available additional evidence and to present it for the consideration of the commission rather than by resorting to the highly unfair methods of those who habitually resort to the club of unscrupulous attacks in the public press."

BULL FIGHTING AMERICANIZED

Juarez, Anxious to Please, Bars Horses and Gets Yankee Matador

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EL PASO, Feb. 11.—Juarez has announced an "Americanized" bullfight as a part of its Mardi Gras next Sunday. The bulls will be killed, but it will be a horseless affair.

"As a compliment to the American public, no horses will be used," says the announcement. "Americans, with their ideas of giving everybody a fighting chance, protested against the picador riding an antiquated, bony and blind-folded horse into the ring, poking the bull in the nose with a long pole and then letting the horse take the consequences."

Sidi Franklin, American matador, will dispatch the bull.

PRESIDENT TOLD JUDGE CAN'T PASS

Oregon Senators See No Hope That Senate Will Confirm McCamant

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Coolidge was told today by Senators McNary and Stanfield, Republicans, Oregon, that they believed it would be impossible to obtain Senate confirmation of the nomination of Wallace McCamant of Portland to be a Circuit Judge. A poll of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which has the nomination under consideration, they said, indicated an adverse report would be given to the Senate and in such an event they saw no possibility of favorable Senate action.

McCamant, who nominated President Coolidge for the Vice-Presidency at the Republican National Convention in Chicago in 1920, is serving on the circuit bench under a recess appointment. The fight against his confirmation is led by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who contends McCamant disregarded his primary instructions in balloting for Presidential candidates at the 1920 convention.

The visit to the White House of Senators McNary and Stanfield strengthened the belief that President Coolidge might be urged to withdraw Judge McCamant's nomination. They said they had not recommended this course, but had left the question entirely to the President.

Angeleno Held in East on Bad Check Charge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—A young man giving the name of L. E. Drake of Los Angeles, was arrested here last night and confessed to police today that he had attempted to cash fraudulent checks on local banks "just for the experience."

Drake, who also used the names of Marshall W. Hahn and Leon E. Duray, attracted suspicion at the People's Bank and Trust Company, where he deposited checks on Florida banks and sent a draft to a fictitious name in California for $18,000.

When confronted with a letter written to Mrs. L. E. Drake in Los Angeles, the prisoner admitted that he has a wife and two children living there. He declared that he is an automobile racer and that he did not need the money obtained from the checks.

LOS ALTOS APARTMENTS

Featuring the New Maisonettes—2-Story Apartments

THE day when the life of the mother was measured in value by the amount of physical labor she put forth, has passed in the average American family.

The size of the family washing is no longer the criterion of her love . . . nor the price she has to pay for the privilege of spending a few declining years with son or daughter.

Rather she is loved for the sound basic worth she can instill in that son and daughter through the inspiration she gives. Health and physical perfection, too, are important factors in this new order of things.

The newer and finer living conditions, embodied in the Los Altos, and the relief from many unnecessary duties, is a revelation to any family desirous of getting the most out of life.

Maisonettes—the New York idea 2-story apartments. You'll like them. Purchasers of these apartment homes are assured of congenial, pleasant surroundings through the careful consideration of all applications by those in charge.

SCHOOL LANDS BILL HITS SNAG

Elk Hills Recovery Injected Into Hearing

Measure Aimed to Confirm Title to State

Asserts Action Interferes with Reclaiming Oil Field

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A bill drafted by officials of a number of Far Western States and designed to confirm title of those States to school land grants from the Federal government after six years, struck a snag today at the opening of hearings before a joint Congressional committee.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, prosecutor of the Senate's oil investigation, raised a point that the measure would stop proceedings for recovery from the Standard Oil Company of California of oil lands in the Elk Hills district of California, which the government ceded to that State many years ago as school lands.

Assistant Secretary Finney of the Interior Department agreed that the proposed legislation would have this effect. Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, author of the bill under discussion, said this situation could be taken care of with an amendment excluding California oil lands from provisions of the act.

MEETS PROBLEM

W. H. Farr, Deputy Attorney-General of Utah, who had a leading part in drafting the measure, told the committee that any inference that the bill was drawn to cover the Elk Hills case was entirely without foundation. He declared it was drafted by representatives of Western States to meet an immediate and pressing problem.

"This legislation has for its purpose the alleviation of the public land situation in the Western States and that purpose alone," Farr said. "The Elk Hills case never entered our minds."

In pressing his objection to the bill Senator Walsh asked what were the conditions that required a change of a policy that had existed for seventy-five years under which the Federal government could proceed at any time to recover lands known to have been mineral-bearing before patent was issued.

RECLAIMED AFTER SALE

Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, replied that in his State the government had proceeded to reclaim land as mineral-bearing many years after the State had disposed of it to private parties.

Spokesmen for Western States insisted that those commonwealths had difficulty in disposing of land grant-lands because of uncertainty as to the position the government might take after the sale had been consummated. While opposing the provision of the Smoot bill that the government could not bring recovery proceedings after six years, Finney told the committee the government will not claim title to lands on which mineral was discovered after the grant was made. He suggested a provision under which the government could not act for recovery after it had made a proper investigation to determine whether the lands were, in fact, mineral bearing.

Avalon Miner Killed in Fall of Drift Rock

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AVALON, Feb. 11.—L. E. Roberts, mine timberer, was instantly killed late this afternoon when a small boulder became dislodged and struck him in the head while he was working at the 400-foot level in the Black Jack mine. Another man working with him escaped injury.

Roberts lived in Azusa until about a month ago. He leaves a widow and two children. Arrangements were being made to send the body to Los Angeles for a Coroner's inquest tomorrow.

PATRONAGE ASSAILED

Texas Republican In Congress Calls System Vicious

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Coolidge was told today by Representative Wurzbach, Republican, Texas, that the Republican party cannot make substantial gains in the South "until it abandons the vicious system of swapping patronage for delegations to national conventions."

Wurzbach, the only Republican in the Texas Congressional delegation, said that aside from postoffice appointments he has had no more voice in Federal patronage in Texas than Democrats. Republican national committeemen and State chairmen in Southern States, he said, frequently seek to prevent the election of Republican Senators and Representatives so they can retain exclusive patronage control.

CANNING PLANTS TO CONSOLIDATE PACKS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Feb. 11.—Negotiations have been practically completed here whereby all the fruit and vegetable-canning plants of British Columbia, except two concerns, will consolidate their packs for their season and the marketing will be done under one holding company. The Dominions Canners, Ltd., will not enter the agreement, nor one small plant belonging to A. McDonald & Co., wholesale grocers, but the other seventeen plants of the Province have consented to the merger.

ZINOVIEFF LOSES RED PARTY POST

Communist Internationale Chief Defeated at Session in Leningrad

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Feb. 11.—The political star of Gregory Zinovieff seems to have set.

At today's extraordinary session of the Leningrad Communist party, the head of the Communist Internationale failed to regain his position as a member of the important Presidium, whereas his rivals, Stalin, Bukharin, Kalinin, Rykoff, Dzerzhinsky, Tomsky and Voroshiloff were unanimously elected.

Political observers see in the event a possible indication that Zinovieff will fail to retain the presidency of the Communist Internationale when that organization meets.

Like Trotzky before him, Zinovieff at the last meeting of the all-Russian Communist party in Moscow, was disavowed politically by the leaders of the party because of his "heresies."

It has been more than a year since Zinovieff delivered the last of his speeches against England, the United States and other "capitalistic" powers, and it is declared that he was instructed to cease these diatribes because of the injury they caused soviets abroad.

Berlin Protests Applications for Seats in Council

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—The ambitions of Poland, Spain and Brazil to obtain permanent seats in the Council of the League of Nations at the same time that such a position is given to Germany were characterized today in circles close to the government to be unwarranted. Such an expansion of the Council, it was said, would represent "an act of disloyalty to Germany."

It was emphasized that it was incompatible with diplomatic usage "to invite a party to enter a fixed corporation only to change the nature and consistency of the corporation at the moment the invited party became a member."

It also was pointed out that such a plan would be impracticable, as it would tend to create an overwhelming domination of the interests of one group of nations over those of other groups.

COYOTES GROW WISE

Traps Become Useless and Poison Takes Their Places

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—Sophisticated coyotes, made wise by misfortune, are taxing the ingenuity of State and Federal authorities engaged in predatory-animal extermination.

Coyotes crippled in encounters with traps cannot be lured into such devices again, it was explained at the State Department of Agriculture today. In Tehama and Modoc counties traps taught the lesson of caution so well that recently an extensive campaign of poisoning was undertaken to kill the trap-wise animals. Of thirty-one coyotes poisoned on one range, seven were cripples.

One coyote poisoned in Modoc county had had both front feet cut off in a trap. Despite the amputation the animal was plump and sleek of fur. It had grown well-developed pads on the stumps of the severed legs and apparently had enjoyed its fill of sheep and lambs as usual.

LATE RADIO FANS HELD DISORDERLY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Operation of a radio loud speaker late at night in such a manner as to be a nuisance was classed as disorderly conduct, an offense subject to a fine of from $1 to $200, in an opinion handed to Samuel E. Pincus, City Prosecutor, today by Corporation Counsel Busch. As the result of the opinion, Prosecutor Pincus announced that his assistants will be obliged to prosecute all persons arrested on the charge. Several complaints have reached Mr. Pincus's office, but no arrests have been made. Uncertain as to what procedure should be followed, the City Prosecutor sought the advice of Mr. Busch.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEE

Says glass of Salts Helps Overcome Rheumatic Acid.

Rheumatism is easier to prevent than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and sleep long; drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kinds.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous waste and acids resulting from fermentation. It is the business of the kidneys to filter this waste from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work. They become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste matter which keeps accumulating in the blood, circulating through the system and finally settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each day for a week. This is said to neutralize acidity, remove the matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—[Advertisement.]

WAKE up your sleeping skin! Look younger! Be your own age. Age has little to do with your years or your feelings. It's the condition of your blood that counts!

AMERICAN MUSIC ADVANCES

Native Symphony, Grand Opera and Jazz Offered Lovers of Home Melodies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Distinctly American music has had its day in court and won a popular seasonal verdict. Probably in no previous year has such a rich fare been provided for native music lovers. They have been treated to original forms of music from jazz symphony to grand opera in a series of productions ranging from New York to San Francisco. In addition, opera in English received a decided impetus and American singers won considerable notice.

Composers of the top notch have had a hand in transcribing the native and popular musical themes. Rhythm, syncopation and just plain jazz have crept into the scores along with the best of the old folk songs and the one-time popular ballads.

Two operas were produced in Chicago, along with a symphony of purely American tunes. New York witnessed the premiere of a one-act jazz opera, several symphonies and other scores in the "blue" medium or the modern manner. An opera by an American librettist and composer was given its American hearing in San Francisco, and a symphony in the more formal manner was produced with success in St. Louis.

HEARING GIVEN

For years there have been plenty of first-rate American composers, but their opportunity of a hearing was comparatively slight. Some of the best of the moderns were driven to the field of light opera and musical comedy. Today they have not only been given a hearing, but the momentary success of their work has brought them commissions to carry on. Such names as George Gershwin, Deems Taylor, Leo Sowerby, John Alden Carpenter, W. Franke Harling, Eric DeLamarter and Charles Wakefield Cadman, are beginning to loom prominently in the news.

Gershwin, who has a number of musical comedy and light opera successes to his credit, broke the ice into the jazz medium with his "Rhapsody in Blue." He followed it with a jazz symphony, piano concerto in F, played this season by the New York Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, and then essayed a third musical divertissement in "One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street."

Jargon, an orchestral work by Deems Taylor, who wrote the lively incidental music for the ballet in "Beggar on Horseback," also was produced in Manhattan, while Mr. Carpenter's "Skyscrapers" will be presented by the Metropolitan Opera during this year.

The staid and correctly outfitted patrons of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra concerts were treated to a work of considerable rhythmic proportions in Mr. DeLamarter's "After Walt Whitman," a symphony composed entirely of American tunes.

Here were melodies that ran riot on the stage ten and fifteen years ago, others from the Kentucky Mountains, still others from the more recent dance orchestras, all blending into what the composer called a "symphony for fun."

Chicago also heard this season a modern orchestral work by Mr. Sowerby, while remembering the interest created several years ago by Carpenter's "Krazy Kat" and "Scenes from a Parambulator."

The success of Mr. Harling's musical experiment, in which occasional jazz themes were utilized and for which such typically jazz instruments as the saxophone and xylophone were provided, soon led to a contract for the score of an "all American jazz opera."

"Deep River" is to be the name. The book is by Laurence Stallings, co-author of "What Price Glory." The producer will be Arthur Hopkins, and Broadway will get a taste of it in the autumn. The opera is laid in Louisiana a generation before the Civil War, with themes from negro spirituals prominent in the score.

In addition to the two new operas, Chicago patrons heard a third opera in English translation.

AT BAY CITY

The opera season at San Francisco was opened with the American premiere of "Fay-Yen-Fah," the score by Joseph D. Redding, and the libretto by Templeton Crocker, both San Franciscans. The work originally was performed at Monte Carlo, the same cast appearing in the San Francisco production.

"The Legend of the Piper," an opera in English by Mrs. Eleanor Everett Freer, Chicago composer, had its third performance at Lincoln, Neb., under the auspices of the opera department of the University School of Music. On the same program was the premiere of her most recent work, "The Court Jester," with libretto by Elia W. Peattie. "The Legend of the Piper" will be sung again at Charleston, W. Va., February 18, and "The Court Jester" will be heard in Philadelphia, February 19, under the auspices of the Philadelphia Music Club in collaboration with the Operatic Society of Philadelphia.

State Health Board Asks Step to Prevent Spread of Smallpox

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—A warning that smallpox of an extremely virulent type is present in California and that no resident of the State, who has not been successfully vaccinated in recent years can afford to forego this protection, was issued today by the State Board of Health.

"For the first thirty-five days of the present year," explains the board's statement, "443 cases of smallpox, with forty-two known deaths have been reported to the California State Board of Health.

"Similar conditions regarding smallpox have existed recently and exist at the present time, in other States. An extremely virulent type of smallpox made its appearance in the United States during the past few years and since the autumn of 1924 this disease has exacted a heavy toll in California. This type of the disease is very different from the mild smallpox that has prevailed during the past ten or fifteen years. It is not the kind of smallpox that causes the patient to feel slightly indisposed for a few days, followed by the appearance of a few insignificant looking pustules."

Disclaiming any desire to "inspire fear in anyone," the board explains its statement has been made necessary by the comparative failure of repeated appeals to the general public to take advantage of the protections of vaccination.

"In making this appeal," it concludes, "the Board of Health is prompted by its belief that the public should be fully informed in the matter. It is simply giving the facts and is offering its advice for the prevention of this extremely serious and often fatal disease. Furthermore, the board stands ready to be of all possible assistance to any community where it is desired."

DEATHS OF SOLDIERS LAID TO BAY RUM

ILLINOIS CHIDED BY RICHARDSON

Governor May Not Honor Scott Requisition

Suspect Prefers Murder Trial to Jail Term

Promised Freedom on Writ of Habeas Corpus

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Feb. 11.—Gov. Richardson of California handed Illinois a well-merited rebuke today when he expressed doubt that he would honor the requisition of Gov. Small for the return to Chicago of Robert B. Scott, wanted for murder, indicating that the prisoner would much prefer a chance of being tried for murder in Illinois than serving a sentence for robbery in California. Scott is wanted for the murder of Joseph Maurer, for whose slaying his brother, Russell, was found guilty.

Gov. Richardson, in a telegram to Gov. Small, says in part:

"The fugitive (Scott) is now serving an eight-year term in the California State penitentiary for robbery. He expresses keen desire to return to Chicago and face a trial for murder, stating frankly that his reason is to escape serving the remainder of his term here, and thinks he can beat the murder case in Chicago.

"I have learned that an attorney who was interested in the Chicago defense of Scott's brother has managed to get a message to the prisoner here advising him to waive extradition and promising he would be taken from the police on a writ of habeas corpus as soon as he reaches Illinois.

"I understand also that a group of 'sob sisters' in Detroit have raised a large fund to defeat the ends of justice. If he is permitted to escape his punishment in California he considers his chances of going free or being placed in an asylum in Illinois excellent.

"I suggest that you advise the State's Attorney of Chicago of the suspicious action of the prisoner (Scott,) the subterranean methods of his attorney in Chicago and consider the possibility of his conviction, and the policy of keeping him in California until the 'sob-sister' hysteria over criminals subsides somewhat in Detroit and Chicago."

REHEARING IN TAX CASE REQUESTED

Supreme Court Asked to Make Another Ruling on Community Property

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A rehearing in the recently decided California community property case was asked of the United States Supreme Court today by executors of the estate of R. D. Robbins of California.

The petition declares that in the test case decided the court failed to deliver a complete opinion.

The court held that the wife, under the law of California, has no vested interest in an estate during the life of her husband, and that the husband can be required to pay the Federal income tax upon the entire community property.

This ruling, says the petition, has been applied by the court only to income derived from the estate prior to 1918. The test case will be inconclusive, it is asserted, unless the case is reopened and an opinion given dealing with income in 1918, and for each subsequent year.

Total Vote 606 on $11,250,000 Bonds in Miami

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIAMI (Fla.) Feb. 11.—In a remarkable municipal election, which was hotly contested in newspapers and by civic societies, the city of Miami voted 10 to 1 to issue bonds for $11,250,000 for various public works and improvements.

Although a population of 250,000 is now asserted for Miami, the total vote cast was 606.

It developed a fortnight before the election, when the registry lists were completed, that the total of qualified electors for a bond election numbered fewer than 2100. Of those qualified about one-third cast their ballots to qualify as a voter. In Florida it is necessary to reside in the State one year, in the county six months to register and hold a poll tax receipt to vote on bond issues. The elector must be a freeholder.

TRADE BODY DEPLORES TELEPHONE POLE SIGNS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 11.—The executive board of the valley-beautiful department of the Chamber of Commerce has declared against the placing of all placards, signs or notices, especially of all candidates' advertising, on poles or fence posts or any display of such advertising matter on the roads or highways of Maricopa county. There is understanding that a number of candidates have pledged themselves against repetition of what in the past has been considered an offensive practice in the placing of thousands of announcements, usually with the candidate's photograph. There is some assumption that candidates who offend will lose votes. Assurances have been received of support by telegraph, telephone and electric-light companies and by the Water Users' Association.

ARRESTS IN LIQUOR PLOT TAKE JUMP

Those Held in Federal Alcohol Ring Inquiry Now Number Thirty-six

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11. — Government operatives late today had arrested thirty-six persons on conspiracy charges in connection with the asserted nation-wide alcohol bootleg plot and the investigation by the Federal grand jury here into operations of the Superior Industrial Alcohol Company.

In the meantime the Internal Revenue Department, asserting that million-dollar tax frauds have been uncovered, took a hand in the investigation, advices from Washington stating that special Treasury Department agents will inquire into income tax returns of big bootleggers and corporations upon which suspicions have been cast by the investigation.

Today's developments came as Ben and Abe Gleeman, confessed plotters in an asserted "million-dollar alcohol syndicate" in St. Paul, and Minneapolis, went before the grand jury. They were brought here from the Stillwater (Minn.) prison, where they are serving a life sentence for a hi-jacker murder.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. — A general revision of alcohol permit regulations has been ordered by Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury as a result of a decision adverse to the government returned by Federal Judge Dickinson in Philadelphia on Tuesday.

The prohibition authorities sought to cancel all permits and to force the holders to reapply for them. Suits were brought by the Swanson Chemical Company and the Beach Chemical Company, whose permits were canceled December 31, 1925, and Judge Dickinson sustained them.

Non-Partisan League Fights World Court

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BISMARCK (N. D.) Feb. 11.—Condemnation of the World Court and decision to continue in the Republican party marked the Non-Partisan League State convention today.

Voting 87 to 18, the Leaguers rejected the proposal that they enter the Farmer-Labor party. Since they became a political factor, they have traveled under the Republican banner.

A resolution condemning the World Court, adopted without opposition termed it the "tool of international bankers," and United States Senators favoring it were branded as "dealers in iniquity with evil in their hearts."

The resolution commended the stand taken in opposition to the Court by Senators Frazier and Nye of North Dakota; Johnson, California; Borah, Idaho, and Reed, Missouri.

Two Police of Dawes's Home Town Accused

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Two policemen have been suspended in Evanston, suburban home of Vice-President Dawes, as a result of an investigation of vice and crime conditions made by William A. Wiltberger, called the "college graduate Police Chief."

The policemen, one a negro, were named, the Chief said, in a confession of Glen Kenley, held on robbery charges, who said they had aided him and three others in more than a score of burglaries in the suburb.

The burglars were not only provided with lists of homes to enter, but a police automobile was supplied to help haul away the loot, Chief Wiltberger said the confession stated.

Kenley said a plot was undertaken to discredit Wiltberger and Mayor Bartlett by stimulating a crime epidemic.

CLINIC STUDIES INFANT HABITS

Helps Mothers Contend With Child Problem

Youngsters and Parents Both Examined

Methods of Control Discussed and Scrutinized

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERKELEY, Feb. 11.—Just as many babies suck their thumbs or have tantrums in the homes of college graduates as in homes of the city slums, according to Dr. Walker MacFarlane, instructor in abnormal psychology of the University of California. She contends that abnormal actions or habits of young children are likely to appear in any layer of society.

To help mothers to contend with these troubles with their children is the aim of the Habit Clinic run in connection with the University Medical School in San Francisco. Lectures for mothers and others interested in child problems, are given monthly at 323 Haight street, San Francisco, as part of the clinic's work. In this work Dr. MacFarlane is assisted by women students of the university who are doing advanced work in abnormal psychology; and she says they are interested and capable helpers.

"Being a parent is a big responsibility," avers Dr. MacFarlane. "It is so easy to make mistakes and wrong a child when you want most to do best for him. Mere care for his physical welfare no longer suffices; today the wise parent looks to his mental well-being as well."

Children who are disobedient, children who are overshy or overbold; children who steal, or children with unusual fears are all treated in the habit clinic. There the child is not only examined to determine the real cause for his difficulty, but the mother herself is questioned in order to see if the fault lies with her, or if she may take an active part in overcoming it.

Dr. MacFarlane addresses almost as much attention to mothers as she does to the child patients. To mothers of disobedient children she asks: Do you give commands without meaning them? Do you allow him to do one thing one day and punish him for it the next? Do you try to scare your child into doing what you want? Do you promise a reward if the child obeys? If you have that habit it is good business for him to hold out for a bigger reward. Do you make disobedience so intensely interesting by the excitement you stir up over it that any child that loves excitement would want to be disobedient?

To the mothers of children who have temper tantrums Dr. MacFarlane addresses questions like these: Does your child gain something by kicking, screaming, holding his breath? Does his temper tantrum give him the satisfaction of being the center of attention? Do you bribe him with sweets or promises if he will stop? Do you lose your temper when your child misbehaves, perhaps his temper is a reflection of yours?

NUEVA YORK, Febrero 11.—Hoy se ordenó que fuera excluida de los Estados Unidos la condesa de Cathcart, esposa divorciada del conde de Cathcart. La orden de exclusión fué librada por la junta especial investigadora de la Isla de Ellis, que instruye desde el jueves, día en que llegó la condesa, una averiguación del caso de esta señora.

La viajera ha hecho saber que apelará al ministro del Trabajo; pero, entretanto, las autoridades de inmigración han dado instrucciones de que se la detenga en la isla de Ellis.

A menos que el señor Davis, ministro de Trabajo, revoque la decisión, se hará regresar a la condesa en el próximo paquebote de la Cunard que zarpe para Liverpool. Tal es lo que dicen las autoridades.

NUEVA YORK, Febrero 11.—Muchas poblaciones y aldeas del Noreste de los Estados Unidos yacían hoy todavía bajo el grueso manto de nieve que dejó la cellisca de ayer, en la que perecieron diecisiete personas. Ejércitos de paleros han estado trabajando en la limpia de calles y caminos reales, ayudados por un tiempo claro y una temperatura gradualmente ascendente.

Los ferrocarriles se han estado poniendo lentamente a horario; pero muchas de las carreteras principales están todavía obstruídas. Júzgase que en el sur de la Nueva Inglaterra tardarán todavía varios días para abrir del todo el tránsito en los principales caminos.

De resultas de la onda fría que vino a la zaga de la tormenta, murió un anciano en Brooklyn, y otro fué hallado inconsciente. Ambos habían permanecido en la intemperie.

NOTAS LOCALES

En tanto que dos gobiernos avanzaban ayer a rápidos pasos hacia el término de la encuesta de los suicidios de la familia Peteet, todo el Sudoeste de este Estado se ha venido enterando de la mofa que de la justicia se hace, y de las desenfrenadas orgías que se tienen en la población fronteriza mejicana de Tijuana.

Las autoridades mejicanas han interrogado largamente a los siete detenidos, entre quienes se cuenta el jefe de policía de Tijuana, que se hallan encarcelados, pues pesa sobre ellos la acusación de haber abusado de dos señoritas americanas, después de haberles hecho tomar drogas y de haberlas secuestrado. Ellas y sus padres se suicidaron en San Diego para no sobrevivir a su deshonor.

Las autoridades norteamericanas, por su parte, han rescatado, puede decirse que de ultratumba, las declaraciones juradas de las víctimas del pacto de "suicidio por el honor", declaraciones que prueban que los acontecimientos reconstruídos en el terreno de la teoría y de la hipótesis, ocurrieron tal y como se había supuesto.

Hermoso estaba el árbol. Después de comer esa noche, que era la Noche Buena, se le iluminó con luces eléctricas rojas y blancas (It was a beautiful tree. Seaboard Risk Company Placed in Receivership

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The affairs of the Seaboard Casualty Company of Los Angeles, with a shortage estimated at $282,000, were taken over today by State Insurance Commissioner Detrick in a receivership granted by Superior Judge Graham. The directors of the company agreed to the receivership.

Detrick announced that $225,000 in assets, claimed by the company, had been disallowed, and that the company's $150,000 capital stock, together with an additional $142,000, apparently had vanished.

C. P. Summers, head of the Union Indemnity Exchange of San Francisco, now defunct, who also was heavily interested in the Seaboard company, is reported to have been located in Nogales, Ariz. Detrick said he had not heard from Summers since his disappearance in December.

Roy Jefferson, president of the Lincoln Casualty Company of Illinois, arrived today and, according to Detrick, agreed to pay $100,000 in Seaboard policies which had been reinsured by his company.

Japanese Open Drive Against 'Radio Robbers'

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

OSAKA, Feb. 11.—In Japan "stealing the air" is now a misdemeanor and one that is causing much annoyance to radio broadcasting companies. One company in Osaka has estimated there were 10,000 "radio robbers" stealing its programs.

Every radio set in Japan is supposed to be listed with the government and the broadcasting companies are permitted to charge a small fee for their programs. This charge averages around two yen a month. That many thousands of radio users are escaping this fee is the belief of the authorities who have started a campaign to weed out the "robbers."

RADIO HAS EFFECT ON DIET OF IOWA PERSONS

DES MOINES (Iowa) Feb. 11.—Radio is credited in Iowa with changing the human diet. The station obtained a skilled dietitian who compiled a pamphlet on corn-product recipes. The campaign was in the interest of increased consumption of corn as an aid in relieving the surplus.

WATERPROOF

Building a GREAT CITY by-the-Sea!

Southern California's Second Metropolis in Construction Activity.

AT LONG BEACH—the din of hammer and saw may be heard above the roar of the surf....for a new era of building and expansion is in full swing.

Tall white shafts are rising skyward on this sunny sheltered shore of the Pacific, worthy additions to an already imposing horizon.

A glimpse of the "Million Dollar" shoreline is shown. In the immediate foreground the new Breakers Hotel looms 13 stories above the bluff, while in the distance is the Pacific Coast Club, 14 stories higher than the beach level. These two structures, costing two and a half millions, are a part of the four million dollar activity in the downtown district.

This is not unusual. For 20 years Long Beach has been hard pressed to keep apace with the constantly increasing population. Today, more than ever before, Long Beach must build for its future citizens.

Second only to Los Angeles in Southern California, Long Beach has spent $108,652,460 in building projects since the first of 1920. This is an increase of 639% over the preceding six years. During this same period, construction has averaged a million and a half dollars each month!

Just as Southern California is acknowledged the "Playground of the World," so is Long Beach the "Playground of Southern California." That is reason enough why she must build!

The future of this city-by-the-sea no longer rests upon the popularity of her beaches, nor yet upon the flow of oil, but upon the unfailing aggressiveness of her business men who are building so successfully.

There is a place for YOU here. Opportunities abound; living is ideal, and your faith in the future of Long Beach should amply reward you.

Immigration Chief Works Out Method of Legalizing Influx of Mexicans

In an effort to safeguard labor conditions for Southern California generally, and for the Imperial Valley particularly, I. F. Wixon, chief of the United States Immigration Bureau, before representatives of various chambers of commerce in session at Brawley, outlined what he termed "a gentlemen's agreement."

Under its terms, a matter of tvolition in so far as the chambers of commerce are concerned, Mexicans who have crossed the border and are now residing in the United States without having paid the requisite $10 Mexican passport tax and American vise charge, amounting to $8, will be given an opportunity to make good on the total payment of $18. The method suggested by Mr. Wixon is this:

Such Mexicans will be given the opportunity to register with the chamber of commerce nearest them. Each will then be presented a registration card, upon the signing of which he agrees to pay to that organization a small stipulated sum per week until the total of $18 has been paid. When the last "installment" has been paid, the registrant will be conducted to the border, where both the Mexican and American fees will be paid and the Mexican permitted to remain in this country.

There has been no order issued, Mr. Wixon asserts, calling for immediate deportation. Only those who fail to show a registration card after a reasonable lapse of time will face the possibility of deportation, according to the immigration chief. All of which is contradictory to a statement with which Mr. Wixon was accredited.

"It is absolutely untrue that I have issued any order whatever in regard to deportation of Mexican laborers," said Mr. Wixon last night. "As a fact, we have been working for weeks along lines exactly the reverse. We have succeeded, I think, in working out a gentlemen's agreement which will permit all Mexican laborers now in the country to remain here. I sincerely regret that a report has reached the press to the effect that I had issued a mandatory order of any kind. I said last night in a talk at Brawley that if all the parts of the proposed gentlemen's agreement were not lived up to, it might become necessary to deport many aliens now working in this country. Evidently, some press correspondent misunderstood my meaning and sent out news not agreeing with the facts."

JEWISH CHARITIES EXPAND

Increase in Activities Explained at Annual Meeting of Federation Welfare Bodies

The Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations and its constituent societies conducted their annual meeting last night at the B'nai B'rith Hall, Ninth and Union streets. Besides the membership, there were representatives from every Jewish organization in Los Angeles.

George Mosbacher, president of federation for ten years, gave an account of the growth and development of the Jewish philanthropic activities of Los Angeles, indicating that the income has increased from $45,000 in 1915 to $265,000 in 1925.

I. Irving Lipsitch, who recently came from San Francisco to take charge of the Jewish philanthropic work of the city, met with the members of the organization for the first time and outlined a program of service affecting every phase of Jewish life. He emphasized the need of co-ordinated programs of activities in philanthropic, educational, cultural and recreational fields.

I. W. Frank, trustee of the University of Pittsburgh, delivered an address showing the growth of Jewish philanthropy during the past fifty years.

A detailed statement was given regarding the $1,000,000 building fund campaign which was conducted by the federation last year. This fund will make possible the erection of a new Jewish Hospital in Hollywood. Plans prepared by the architects as well as a large drawing were exhibited for the first time. The plans were explained by Lemuel Goldwater, president of the Kaspare Cohn Hospital.

Reports were also submitted by Joseph P. Loeb, president of the Jewish Orphans' Home, and Joseph Bonapart, superintendent of the new child-caring project at Vista Del Mar, Palms. This institution is unique in Southern California and is arranged on the cottage plan, with ten boys and ten girls in each cottage. The organization cares for 100 children at Palms and a larger number in private boarding homes.

The following directors were elected: A. Brownstein, Mrs. Louis M. Cole, L. Goldwater, Dr. N. Kavanoky, Mrs. Herman Levi, S. Tilden Norton, Dr. George Saylin, Joseph Shapiro, Jacob Steinberg and Ralph G. Wolff.

Reports were also submitted by Ernest Armer, president of the Big Brothers Association; S. Tilden Norton, president of the Hebrew Consumptive Relief Association; Caesar Samuels, president of the Jewish Loan and Housing Association; Mrs. Cora Prenzlauer, president of the Temple Sewing Circle; Dr. Caesar Cahn, president of the Jewish Dispensary, and Alexander Meyer, president of the Jewish Aid Society.

Mrs. Florine Heilman Wolfstein, president of the Jewish Alliance, presented plans for the erection of a new residence home for employed Jewish girls, which is being built by David Hamburger as a memorial to his parents.

PERMANENT EXHIBITION HALL ASKED

Auto Dealers Assert Cost of Shows Would Nearly Pay for Structure

A movement for a large exhibition hall in Los Angeles, suitable for automobile shows and other affairs requiring immense and unbroken space, was launched yesterday. This will be the last year, if the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' Association can prevent it, that one of the largest and most important automobile shows in the United States will have to resort to the use of tents.

The agitation of such a structure is to result in a definite program if the association can obtain the co-operation of manufacturing bodies and other organizations. Already there is a need for such a building twenty-six weeks out of the year for various exhibits, according to Secretary Roberts of the motor dealers' association.

"This year we are spending thousands of dollars to make the tents at Hill street and Washington Boulevard a fit setting for a show of this importance," said Secretary Roberts. "The decorations must be unusually elaborate and extensive. In addition there is the temporary installation of the immense lighting system. What we pay each year for this would go a long way toward a permanent system. In fact, the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' Association has paid out enough money in providing places to hold its shows to have almost paid for a permanent exhibition building."

Los Angeles is the pioneer in automobile shows on the Pacific Coast, the coming event being the thirteenth. The show will open the 20th inst., and close the last day of the month.

Mayer to Give Talk Sunday on Russian People

Dr. Jasper J. Mayer will give the second lecture of his series on Russia at the Southwest Museum Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The talk will center around the "Customs and Culture of Russia," and will be illustrated. Among the subjects to be discussed will be the famous Romanoff jewels. Dr. Mayer will also speak on the innate love of beauty of the Russian people as a national influence.

Dr. Mayer was in Siberia and Petrograd at the time of the original revolution in March, 1917. He was the only American sent into Russia to combat the deadly typhus, for which he was afterward awarded the Iron Cross.

Eleanor Fenelon of New York, will speak to the boys and girls at the museum tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The talk will cover a trip taken by her to Bermuda and will be illustrated. Emmy Matt Rush will talk on the Indian. Mrs. Anne Hare Harrison will conduct her class in pageantry.

LILLIE GOOGLE'S GONE; DIRECTORS TEAR HAIR

Lillie Google, light tan airedale owned by Commodore Blackton, disappeared from his residence in Hillside avenue near La Brea avenue yesterday, and Warner Brothers Studios is offering a reward for her return. Lillie Google had not completed her part in "Hell Bent for Heaven," and studio officials fear she may have taken the title literally.

OFFICER UNABLE TO IDENTIFY SUSPECT

Motorcycle Officer Bence of San Gabriel yesterday was unable to identify a Mexican suspect held in Los Angeles in connection with the killing of Motorcycle Officer Griffin and the wounding of himself at San Gabriel Sunday night. The two officers were shot by several men, believed to have been rum runners, in an automobile. The suspect, according to Bence, is being held on a charge of possession of liquor.

COUNCILMEN GUESTS OF COMMUNITY BODY

The annual dinner of the Hollywood-Vermont Association will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening at Mt. Hollywood Congregational Church, Rodney Drive and Prospect street. Councilmen Allan, Barnes and Randall will be guests of honor. De Witt Strode is president of the association, which has a membership of 200 leading business and property owners in the vicinity of Hollywood Boulevard and Vermont avenue.

COURSE OF TRUE LOVE SMOOTHED

Federal Court Dismisses Charge Against Elopers; Marriage Heals Breach

Dan Cupid passed final sentence in the case of Omer Files, 22 years of age, and Mary Priest, 16, who were before United States Judge Henning yesterday charged with conspiracy to violate the Mann Act.

The youth and girl were said to have come here from Phoenix, Ariz., last July after her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Priest, had objected to his attentions to her.

Judge Henning yesterday instructed the jury to return a verdict of acquittal. Action should be taken in Superior Court, if at all, he said. There was nothing in the case concerning commercialized vice and at worst it could be construed only as a misguided step of a pair of lovers.

Priest, who is a railroad brakeman for the Santa Fe, and his wife were in court at the time. The father announced his intention of starting for the District Attorney's office, accompanied by Policewoman Georgia Robinson, to see if young Files could not be charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Meanwhile the girl and her mother had become reconciled. Mrs. Priest told her husband she would leave him if he tried to take any further action against Files. The reconciliation then became general, and the party left the courtroom for Municipal Justice Ballard's court, where Files and the Priest girl were married.

Financial and Commodity Exchanges to Observe Lincoln Day

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Lincoln's birthday will be observed in the financial district tomorrow by the New York stock exchange and all other securities and commodities markets. All will resume business for the usual half Saturday session except the New York coffee and sugar exchange which has taken a three-day recess until Monday.

The banks will be closed tomorrow as it is a legal holiday.

ed this year. More than 400 men have been continuously employed during 1925, and at least 700 men will be engaged during 1926.

EXPANSION LARGE

In 1925, the company built 512 miles of transmission and distributing lines as well as six new substations and extensive enlargement of existing substations. At the Merced gas plant a new generator was installed to provide additional and reserve capacity. The construction budget for 1926, already approved and authorized, calls for an expenditure of more than $7,000,000 for the Balch project, new transmission lines, substations, distributor lines and other system improvements.

The entire output of the 32,333-horsepower plant of the Merced Irrigation District has been contracted for by the company for a period of twenty years and will be available before the summer of 1926.

The year just closed was the first year's operation under control of the Western Power Corporation of New York, which in turn passed in November, last, to the North American Company. Through its numerous subsidiaries, the North American Company operates the largest group of public utility companies in the United States.

DIVIDEND ON AUTO STOCK IS INCREASED

General Motors Earnings in 1925 Double Those of Preceding Year

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Directors of the General Motors Corporation today raised the annual dividend rate from $6 to $7 a share by declaring a quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common stock, payable March 12, next, to stock of record the 23rd inst.

Net earnings of the corporation for 1925, totaling $115,980,099, were the largest in the company's history and more than double those of the preceding year, which exceeded $51,000,000.

After deducting preferred dividends requiring $7,639,991, President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., announced the remainder, $108,340,-108, equal to $20.39 per share of common stock. This included $9,569,722, which was the corporation's proportion of the earnings of subsidiary operations in excess of dividends received.

Cash on hand and in banks and marketable securities amounted to $148,142,087 at the close of the year.

LICENSE MUDDLE SOLVED

Foreign Corporations Given Temporary Relief by State Secretary; Disturbance Avoided

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Fears of an acute disturbance in business affairs throughout California as the result of the possible refusal of the State to relicense foreign corporations having capital structures of mixed par value were removed yesterday by an announcement from the Attorney-General. A telegram received by George E. Farrand, Los Angeles attorney, from Robert V. Jordan, Secretary of State, announced that the licenses for 1926 will be issued immediately.

Checks for the 1926 licenses have been on deposit with the Secretary of State by approximately 450 foreign corporations affected since the first of the year. The applicants were given to understand that the licenses would be withheld until the test case before the Supreme Court, filed by the Commonwealth Acceptance Corporation, incorporated in Deleware, is heard. The delay in hearing the case represented such a serious matter to the corporations involved that leading attorneys throughout the State, in co-operation with Secretary of State Jordan, obtained the ruling from the Attorney-General that allows the issuance of the 1926 licenses.

RELIEF GIVEN

Mr. Farrand, who has been active in the efforts to reach a solution of the tangle, said yesterday that the announcement from the Secretary of State clarifies the situation for the present, at least. Later, if the decision in the Commonwealth Acceptance Corporation case is adverse, the corporations affected will have their rights protected for the remainder of 1926, and will have ample time to alter their capital structures to conform with the law. If the decision is favorable such corporations will have nothing further to fear.

The delay in relicensing foreign corporations with capital stocks of different par values has its origin in the instruction given to the Secretary of State late in 1925 by the Attorney-General. His opinion was based on the Supreme Court decision which declared that the provision in the California constitution permitting capital stocks of different par values for California corporations is unconstitutional. Another article in the constitution states that foreign corporations shall not be allowed to do business in the State on a more favorable basis than domestic corporations. On the assumption that foreign corporations may possess an advantage in mixed capitalizations, the ruling to withhold 1926 licenses was issued.

CONSEQUENCES SERIOUS

As Mr. Farrand explains, the consequences feared by the foreign corporations if new licenses were refused, might have taken on a broad significance. Unless a foreign corporation has obtained a license to transact business in the State, its contracts are void against the corporation, but enforceable in favor of creditors.

While the question of different par values in a capital structure has been settled as far as California corporations are concerned, the case of the foreign corporations will not be definitely decided until the decision is reached in the action filed by the Commonwealth Acceptance Corporation. The application for a new license was originally refused by the Secretary of State on the grounds that the corporation had stocks, some of which were of par value and some of which were without par value, and that some of the stock did not have voting power.

Partly as the result of the confusion arising from the uncertain status of foreign corporations, many corporation attorneys in the State are advocating a revision of the California corporation laws by the Legislature. They point out that objectionable features in some of the laws are impeding the flow of outside capital into California.

Official Staff of Bank Branch Here Promoted

Changes in the official staff of the International branch of the Bank of Italy were announced yesterday from the head office. This branch is located opposite the Postoffice in the oldest section of Los Angeles.

A. H. Brouse, who has been assistant manager, was advanced to the position of manager. Mr. Brouse has been with the bank since 1918, previous to that time having been cashier of the National Bank of Riverside.

P. H. Clavere and L. J. Andreani, who have been assistant cashiers, were both advanced to the position of assistant manager. Ira E. Ogden, personnel officer, and Glenn E. Watkins, in charge of the note department, were made assistant cashiers.

John Lopizich, vice-president of the Bank of Italy, maintains his headquarters at the International branch. His supervisory duties have been increased to include branches immediately adjacent to the north of the branch where he is located.

Annual Report of Santa Fe to Disclose Gain

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Net income of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe for 1925 is estimated today by W. B. Storey, president, at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 more than 1924, when the total was $42,151,806, or $15.49 a share on the common. Final figures have not been completed.

It is probable our other income will show a decrease of about $1,000,000," he said, "due to increased production costs of our controlled oil companies. Our operating ratio last year was 69 per cent, compared with 72 per cent in 1924. On account of this splendid showing it is likely operating ratio this year will not show much change from 1925. As far as I can see we will do no financing this year."

GOLD BONDS OF UTILITY ON MARKET

Liens of Western United Corporation Offered Here by Banking Syndicate

An offering of $3,000,000 Western United States Coporation thirty-year 6½ per cent sinking fund collateral trust gold bonds, Series "A," due December 1, 1955, was made yesterday by a group of investment houses headed by E. H. Rollins & Sons and including Spencer Trask & Co., Blair & Co., Inc., and Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co., at 99½ and accrued interest to yield over 6.50 per cent.

The corporation, organized under the laws of Illinois, controls Western United Gas and Electric Company, which serves a population of about 360,000 in Northern and Southern Illinois. About 86 per cent of the net earnings are derived from gas and electricity, 11 per cent from transportation and 3 per cent from miscellaneous sources.

The company, through its subsidiaries, does the gas business in all of the communities it serves; the electric light and power business in Aurora, Elgin, Wheaton, Glen Ellyn, Murphysboro and other municipalities; the steam-heating business in Aurora; the water business in Murphysboro, and the electric-railway business in and between Aurora and Elgin.

The electric power and light properties, with an installed generating capacity of 29,892 horsepower, serve without competition over 26,542 customers. The gas properties, with a daily sendout of over 8,500,000 cubic feet of gas, serve, also without competition, over 27,326 customers. The railway properties, consisting of thirty-seven miles of main-line electric railroad and city railways, with an aggregate of thirty miles of track, are in an exceptionally high state of operating efficiency.

The bonds constitute the only funded debt of the corporation and are secured by deposits with the trustee of selected securities.

Earnings have been maintained at a rate of more than three and one-half times annual interest requirements and about three times the annual interest and sinking-fund requirements of the bonds.

SECURITY ARRIVES AT NEW MILEPOST

Old Records of Bank Tell Story of Growth Since 1889

Thirty-seven years as a Los Angeles bank were rounded out yesterday by the Security Trust and Savings Bank. It opened for business February 11, 1889.

President J. F. Sartori, founder of the bank and its president since 1895, and the three men most closely associated with him in launching the Security, Maurice S. Heilman, vice-president and chairman of the board; Willis D. Longyear, vice-president, and Tracy Q. Hall, treasurer, are still at the helm.

Mr. Hall, in looking over old records yesterday, uncovered the fact that the Security had celebrated twenty birthdays before its total deposits equaled the increase in deposits which the bank has made between its thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh birthdays. That one year increase amounts to $22,000,-000, which was the total of deposits in 1909.

"The growth in deposits during the past year has been so large as to make the growth of the first twenty years seem small in comparison," remarked the Security treasurer, "but as a matter of fact the progress of the first two decades was highly creditable. Los Angeles was pretty small in those days. For several years after the Security had started the community was suffering severely from the collapse of the boom of the eighties. And then followed years of drought, with the science of irrigation just in its infancy here. Despite these unfavorable conditions the bank built up its deposits from $154,000 in 1889 to $1,000,000 in 1897. Three years later they reached $2,000,000, and by 1909 they had mounted to the $22,000,000 mark."

DIVIDEND FIXED FOR JULIAN OIL

Cash of 2 Per Cent to Issue on Preferred

Stock Distribution to Pay Up Accumulations

News Broken at Meeting of Stockholders

A cash dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred stock of the company for the first quarter of 1926, and a stock remuneration covering the accumulated dividends up to and including December 31, 1925, were announced to the stockholders of the Julian Petroleum Corporation at their annual meeting in the Olympic Auditorium by S. C. Lewis, the corporation's president.

These will be paid March 31 to stockholders of record on March 20, 1926, Mr Lewis declared. The accumulated dividends will be paid the stockholders in common stock of the company on the basis of its average value on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange since the date of listing, he said.

Plunging into a mass of figures giving in detail the condition of the company and its progress since January 1, 1925, Mr. Lewis told his stockholders that its drilling program, its pipeline development, its refineries' output and its sales departments have made wonderful progress. It was this showing, he said, that justified the directors of the company in announcing the two dividends, the first since the formation of the company several years ago.

BALANCE SHEET

The balance sheet of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, Mr. Lewis read from his report, shows a combined total of assets of $16,903,-638.30. These values, he said, were determined by a new appraisal of the company by the J. G. White Engineering Corporation of New York City, and do not include the northwest extension, the Signal Hill, Costa-Mesa-Newport and Louisiana productions of the company. The rapid rate of development in these assets made it impossible to include them in the report in time for last night's meeting.

A bond issue of $5,000,000 for the purpose of bringing its development program and its extensions to the fullest degree is now being negotiated in New York by the directors of the company, Mr. Lewis said. The negotiation will probably be concluded in the next fifteen days, when the directors will hold their meeting in New York, he declared. Such a bond issue, he explained, is a common and accepted manner of financing for expansion, and will in no way detract from the value of the stockholders' investment.

JULIAN SPEAKS

Nearly 14,000 persons, most of them stockholders in the corporation, cheered the announcements by Mr. Lewis, and toward the close of the meeting participated in a long ovation given C. C. Julian, the company's organizer, when his name was mentioned.

Mr. Lewis also announced that contributors to the Julian pool will participate in the dividends on stock purchased for them, and that in all probability the directors will vote to release the Julian escrow stock, with dividends, sometime before September 1, next.

Resolutions approving the engineers' reports and the dividend plan were approved, and the present board of directors given an unanimous vote of confidence.

Continuous cheers for "C. C." finally forced Mr. Julian to climb into the ring. He received much applause when he praised the efforts of President Lewis in finally placing the company on a cash dividend-paying basis.

Mr. Lewis also received an ovation when he told the gathering that the company's profit as shown by its books for January, this year, totaled $166,000.

The company has done a total gross business of $6,151,000, with a net operating profit of $518,744, during the period covered by his report, Mr. Lewis said.

Among the items representing the progress of the company in the past year Mr. Lewis listed the following in his report last night:

Thirty-one producing wells added since January 1, 1925, with all but five drilled by the Julian Petroleum Corporation. Average initial production of these wells averaged from 1600 to 50 barrels a day. Nine of these were in the Athens field, two in Huntington Beach district, six in the Costa Mesa-Newport district, seven in Long Beach, northwest extension, and seven in Louisiana.

Twenty-three additional wells are now being drilled by the company, he said.

Approximately forty-five miles of pipe lines have been added during the year, at the cost of $188,700. A total of 4,637,000 barrels have been handled through these pipe lines. The estimate for 1926, based on the new production and contracts, was given by Mr. Lewis as 1,000,000 barrels a month.

Since January 1, 1925, the company acquired controlling interest in three refineries, all now in operation, with a combined capacity of 8500 barrels a day at an investment of $129,800. These are located at Haynes, and National City, Cal., and Phoenix, Ariz.

In the sales department the company has added eighty-two new stations at an investment of $230,-800, a wholesale distribution station in Fish Harbor and harbor terminal facilities at Parr Terminal, Oakland, Cal.

The engineering and appraisal of the properties by the J. G. White Company was under the supervision of C. S. Thomas, Dr. Eric A. Starke and W. M. Lee, Mr. Lewis said.

STEEL CENTER OF INTEREST

Drop in Unfilled Orders Not Alarming, But Serves to Focus Attention on Industry's Condition

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by N. Y. Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A reduction in future bookings of the Steel Corporation at this time does not raise an alarm in the financial community over general business conditions, but it does focus attention upon the steel trade.

That future bookings should have fallen 150,625 tons between the end of December and the end of January is not especially significant in the circumstances. True enough, this decline is the first reported by the corporation since the upward trend began last September. Also a decline in bookings for January, 1926, compares with gains for that month in every year since 1922. But the present recession is small and its occurrence may be traced in part, at least, to the rush orders that were placed late last year by prospective buyers, who feared a possible advance in the price scale.

Weakness in the prices for steel scrap and offerings of steel at prices somewhat below the quotations of a year ago, have given buyers the courage to hold off. Expectations for good business in 1926 still persist among steel buyers, apparently, but nowhere are they stampeding the steel makers for commitments on future deliveries. Buyers do not fear any very substantial price advances. They even anticipate reductions in some quarters. They know that the productive capacity of the industry assures adequate supply. They know that the railroads can be relied upon for prompt deliveries. No wonder that the January bookings fell slightly.

A break in the upward trend of bookings does not mean that the Steel Corporation's business has, necessarily, fallen off materially. Indeed, it is now operating at 88 per cent of capacity as against a somewhat lower rate a week ago. A large volume of business flows out that never is registered as future bookings. About all that the break means is that, while the corporation's business continues very heavy, future orders do not reflect careless buying.

For an industry that is so active as the steel group, profits generally are rather narrow. Certainly there have been times in our history when the present volume of business would mean far more to the corporation's own coffers, for example, than does business at hand now. The experts of the financial community do not yet see any definite signs of a widespread reaction in general business, but some far-sighted bankers are beginning to wonder how the steel companies will make out with their present margins of profit when the volume of steel business is reduced.

High costs to produce what it makes presents a problem to the steel industry only less puzzling, perhaps, than the low prevailing prices for what it sells. Of course, the steel companies are making ends meet nicely at the present time, but they may come to a period when they will be obliged to adjust operating costs, raise prices or in some other way maintain a reasonable margin of profit in the face of reduced activities.

BALANCE OF TRADE HELD FAVORABLE

Mexican Exports for 1925 Exceed Imports by Total of 286,880,090 Pesos

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Mexican exports during the past year exceeded imports by 286,880,090 pesos, according to official figures issued in a report of the government statistical department.

The same report shows that imports during 1925 amounted to 390,164,144 pesos as compared to exports placed at 677,044,134 pesos.

Both imports and exports during the past few years Mexico bought from foreign countries goods valued at 315,000,000 pesos and in 1924 imports amounted to 315,000,000 pesos. The latest figures therefore show an increase in 1925 in imports over 1923 of 75,000,000 pesos and 69,-000,000 pesos over 1924.

In 1923 Mexico sold to foreign buyers 568,000,000 pesos, in 1924, 614,000,000 pesos; thus showing an increase over 1923 of 150,000,000 pesos and of 1924 of 62,000,000 pesos in round numbers.

Taking each month of the past year, the report shows that with the exception of September and October imports did not go below 30,000,000 pesos. The figures are: January 30,-000,000 pesos; February, 31,000,-000; March 37,000,000; April, 32,-000,000; May, 35,000,000; June, 34,-000,000; July, 36,000,000; August, 30,000,000; September, 28,000,000; October, 29,000,000; November, 30,000,000, and December, 32,-000,000 pesos.

As regards exports, August is the lowest month for 1925. The figures are: January, 40,000,000; February, 44,000,000; March, 67,-000,000; April, 61,000,000; May, 57,000,000; June, 47,000,000; July, 53,000,000; August 44,000,000 September, 48,000,000; October, 57,000,000; November, 60,000,000, and December, 54,000,000 pesos.

It is stated that the increase of exports over imports is due to the fact that many products are now being manufactured in Mexico which were previously manufactured outside the country.

SAG NOTED IN BUYING AT RETAIL

Survey Lays Slackening to Bad Roads, Snow and Rain Over Wide Area

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Bradstreet's weekly review will say:

"Manufacturing and jobbing showed the usual seasonal tendency to draw away, apparently, from retail trade. This, however, was rather because of a slight slowing down in retail trade than because of any speeding up in the other branches, which "held their gait" very well, but showed no particular notable improvement. The stock market was more active with irregular price movements, and grains fluctuated over a fair range, with weakness showing in corn which was said to be in a condition demanding early marketing.

Wholesale trade was satisfactory although bad country roads in the Middle West and heavy falls of snow in the North and East retarded buying. This factor also affected retail trade, which was inclined to be dull, while still well ahead of last year. The wool trade was very quiet. Manufacturers apparently adopted a waiting policy on the price question.

Liquidation of Near-by Contracts Continues to Unsettle Market

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—No change occurred in the character of the trading today from that earlier in the week. A continuation was noticed of scattered liquidation in the near months at Liverpool as well as here, particularly in March contracts. This gave both markets a fresh reactionary tendency from the good rallies of yesterday, but beyond this there was not much new, and price fluctuations accordingly continued within a narrow range.

A decline of 15 points resulted in the near months here from yesterday's closing. March selling down to 20.20 and May to 19.68. July declined about 8 points and the new-crop months from October to January, only 3 to 4 points. July sold at 19.04; October, 18.27, and December, 17.92.

Good trade buying continued, however, on this decline. It not only steadied the market, but acted as a restraint on fresh speculative selling by the bear element, with the result that prices later rallied moderately for the new-crop months.

At Liverpool spot cotton was unchanged from yesterday's prices, with middling quoted at 16.54d. Total sales were 6000 bales. Futures there developed further scattered liquidation, with prices closing about the lowest at 8 to 9 of their points net decline on the day for the old-crop months, to 5 and 3 for the new, whereas they should have held an advance of 16 to 3 to have met our closing of yesterday.

Spot markets here and in the South were mostly unchanged on the day.

The day's exports were 12,113 bales. It makes the total from August 10 to date, 5,598,000 bales, against 5,771,000 last year. Weekend figures will not be made up until Saturday. The Census Bureau's report on American mill consumption for January will be published Monday. The belief that it will show around 590,000 bales consumed, against 575,000 for December, and 542,000 for November is expected to make a showing sufficient to hold the market from declining to any extent.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

[Copyright, 1926, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Markets remained quiet today. Gilt-edged shares were quiet, but not difficult, despite disappointment over the failure of the Bank of England to get any gold this week, owing to the unexpected revival of the Indian demand.

Chinese bonds were slightly better.

Sudan Plantations continued strong at 8⅝. Courtaulds was offered at 6⅛.

Considerable interest attaches to the farmers' credit proposals of the Ministry of Agriculture, suggesting joint stock banks able to finance short-term requirements, while long-term credits should be provided by a new central bank for which ordinary banks should be agents, the land bank capital to be provided by public issues of bonds.

The report contrasts the absence here of facilities corresponding to the chattel mortgage in the United States. The bill of sale is an equivalent instrument, but this involves publicity and is regarded as a last resort of impecunious traders.

Advices from the United States suggesting a big copper combination, proved interesting here as the recent buying in London of Rio Tintos has been ascribed to American interests.

Market Highly Irregular With General Price Trend Lower

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Wide swings in a limited number of high-priced specialties and considerable selling in the general run of stocks gave the market an extreme irregular trend throughout the day. Although acute weakness was restricted to a few issues, which proved vulnerable to concerted bear selling, the market at times gave evidence of being honeycombed with stop-loss orders. For a period around mid-day it appeared that a general reaction was in the making, but strong support-ing orders were thrown in to the leaders and this maneuver, aided by a drop in the call-money rate to 4 1-2 per cent, prevented the decline from spreading. Stop-loss orders were touched off in many issues, and profit-taking in advance of the holiday, with the added weight of speculative offerings, kept the list in an unsettled state all day. Good recuperative powers were displayed in late dealings, however, as early sellers sought to cover their short lines.

Some Strong Spots

Offsetting the severe reactions in the food stocks and a limited number of specialties, which were made the center of a bear attack, was the strength displayed by a number of the stocks in which strong pools are working. American Can developed a sagging tendency for a time but subsequently snapped back, rushing forward to new high levels in the afternoon. The shorts in Commercial Solvents A and B were forced to cover urgently as sponsors for those issues made the most of the good showing of the annual report. American Radiator was bid up in expectation of a record-breaking earnings statement, while Mullins Body preferred and Case Threshing Machine moved forward vigorously. General Electric was strong early, but subsequently settled back below previous closing levels.

Gunning for Weak Spots

The bear crowd, searching for weak stocks, uncovered several issues which proved vulnerable among the high-priced specialties. Foundation Company was singled out for concerted attack soon after the opening, and broke precipitately under pressure of heavy offerings, standing at one time over 16 points below the high prices of Wednesday. Encouraged by the success of the drive against that issue, speculators for the decline launched vigorous selling movements against a number of other recently popular descriptions. Devore-Reynolds A was forced down abruptly on the theory that its current high levels were warranted neither by the present dividend rate or earnings. Savage Arms came in for considerable attention, and Cast Iron Pipe fell back sharply under light offerings.

The Motors

White Motors was in demand on a heavy scale on the strength of the action of the board yesterday, reaching new high ground for the year. Developments favorable to shareholders had long been expected and the substantial stock dividend ordered, together with the valuable rights to be created through the proposed offer to holders of two new shares at par for each five shares now owned, was in line with predictions. Hudson Motors, on which a liberal distribution has been looked for at the last few meetings of the board, was also strong, though it sagged with the general list around midday. Apparently buying was done with the thought in mind that favorable action cannot be delayed much longer. Studebaker was firm and the group as a whole was helped somewhat by the movement in the Senate to abolish motor-car taxes, which, if it is carried, would doubtless stimulate greater buying of cars.

Coppers and Oils

The most impressive buying of the day was reported in the coppers and the oils, which incidentally showed the best resistance when selling pressure was at its height. The low-cost producers were in greatest demand among the red-metal shares, with Cerro De Pasco advancing to new high ground. Strength in that issue was explained by reports that its difference with the Peruvian government over damages to crops from the fumes of its smelters had been settled. These plants were understood to be again operating at a high rate, after installation of equipment to take care of fumes. Chile Copper and Kennecott, most prominent of the other low-cost producers, also were well bought. Among the oils, Phillips Petroleum was the strong feature, reaching new high ground on buying reported to be for control.

CITY MARSHAL EXONERATED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MERCED, Feb. 11.—Charles G. Gorby, city marshal of Livington, was exonerated today of all blame in the shooting of Dalots Ortes, Livington farm hand and suspected bootlegger, by a Coroner's jury. Ortes was killed by Gorby when the officer attempted to search his automobile for liquor. Testimony showed Ortes attempted to use a pistol.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Speculative Rails Up

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW LORK, Feb. 11.—Trading interest in the bond market today was focused on speculative rail issues which alone were able to withstand the effects of firm money conditions and profit-taking. These influences, coupled with the approach of a holiday, tended to restrict activities and trading generally was dull.

Buying of the low-priced carrier bonds presumably represented speculative adventures, undertaken with a view of profiting by possible merger developments. Chicago and Alton 3 1-2s were the most active, moving up more than a point to above 56, the highest price in several years. Erie general and convertible 4s also were strengthened by indications that the Nickel Plate merger case would soon be settled. Denver and Rio Grande, "Katy" and some of the Pennsylvania issues were included in the upward movement.

An extension of realizing sales weighted down the rest of the list. Sugar company liens were especially subjected to profit-taking, but copper and rubber issues maintained a firm tone.

The lull in new financing which has prevailed this week probably will be broken in the second half of the month.

In prospect for next week is a large flotation to finance the purchase of the Associated Oil Company by local bankers.

IRREGULAR TONE ON STOCK MART

Important Issues Show Wide Fluctuations

Bear Raids Develop Number of Soft Spots

Total Turnover Again Near Two Millions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Wide fluctuations in prices of important stocks again featured today's stock market, which developed alternate periods of weakness and strength. Active short covering in recent weak spots and aggressive pool operations in a number of industrial specialties imparted a strong tone to closing quotations. Total sales again ran close to the 2,000,000 share mark. Easier call-money rates and the appearance of additional favorable 1925 earnings statements helped to revive bullish enthusiasm, but some uneasiness developed among professional operators on the long side, on reports that banks were exercising stricter supervision over the quality of collateral pledged for brokers' loans as a result of the figures recently made public by the New York Stock Exchange.

Weekly mercantile reviews reported little change in the general business situation. "There is rather more irregularity to trade dispatches," reports Dun's review, "but no indications of fundamental weakness or of change in sentiment." Bradstreet's states that "manufacturing and jobbing show the usual seasonal tendencies to draw away, apparently, from retail trade."

SOFT SPOTS

Bear traders went gunning for soft spots and succeeded in bringing down a number of them. De Voe & Raynolds was hammered from 103½ to 93½ and then snapped back to 97 3-4. Foundation Company broke nearly 11 points to 152 and rallied to 158½. Savage Arms was depressed from 102 to 95, but bounded back to 98 1-4. American Woolen common and preferred, Century Ribbon, General Cigar, National Dairy Products, National Lead and Pressed Steel Car all showed net losses of 2 points or more.

Weakness of these issues was offset by the buoyancy of several of the so-called "rich men's stocks." American Can soared 6½ points to 317½; Allied Chemical rose 6 to 140, and General Electric 7 1-4 to 368, all new record high prices. Selling of the motors was based on the widespread circulation of rumors that the directors of General Motors would declare only the regular payment on the common, but it was announced after the market closed that the annual rate had been raised from $6 to $7.

BAKING RALLIES

Phillips Petroleum assumed the leadership of the oil group by advancing over 2 points to 48 on total transactions of about 100,000 shares. Ward Baking B, which recently dropped from 55 3-8 to 55, rallied to 61½ for a net gain of 6 points on the day.

The brisk demand for the eastern coalers on reports that miners and operators were making another effort to bring about a resumption of anthracite mining featured the railroad group.

A partial recovery in wheat prices featured the commodity markets, May futures showing a net gain of 1 3-4 cents a bushel at 1.69 1-8. Cotton fluctuated within extremely narrow limits, closing unchanged to 5 points net lower. The coffee and sugar markets also displayed an easier undertone.

Call money renewed at 5 per cent and then dropped to 4½. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were steady; demand sterling ruled just under $4.86 and French francs were slightly firmer around 3.69½ cents.

RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Prices throughout the crude rubber market today reflected a strong tone, with spot prices quoted at 60c in New York. The local market, however, denoted little activity in the strength due to the advance in the London market. London spot was at 30d, a gain of ¼d from the opening, with a fair amount of buying in evidence.

PLATINUM STOLEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 11.—No clew has been found concerning the identity of thieves who in the noon hour stole platinum and silver from the University of Arizona. The material lost is valued at about $600. In the same safe which had been left unlocked, were platinum articles valued at $1200, but these were untouched.

His car was badly wrecked but he and a young woman companion escaped injury.

BUYS TOURING COMPANY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11.—Daily Metal Trade to-day says: "Greater activity is apparent in northern pig iron. Matters believe the banking of some Ohio blast furnaces on account of the mas situation may result in the diversion of more Chicago iron to Eastern Michigan and Indiana. Thus, too, the time is near when second quarter buying would get under way normally. The Brothers stack and one of the Hubbard stacks of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company have been bathed in that the sale of coke is more profitable than that of pig iron. Structural steel sales are numerous, reinforcing bar business is slow developing, although pending tonnages are in greater number.

Wheat Futures Recover Part of Lost Ground

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Efforts on the part eastern bears to depress wheat prices met with some success today, as all deliveries sold at a new low on the present downturn, with May at 1.66⅝, or 11⅛c under the outside figure of last week. But the buying was of a better character and the surplus in the pit was absorbed by strong commission houses, and toward the last covering by shorts, who were evening up for the Lincoln birthday holiday, brought about a sharp rally, with net gains of ⅞@1⅛c, with May 1.69⅝@1.69 and July 1.50⅝@1.50⅝. Corn gained ⅞@1⅛c, with May 81⅝@81¼ and oats ¼@⅝c higher, with May 41⅞ and July 43¼@43⅝. Rye was ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with May 97¼c, or 1¾ under July.

A much more friendly feeling toward the buying side was noticed in some quarters, and the change was largely due to materially more favorable news from abroad, although it was not given out to the trade. Foreigners apparently are taking advantage of the bearish sentiment in America to secure liberal quantities of cash wheat in the southern hemisphere. London reported charters made for 2,000,000 bushels of wheat from Australia for Japan, and it is said that 14,750,000 bushels were to be delivered before April 1, when Japan is expected to impose an import tax.

There was some selling at one time on reported clearances of 776,000 bushels of wheat from Russia. Argentine exports for the week were estimated at 4,360,000 bushels, against 2,961,000 bushels the previous week, and 6,347,000 bushels last year. Liverpool showed much more strength than expected and closed only ⅛@¼d lower, in the face of the decline in America on Wednesday, while Buenos Aires was 1¼@1⅝c higher, with February 1.50 and March 1.52.

A little improvement was shown in the export demand at the seaboard, with sales of 200,000 to 400,000 bushels, including 100,000 bushels of Durum, and the undertone of cables from abroad showed a more friendly feeling toward the market. Broomhall in a letter on many of the world's situation called attention to the fact that, while takings by European countries during the first five months of the crop year were slightly less than expected, this was more than offset by larger purchases by the Orient.

Corn had a range of 1@1¾c, with the market dominated to a large extent by the action of wheat, with the finish about the top. The seaboard reported a better export demand, and while no sales were claimed, buying by interests of some business developing. Hot and dry weather continues in Argentina, which is unfavorable for the new crop. Basis on cash grain was in higher to in lower, with a slow eastern demand.

Good buying appeared in oats on an early break, and the finish was about the top. It was said that part of the shipping sales of late were from stocks at country points, which have been made at relatively low prices to make room for corn. Minneapolis reports shipping sales of around 500,000 bushels so far this week. Rye was weak on scattered liquidation.

Long land came out in good volume, the same as for several days past, and depressed values to a level that brought in short covering. Futures had a range of 2½c and closed to-lower to unchanged. Trade in ribs and bellies was small and the former closed 10c lower to unchanged, and bellies 5c lower to unchanged.

Dissolution of Stock-Trading Body Planned

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The board of governors of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, by vote of 16 to 3, adopted a resolution today calling for a conference with members to plan the dissolution of the exchange and the liquidation of its assets.

The resolution was adopted after twenty-four hours of argument among the governors following the assumption of control by the committee of five appointed under the injunction obtained against the exchange by Atty.-Gen. Ottinger.

Because of the overwhelming majority among the governors in favor of dissolution, it was said that the "conferring with members" was merely a formality and that the exchange will cease to function within the next fifteen days.

Eastern Group to Take Block of Associated

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Henry W. Deforest, chairman of the Pacific Oil Company, announced today that certain of the large stockholders of the Associated Oil Company, including the Standard Oil Company of California, which will receive large holdings from the Pacific Oil Company had agreed to sell a minimum of 25 per cent of the capital stock of Associated Oil to Blair & Co. and the Chase Securities Company.

Payment will be made at the option of the sellers, either in cash at $59 a share or in certain other securities which will be made known before March 12.

WATER SUPPLY SUFFICIENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 11.—According to an official report of the Water Users' Association, no apprehension need be felt concerning possible lack of water this summer for irrigation of association lands. The actual shortage, compared with last year, is set at 95,000 acre feet, and this can be more than made up by pumps that have been added. It is stated, however, that the pumping operations probably will raise the cost of water.

NEW YACHT FOR HONOLULU RACE

L. A. Norris Boat Mariner Bought in Bay City

Purchase Believed Made for Los Angeles Party

Craft Victor in Trans-Pacific Contest Last Year

Los Angeles yachtsmen will enter another big racing boat in the race from Los Angeles Harbor to Honolulu, June 10, it was learned yesterday following the announcement that H. L. Wilson, marine director for local film companies, had purchased the schooner yacht Mariner in San Francisco of L. A. Norris. The Mariner captured the San Francisco-Tahiti race last summer, as well as a number of other matches on this Coast.

The deal, said to involve $50,000, was consummated suddenly, as Norris had completed his plans to cruise to the South Sea Islands on the boat, even having the craft completely provisioned and ready to sail in a few days.

The Mariner was built in 1922 in Gloucester, Mass., for Norris, under the design of Starling Burgess, brought through the Panama Canal, and since used on several long cruises, including one to the South Seas. Completely outfitted, she is said to have a value approaching $80,000.

Capt. Wilson, known in yachting circles as Doc, is believed only to represent local persons, who are the real purchasers of the racer. He is expected to sail the trophy winner down to local waters in a few days.

LINER MANCHURIA OUT OF SPEED CONTEST

The Panama Pacific liner Manchuria with more than 500 passengers fleeing the wintry blasts, will not reach her pier in San Pedro and Los Angeles until late tomorrow afternoon, it was reported yesterday.

Her skipper eliminated her from a speed contest in which she was seeking to beat the time from New York to Los Angeles made in the record-breaking run of the Panama Pacific liner Virginia of the same line, that vessel averaging 15.75 knots an hour for the entire voyage.

Among the passengers due also to disembarrow are the Mexican passenger carrier Sinaloa, Mexican freighter Montezuma and the British freighter Philippar, en route here to join the United Kingdom.

The new Swedish motor liner Axel Johnson of the Johnson Line is expected Sunday morning from Gothenburg and Central America on her maiden trip to ports unaccustomed with twenty passengers for here and San Francisco. She also has steel, paper, ferromanganese and 10,000 sacks of coffee aboard, besides cargo for local discharge. Her sister ship, the Annie Johnson is en route back to Sweden with fifty-five passengers and a full cargo of nitrate and other merchandise, and the most passengers ever carried by one ship over that route. It is the Amie's first trip to Scandinavian countries, and it is said the first serious effort on the part of a steamship company to develop the passenger business between California and Europe.

In the arrival today of the tank steamer Rosario from Portland, Oregon, with 72,000 barrels of gasoline, the first cargo of another tank-carrying service between Los Angeles and the North Atlantic. The Southern Oil Corporation of this city has entered into a five operating in the molasses-carrying trade between the West Indies and the North Atlantic, and it is reported that the line is to be augmented with a view to putting more of the fleet on this run. The is chartered for this trip to Cone Lea, Ltd., and will discharge her cargo at Cuba. She has back 60,000 barrels of crude oil to the company's refineries at Philadelphia. The company is the holding company for the City Service Refining Company of Boston, which has for years operated a fleet of tankers between this port and the North Atlantic. Recently it has added the steam turbiner measuring 502 by 59.3 by 34.7, two decks, built by the Quincy, Mass., in 1916, according to W. H. Wiseman, who will report present her on this Coast.

California will reap thousands of dollars as the result of the boom in Florida, which has diverted folks away from there rather than be penalized by the proposed gasoline tax, according to Roy P. Crowder, passenger traffic manager for the Los Angeles Steamship Company, who has just returned from a swing around Atlantic States. He said the flow of travel westward will be heavier than in the last several years, and he noted a vast amount of inquiry about the Hawaiian Islands.

Designed by D. M. Callas, naval architect, along yachting lines, a seventy-five foot schooner, the Sea Gypsy, is being built for and ordered constructed by the Harbor Boat Building Corporation, at a cost said to be $30,000. It will be used by Mexican waters, transporting the catches of small boats to Los Angeles Harbor canneries, and will be completed by June. The craft will be powered with a 135 horsepower Atlas Imperial Diesel engine; will have fore and aft hold, and a capacity of fifty tons. In addition to its cold storage compartments.

The British motorship River Fly is due this morning at the Outer Harbor docks with the joint service of the Kawasaki-Roosevelt lines. She is one of five such motorships built for the globe-trotting service, and has made three times around the globe. On her last trip, which was a complete circle, she is reported to have undergone no repairs either to her motors or her hull.

Frank Lesley, lumber worker at the E. K. Wood Lumber Company yards, was caught under a falling pile of lumber yesterday afternoon and his left leg fractured and body mutilated. He is at the San Pedro General Hospital where it is feared amputation will be necessary.

GOOPS!

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children

—BY GELETT BURGESS—

(Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune)

"THANK YOU!"

One cannot ever be too swift
To say "I Thank You!" for a gift.
Most children do, but I know one
Who's silent when you give him one.
Think of his being so ungrateful!
A Goop like that is simply hateful.

MINNIE FLYNN

FRANCES MARION

THE CAST

MINNIE FLYNN, known to the screen as JUNE DAY, a pretty, red-haired and pearly complexioned, struggling for fame in the ghetto, married to Billy MacNally, a butcher's boy.

MICHAEL FLYNN, her father, a handyman plasterer, who loves only his family and his work and knows neither.

BILLY MacNALLY, Minnie's husband.

BEAUREGARD, a producer, to whom Art means Success.

MELANDA GRANT, ex-actress of Beauregard, and traveling dowager.

ALICIA ADAMS, extra girl with ambitions and fine acting.

GILBERT CARLTON, debonair clothes model who has resolved to stardom, destined to be Minnie's leading man. Selfish, thoroughly commercial, and possessed of an absolute age.

Billy MacNally advised against Minnie's move to the new, expensive apartment. It was unfurnished, and Minnie was now hundreds of dollars in debt. She had furnished it to look like the sets built at the studio. In the parlor —why did Minnie always get angry when he forgot to call it the "drawing room"?—there were too many pieces of furniture, all covered with satins and velvets. He couldn't sit on them in his working clothes. The rug was pale rose. He dared not walk upon it. He hated all the gilt mirrors in the room which made him see himself red-faced and seedy in the midst of all this gilt and satin splendor. Two other ornaments he didn't like: why did a nice girl like Minnie want a big marble statue of an undressed woman near the window where it could be seen by passersby on the street? And over the mantelpiece was a painting called "Paul and Virginia." Michael Flynn and Billy always turned embarrassed eyes away from the two bold figures flaunting their half-nakedness. If that was art, they didn't want art; the art Minnie was learning around the movies was stealing from her all sense of shame and decency.

Even in the cozy corner of the den, Billy dared not sit. It was a broad, comfortable couch, but covered with fussy cushions, satin, silk, velvet and burnt leather. There was a draped canopy overhead held by two long menacing spears, fastened at right angles from the wall. Close to the couch on a small inlaid-mother-of-pearl table was a brass Russian teapot and a hammered brass box for cigarettes. There were five lamps in this small room, tall and graceful, or squat and round-bellied. Most of the lamp shades were hand painted and very expensive.

Minnie had called her bedroom a "boudoir," "a symphony in blue." Over the bright, Chinese blue carpet, before the diminutive gas log fireplace, was a large polar bear rug. The bed was white paint and wicker, decorated with baskets of flowers in bas-relief. Minnie had outgrown brass beds by now. The dresser, desk and chairs were white, the lamp shades shell pink. On the bed was a lace spread with a satin lining. Six or seven small embroidered pillows were piled upon it. On the wall were several photographs of Minnie framed in elaborate gilt frames. On the mantelpiece was another photograph of herself in a beautiful frame made entirely of seashells.

Jimmy's room was furnished in mahogany. Minnie and he had chosen it. On the wall were several posters of prize fighters. Minnie thought they added a masculine touch, though she did not want Jimmy to let the girls at the studio know he had ever boxed, even as an amateur. Jimmy was sorry. He would like to have told Alicia Adams. Minnie wasn't the only one who had achieved something in the Flynn family.

In Billy's room was the bird's-eye maple dresser and the brass bed they had bought for their bedroom in the Ninety-seventh-street apartment.

Pete and Elsie's room contained the furniture they had bought for the parlor of the old apartment. Billy liked these two rooms the best in their new home. He could fearlessly stand on the rugs, sit on the chairs and lie down on the beds.

But often he longed to be again in the Schultz rooming-house where he and Minnie had been so happy.

Billy's slow mind plodded back over the past year. He sat there on a bench facing the river that stretched out in the soft darkness like a long, winding ribbon of silver. Couples found the next bench, whispered in the masking shadows, then wandered on, often holding hands; sometimes the boy's arm was around the girl's waist. The sight of their contentment made him want Minnie with maddening desperation. If they could again sit and spoon in the lower hallway of the Central! His heart ached in memory of the evenings they had spent in the park before their marriage. He hardly dared think of those first few weeks after their marriage.

At midnight he rose and paced up and down restlessly, glancing at his watch every few minutes. Minnie had told him that she would not be home before one-thirty.

At 1 o'clock he entered their apartment. He tiptoed quietly so as not to awaken Elsie. He stole into his own room, stood there for a moment, almost in guilty debate, then with his jaw set in resolution, he went into the bathroom and turned on the water in the bathtub. This irregularity made him slightly nervous. He shaved in spite of his fumbling fingers. He shampooed his hair, then used some of Jimmy's pomade. This done, he searched in the closet for the package still tied up and labeled, "Merry Christmas to Billy, from his loving wife." He opened it gingerly and took out a pair of white and blue striped silk pajamas. After his bath he slipped into them and stood in front of the mirror looking at himself. Of course he preferred his night shirts, but Minnie evidently liked these two-piece things. He lit a cigarette and sat down in the morris chair, leaving his door slightly ajar so he could hear them when they arrived. He tried to stop the irregular beating of his heart by concentrating upon the Butcher's Manual.

That evening Minnie was in the height of her glory. Jimmy escorted her to the annual ball given by the cameramen of the industry. She wore a new gown, silver cloth trimmed with silver lace, which was made especially for her by Mme. Papillon—since Minnie's success they were close friends. Jimmy was in a full dress suit made for him by the tailor who made all of Gilbert Carlton's smart outfits.

They were driven to the ball, which was at the Astor Hotel, in Minnie's car. Pete was still the chauffeur and even saluted Jimmy.

When she arrived and entered the ballroom, the electricians in the balcony swung the huge luminous head of the spotlight in her direction, and a path of light reached to embrace her. She stood alone in its dazzling radiance, bowing in acknowledgment of the applause. Through a megaphone roared a masculine voice: "Ladies and gentlemen, this is Miss June Day, star of the Elite Productions." The patter of applause grew until it exploded noisily around her, thundering its echoes to the far corners of the room before it ceased. Her heart was beating wildly, sending bright color to her mouth and cheeks. Her eyes were like deep-cut sapphires. Soon she was surrounded by eager young men, all clamoring for dances. Women in boxes looked at her through opera glasses. Hal Deane sought her and asked for the first dance. He held her firmly in his strong arms. How beautiful she was . . . if only he could have her to cherish and protect—protect her from the world and from herself!

While they were dancing and he was guiding her through the crowded room, he felt her body suddenly stiffen, grow taut in his arms. Then Gilbert Carlton danced past them, his tall, graceful body swaying to the pulse beats of the music. Carlton's voice struck upon their ears. He was saying heartily: "Hello, Hal! Glad to see you here," and then, lowering his voice to pleasant cadences: "How do you do, Miss Day? Marvelous dance, isn't it?" The music ceased and above the babel his voice rose again, calling to them. He had left his partner and was hurrying toward them.

Minnie was thinking, "He's a dirty dog, but how handsome he is —the handsomest man in the whole ballroom."

"Why not?" she demanded, icily formal.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver — constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Illinois-Pacific Glass Corporation Announces Plans to Build Huge Los Angeles Plant

The rapid increase in population of Southern California with consequent broadening of marketing possibilities of the entire territory, has induced the Illinois-Pacific Glass Corporation to establish Los Angeles as the site for its second big Pacific Coast expansion, according to information reaching the Chamber of Commerce late yesterday.

Announcement of this fact was made yesterday by A. G. Arnold, manager and general manager of the chamber, following a conference with William L. Cole of Chicago, vice-president and general manager, and E. C. Hellman, of the corporation, with plans an investment of between $600,000 and $1,000,000.

"Our Pacific Coast business has grown so rapidly that we found it imperative to extend our facilities," Vice-President Cole told Chamber of Commerce officials yesterday. "In looking about for the logical place for such an expansion, we selected Los Angeles over all other Pacific Coast points, due to its

HUGE GAIN IN ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOLS

Increase of 13,000 Shown by Report Over Number at This Time Last Year

An increase of 13,000 school children over the number in the public schools at the close of January, 1925, was shown by the superintendent's report to the Board of Education yesterday afternoon. The total for last year was 165,210, and for the same month this year the total attendance is 182,769.

"Assuming six persons to every child, these figures would indicate an increased population of 78,000 in the last year," Frederick R. Feltshans, board member, pointed out when the report was being discussed.

RARE MANUSCRIPTS BOUGHT

Huntington Library Acquires Original Accounts of Pizarro's Peruvian Conquest and Execution

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 11.—One of the most remarkable collections of early Spanish-American historical documents in the world, the original Pizarro-La Gasca manuscripts, which present the only thoroughly authentic account known of the colorful conquest of Peru in the sixteenth century and which have laid unpublished in the archives of the La Gasca family of Spain for centuries, has been acquired by the Henry E. Huntington Library, Leslie E. Bliss, librarian, of the institution, announced today.

The historical value of the collection is tremendous, comprising complete accounts of his exploits in Peru written in his own hand by La Gasca, commissioned by King Charles of Spain to subdue the colony.

The collection, purchased from Maggs Brothers, London book dealers, takes an important place in the great mass of historical printed books which form a prominent division of the Huntington Library.

The period represented by the Pizarro-La Gasca manuscripts, 1537 to 1550, is one of the most fascinating in the whole adventurous story of Spain's great colonial exploits and medieval power.

CARRY ILLUSTRATIONS

The manuscripts, bound in two parchment volumes, consist of about 3000 pages of writing, with pen illustrations of their remarks by various correspondents. Many of the leaves bear the seals used and some of the sprinkled sand with which the ink was dried.

The type-like clarity of the handwriting of the period makes the manuscripts easily legible and Capt. R. B. Haselden, keeper of the manuscripts of the library, who has translated the Pizarro-La Gasca papers, says descriptions of some of the eyewitnesses are vivid and graphic.

None of the letters or manuscripts has been altered or edited and they tell intimately the whole story of the bloody events leading up to the revolt of Pizarro after his conquest of Peru, his defeat and execution by La Gasca and the subsequent happenings.

HUNTINGTON DELIGHTED

Henry E. Huntington, who has been confined to his bed since he underwent an operation last fall, was enthusiastic over the collection today. He is recovering rapidly and expects to be up within a week or so. He will celebrate his

OLDEN DAY AT HORSE SHOW

Scenes from vanished days enlivened last night's session of the Los Angeles National Horse Show when phaetons and coaches made their appearance in the arena at the Ambassador Auditorium.

Before another capacity audience four women drove George IV phaetons, with groom and livery, in the single heavy harness horses event. The drivers were Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Chicago, Miss Jean Browne Scott of Strafford, Pa., Mrs. W. P. Roth of San Francisco and Mrs. Maurice DeMond of Los Angeles. First prize went to Newton Victor, entered by Miss Scott.

The old-fashioned coach and four made its appearance in the four-in-hands event. Four coaches, some with pretty girls atop, some with footmen and coach horns, were driven around the arena, amid the cheers of the crowd. The exhibit of Miss Scott won first place in this event also.

HORSE AND RIDER DOWN

For the third evening in succession, the jumping event, which last night opened the program, produced a mishap. For the first time during the show, both horse and rider went down.

Mrs. Hilda McCormick Cook rode Cricket, entered by Maurice DeMond. Cricket seems to be laboring under a hoodoo in the show. Tuesday night Alfred Meyer suffered an injury to his knee when Cricket came down badly after a jump. Last night Cricket fell, and Mrs. Cook narrowly escaped being crushed beneath him. Cricket came up unhurt and his rider with only a shaking-up. She insisted on going through with the event, rousing the enthusiasm of the crowd.

Another spectacular spill endangering the life of one of the participants provided the audience with a second thrill during the judging of the middle weight hunters. The Clown, entered by F. M. White and ridden by Hughie Twighford, stumbled on the second jump, throwing the rider. Twighford, an excellent rider, was only slightly injured and only his ability as a horseman prevented his sustaining possible serious injuries.

The judging of the saddle horses, five-gaited, class for the Cecil B. De Mille stake of $500, was one of the events of the evening. Matt Cohen, announcer; grouping the three stallions entered, Chief of Longview, Edna May's King and Nobleman, announced they represented an outlay of $45,000, and said he doubted anyone present would ever see three such stallions in any other ring at any time. Edna May's King, entered by Revel Lindsay English, came off with the blue ribbon.

The audience took sides vociferously in the judging of the three entries for champion polo mount. The entries were put through their paces separately under conditions simulating actual play. Lye, entered by J. A. Wigmore, was given first place. Headlight, entered by J. C. Flores, was given reserve position, and had a hearty demonstration of his own from admirers in the audience.

Miss Maude Fawn Banks's Nancy Highland came off first in the Biltmore Championship Stake of $2000 for saddle horses, three-gaited. Sir Eric, entered by Mrs. W. P. Roth, took first prize in the single-harness ponies class for the Breakfast Club Championship Stake of $1000.

Miss Irene, entered by Miss Evelyn Hellman, won the Adehr Stock Farms Cup for champion model three-gaited horses. In fact, the session was largely in the nature of ladies' night as far as winning entries and personal appearances of horsewomen in the arena were concerned.

The heavyweight stock horses event showed the work of entries in conditions simulating range activities. First place went to Dwight Murphy's El Capitan.

In addition to the evening program there will be a matinee session today which promises to be of unusual interest.

RESULTS OF JUDGING

Results of the judging last night were:

Jumping, open to all; prizes presented by E. J. Miller; First prize, Rounder, entered by Revel Lindsay English; second, Let's Go, entered by Griffith Park Riding Academy; third, Forming, entered by Mack Sennett; fourth, Artist, entered by Revel Lindsay English.

A special report of the Los Angeles county grand jury on its investigation of the charges recently made by Gov. Richardson that bunko men and other law violators have been given official protection in the past years will be made to Superior Judge Hahn Tuesday.

This much was admitted by Clayton R. Taylor, foreman of the grand jury, yesterday. The inquisitorial body will file another and more detailed report the following Thursday, and then pass out of official existence.

While the nature of the special report could not be learned yesterday, and while its phraseology has not yet been definitely settled, close observers of the investigation around the Hall of Justice believe that no criminal action will be forthcoming from the report, and that no findings of evidence of official corruption will be contained in the report.

Whether or not the grand jury will make any comment on its conclusions regarding the general conduct of the public officials involved in the Governor's charges could not be learned last night.

Some of the asserted transactions known to have been investigated by the grand jury took place several years ago and are beyond the reach of criminal statutes.

The investigation on which the grand jury will make its special report was started as the result of Gov. Richardson's public statement that he had no confidence in Dist.-Atty. Keyes and that bunko men had been given official protection in Los Angeles county in the past years.

Gov. Richardson's statement followed the controversy between him and Dist.-Atty. Keyes over the parole by the State Board of Prison Directors of Everett A. (Big Hutch) Hutchings, notorious bunko man convicted in Los Angeles county several years ago, and other bunko men.

Scores of witnesses, including a convict now serving time in San Quentin prison for swindling Los Angeles residents, testified before the grand jury. Gov. Richardson personally laid his charges before it, and toward the close of the investigation members of the State Prison Board conferred with the members of the grand jury.

Foreman Taylor yesterday made public a letter received from Julian H. Alco, State prison director, in which the writer said he felt that both the prison directors and the grand jury had accomplished good by their recent joint meeting with the judges. The Prison Board, he said, is glad to know it will receive the co-operation of the judges in the future. Mr. Alco also answered questions about the prison school at San Quentin, which he said ranges from elementary to advanced subjects with many special classes.

COAST TOUCHED BY NEW RAIN

Precipitation in Los Angeles With More Predicted

High Waves Undermine Tracks at Sunset Beach

With the Weather Bureau ordering storm warnings for a southwest gale hoisted at all ports from San Luis Obispo to San Diego, rain began falling in Los Angeles early last evening and was also reported as falling all the way from San Luis Obispo to Escondido. There was a total precipitation during the first hour of .12 of an inch recorded on the gauge at the Eagle Rock residence of Col. H. B. Hersey, head of the United States Weather Bureau here. The rain continued to fall, but at midnight it had stopped although it was still cloudy.

Col. Hersey said a storm center is moving in from the Pacific Ocean. If it reaches Southern California, it will result in rain. Otherwise there will be only light showers today.

TOTAL 7.94 INCHES

The rain total to date for Los Angeles as reported from Col. Hersey's home last night was 7.94 inches. The total to date last year was 3.13 inches. The average total to this date is 9.30 inches.

At San Luis Obispo the showers totaled .65 of an inch giving a seasonal total to date of 10.99. Goleta had .30 of an inch, bringing the seasonal mark to 8.29 inches. Pasadena reported .10 of an inch of rain up to 9 p.m. This brought the seasonal record to 8.50 inches as compared with 5.05 inches at the same date last year. A trace of rain was reported early in the evening at Alhambra while Burbank reported .10 of an inch. Santa Barbara had an inch up to 9 o'clock, bringing the season's total to 8.40 as against 4.10 last year. Escondido reported .10 of an inch, with 10.58 for the season to date. The total last year was 6.21.

"Hoist southwest storm-warning, 8 p.m. Port San Luis to San Diego. Storm center off Cape Mendocino moving southeast. Southeast to southwest gales next twenty-four hours."

TRACKAGE UNDERMINED

Unusually high tides were reported at various points along the local coast. Not far from Sunset Beach the tide was reported to have risen to 7 feet 10 inches, a record height for a number of years. The water at that point undermined about 1500 feet of track on the Newport-Balboa branch of the Pacific Electric Railway. A large crew of workmen was put to work and traffic was resumed at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, with cars moving over the weakened spot at reduced speed. Workmen will be kept on hand to protect the tracks this morning, when the tide is expected to reach another peak.

At Venice, where the tide reached a high point of 7 feet, 1 inch, the $25,000 home of Mrs. A. R. Fraser, at the foot of Avenue 41, between Venice and Palisades Del Rey, was battered unmercifully by the waves. The high seas got to the twelve-room structure follow-

NEW PATENT-PAVING FIGHT

Randall Asks Council to Specify Other Pavement Types; Action Due by Committee of Whole

The smoldering fires of opposition to the "paving trust," as represented by patented pavements, broke out in the Council yesterday just as the noon whistles blew.

The matter was brought up by introduction of a resolution by Councilman Randall limiting the paving materials to be used in permanent improvements. After a spirited discussion, the resolution was referred to the committee of the whole for hearing.

TANGLED CONDITION

The resolution recited that the present paving situation in Los Angeles is in a tangled condition due to the use of patented materials, and that the best interests of the city would be served by limiting paving improvements to a single type of either asphalt or concrete, both unpatented, thereby removing the necessity of the property owner paying unnecessary royalties.

Councilman Allan immediately moved that the resolution be referred to the Public Works Committee. Councilman Sparks seconded the motion. Councilman Moore said he was against sudden action on the matter, and Councilman Sanborn said he objected to an attempt to "jam through" the resolution so late in the legal day.

"This resolution is far-reaching and should be discussed minutely," said Mr. Allan.

"It's far-reaching in that it will save the taxpayers a lot of money," responded Councilman Hall.

LEGAL OBSTACLES

Legal technicalities stand in the way of enforcement of the resolution, Assistant City Attorney Whitehead told the Council.

"If this resolution is adopted it will mean much litigation," he said.

Councilman Colden, who supported Mr. Randall's stand, proposed an amendment to the resolution whereby the City Attorney would be instructed to bring before the Council the proper amendment to the procedure ordinance.

"Everyone in the city is familiar with this paving situation," said Mr. Colden. "This Council should take a stand to prevent these patented paving companies from exacting royalties from the taxpayers."

On suggestion of several members, Councilman Allan changed his motion to refer the matter to the committee of the whole for hearing, which was adopted.

NEW FILM ROMANCE LEADING TO ALTAR

MISS GARON ENGAGED TO STAGE STAR

Former Wampas' Protege to Marry Lowell Sherman in New York Soon

Insistent rumors placing Pauline Garon, former Wampas baby star, and Lowell Sherman, stage and screen actor, as principals in the latest film romance were confirmed yesterday.

She announced the engagement Wednesday night at a party given by Harold Lloyd and his wife, according to guests at the affair, and further stated she would be married as soon as she arrived in New York. She left for the East yesterday.

The couple will go to Europe on their honeymoon, it was stated. They will return to Hollywood later to make their home.

The romance blossomed out about a year ago, when Miss Garon and Sherman appeared together in a picture at Warner Brothers. Sherman went East and Miss Garon followed some time later. They were seen together frequently.

TRAIN WRECKS AUTO

S. B. Lowe and A. Harlow of 703 South Vernon avenue were thrown clear yesterday when a Pacific Electric train struck their automobile at Venice Boulevard and Hobart street. Their car was wrecked. Both were attended at the Receiving Hospital for cuts and bruises.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

WHAT Italy needs is a long vacation from this tin-scrap, movie-prop Caesar.

Mussolini has two tunes upon which he plays. Out of one corner of his mouth he growls ferocious threats of war against Germany; from the other he whimpers to England that Italy has only one-sixth the paying power of France . . .

A country which is also unable to pay her debts.

THE END OF EVERYTHING

Another European war is, of course, unthinkable.

Italy and Germany could not fight it out alone without involving other European powers—without bringing on another World War.

And another World War at this time would leave Europe a chaos of anarchy, starvation—with human wild beasts, at the end, roaming the ruins of what had been a civilization.

BARE LEGS AGAIN

A very clever young gentleman who writes songs tells me that he is alarmed lest our civilization has all but departed, anyhow.

Perhaps I state it too broadly when I say that he arrives at this conclusion from looking at girls' bare legs.

But anyhow, his philosophical conclusion is that the present craze for near-nudity and few clothes is a reversion to the primitive conditions that came before civilization.

And presently, no doubt, we will resume the practice of hammering each other with clubs; and lugging the more attractive of the undressed young ladies to our caves by the hair. The only obstacle, of course, is that they have so little hair. Lugging a young lady to a cave by her boyish bob would present a severe problem for the most expert cave man.

MELBA'S IDEA

On the other hand, Mme. Nellie Melba, the operatic prima donna, wrote a piece for an Australian newspaper in which she took just the opposite view.

She said that all the lip sticks and the bobbed hair and the make-up and the short skirts are indications that civilization has become complicated and utterly false.

That by the time you dig down through the plastering that covers a modern girl, there isn't anything genuine to find. The make-up, so to speak, goes clear through to the other side.

Which leaves me all mixed up what to think about it.

TEXAS KIDS A PRINCE

The vivacious Texas Guinan has an article in one of the "confession" magazines about the Prince of Wales.

Texas is the highly paid hostess at one of the New York night clubs where geniality is to be had—but comes high.

THEY SHOWED HIM

Texas was informed that H. R. H. was downstairs and wanted to come in.

"So I just got up and made a little talk to the folks. I said 'Folks, there is a little boy down there, who has no back yard to play in and never has a good time. Let's show him we are regular people.'"

So they showed him.

One of Texas's cabaret dancers got up and performed; and

The Second-Avenue State Bank, 2405 West Forty-eighth street, was held up yesterday by two men similar in appearance to the men who robbed the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank branch at Thirty-nigth street and Western avenue Wednesday. The robbers got $1800 and escaped in a car driven by a third man. It was announced by bank officials that the loss had been made good at once by the casualty company.

The bandits entered the bank shortly before noon. One of them walked to the wicket of the cashier, E. C. Tressler, and handed in a note which read: "When you have read this the man behind me will kill you at the first false move." The two bandits, one of whom carried two pistols, then herded Tressler, two women employees and a woman customer into a far corner and compelled them to face the wall with hands upraised.

Miss Nell Ellis, book-keeper; Miss C. E. Kleipp, stenographer, and Miss Lillian Miller of 2415 West Forty-eighth street, customer, were the others.

The two-gun bandit was described as 27 years of age, 5 feet 3 inches tall, weight 150 pounds, wearing a blue suit. The other was 35 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weight 180 pounds and more a gray suit. No description of the third man was obtained.

Capt. Cline of the detective bureau assigned six men from Central Station in addition to four men from the University division, to work on the case.

SEEKS MORE MONEY TO SUPPORT CHILD

Inez Withers

PUTS QUERY ON FEEDING BABY PICKLE

Lawyer in Withers Dispute Complicates Question of Child's Allowance

Did the baby eat a pickle, and if he did, was it the right sort of thing for a baby to do—particularly a baby who needs an allowance of $150 a month?

Judge Gates admitted it is a question that involves issues too complicated for hasty judgment. So he took the whole matter under submission.

The baby is the offspring of Granville Withers, who pictured himself as a struggling young fellow, trying to get along and make a name for himself as a juvenile in the films, and his ex-wife, Inez Withers. Their marriage was annulled several months ago because Withers showed that he had married without the consent of his mother and before he was of age.

The matter of the baby's diet and allowance came before Judge Gates yesterday on Mrs. Withers's motion for an increase from $60 to $150 a month of the allowance Withers is under order to pay for the child's support. Counsel for Withers pitched the pickle into the situation by way of attacking Mrs. Withers's maternal sagacity.

"You fed this baby a pickle when it was only 18 months of age, didn't you?" he demanded, levelling an accusatory finger at her.

The objection of Milton Golden, Mrs. Withers's attorney, was denied.

"No, I did not," Mrs. Withers hotly denied.

"Does the baby move in high society?" was the next question.

"Don't be silly," urged Mrs. Withers.

Withers testified his creditors garnishee his salary as fast it falls due. He has a contract to work at the F.B.O. studios for $100 a week.

ing the collapse of a heavy concrete bulkhead, which had been cracked and undermined during recent rough water. Furniture was being moved out of the house yesterday and heavy bracing was rushed in to save the front of the building.

Other houses in the vicinity, built at the water's edge, also suffered damage. The tide yesterday morning sent the water over the Speedway. The bulkhead has stood twenty-five years and was considered impregnable. Damage of a similar nature, according to Venice builders, will be avoided in the future when all the city's plans for beach development are completed. Every effort will be put forth to avoid further damage when the tide is expected to reach the high level of 7 feet 2 inches at about 8:50 a.m.

FRIENDS MOURN LINCOLN

Two Men Recall Incidents in Their Acquaintance With Great Emancipator

Among the thousands of Southern Californians who today will honor Abraham Lincoln are two men who will pay tribute to the Great Emancipator not as a hero of history but as a friend whom they knew and whom memory makes vivid.

They are Harry Clifford, 78 years of age, who resides at 1850 North Western avenue, and William N. Lanham, of 640 West Doran street, Glendale. President Lincoln gave Mr. Clifford the first Prince Albert coat he ever possessed. Mr. Lanham remembers him as a handsome man, not as the uncouth giant he frequently is pictured.

ROUND UP TURKEYS

Mr. Clifford was 10 years of age when he received the coat of which he was so proud. Born and brought up in Washington he lived only two blocks from the White House. Among the pets of the Lincoln family were two handsome turkey goblers, which strutted daily over the Presidential lawns. One afternoon young Clifford and his chum, Stephen Hopkins, were playing in a near-by park when they observed the stately turkeys crossing the street and entering the square. They had escaped from the White House grounds. The boys rounded up the birds in short order and herded them back to the Executive mansion. Going courageously up to the south door of the White House, the youngsters led the fowls to the very entrance of the mansion. A colored servant answered their knock and asked them to wait. A minute later he returned, carrying a handsome broadcloth Prince Albert coat.

"President Lincoln done send you this with his compliments and sincere thanks," the negro said, handing Clifford the garment.

The next occasion Clifford, then a youth of 17, had of seeing Lincoln was the night of the President's death. Laura Keene was playing "Our American Cousin" at Ford's Theater. Clifford and his friend, Stephen Hopkins, had obtained complimentary balcony tickets, though the house had long been sold out.

DESCRIBES SHOOTING

"President Lincoln and his party occupied the right-hand front box," Mr. Clifford said yesterday. "The theater was dark, but not so dark that I could not see the figure of a man step quickly into the Presidential box from the rear. A moment later there was a shot, followed by an instant of silence. The President slumped back in his chair as the assassin leaped over the railing of the box onto the stage and disappeared into the wings.

"Then there was terrific confusion. Everyone attempted to get to the street. The exits were jammed. Outside an angry mob was urging lynching for the assassin should he be caught. We boys stood around in the crowd until morning, awaiting developments. In the meantime, Mr. Lincoln had been carried across the street where he died at 7 a.m."

Clifford is a veteran employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, having worked out of Indianapolis for many years, prior to his coming to Los Angeles several years ago.

Lanham remembers Lincoln as a rising young lawyer of remarkable eloquence, and a man who was liked by everyone who knew him.

"I never knew anyone to have a word of fault to find with Abe Lincoln," he said yesterday. "He was a likable man, so sincere and honest that everyone in all the Springfield district admired him."

Years later, Lanham attended Lincoln's funeral at Springfield. He particularly remembers the eloquence of the sermon of Bishop Simpson of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

FRONK DUE TO ARRIVE IN CITY TODAY

Asserted Check Kiter to be Arraigned Soon After in Municipal Court

J. K. Fronk, Hollywood's asserted $287,000 check-kiter, is due to arrive in Los Angeles as the prisoner of Sheriff Traeger aboard the Southern Pacific's Golden State Limited today at 2:45 p.m. He will be taken at once to the County Jail in the new Hall of Justice, following which it is expected he will be arraigned in Municipal Court before the day is over.

According to reports from El Paso, where the train bearing prisoner and custodian stopped yesterday, Fronk is talking freely to Sheriff Traeger and is making no attempt to evade the issue facing him, which consists of charges that he defrauded eight Los Angeles banks. He still insists the amount made public as the result of his fraudulent activities is not the true amount. He also is understood to have blamed much of his trouble on the bad advice of business associates.

Burial Today of W. W. Thomas, Mine Operator

The funeral of William Wallace Thomas will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral parlors of W. A. Brown, 1235 South Flower street, with interment in Inglewood cemetery. He leaves a daughter, Miss Lois B. Thomas; a son, Edward C. Thomas; a brother, J. R. Thomas, and a sister, Mrs. Mary A. Mitchell, all of this city, and a sister, Mrs. Arthur J. Brown of New York. His wife died several years ago.

Mr. Thomas died Tuesday after an illness of several years. He was a graduate of the Ann Arbor law school and first practiced law in Fond du Lac, Wis. Coming to California in 1883, he joined his brothers, R. A. and J. R. Thomas, who laid out the town of Escondido, of which development W. W. Thomas became the manager. Some years ago he came to this city and was interested with his brothers in mining operations, and was a resident of this city for thirty-three years. He had mining interests in Vancouver, B. C., and spent some time there in looking after the property. He leaves many friends both here and in Vancouver.

Worthington will face trial here on indictments charging theft of two automobiles, one owned in Chicago and one in Pasadena. Durkin, it is said, was indicted in the same connection, in addition to Betty Werner, who is said to have been Durkin's sweetheart while he was here last August. The woman may be brought here after Durkin's trial in Chicago, it is reported.

Adams of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and George H. Coffin of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce.

Edwards Davis, president of the Two-Thirty-Three Club, acted as temporary chairman and was elected permanent chairman of the executive committee.

BOOTLEGGER IN DOMINION ALSO

Visitor Says Open Rum Sale No Bar to Activity

Canadian Justice Quickly Punishes Criminals

Government control of liquor sales doesn't entirely eliminate bootlegging, according to William J. Bowser, attorney of Victoria, B. C., former Premier of that Province, and at one time, its Attorney-General, who is now visiting Los Angeles on a tour of recreation.

"Yes, we have bootleggers in British Columbia despite the fact that liquor is legitimately obtainable through the government liquor stores," said Mr. Bowser. "The illicit venders of potent liquids ply their trade at night when the stores close. And of course, we have a good many who run rum into the United States in violation of the law."

Mr. Bowser told of observing the tactics of a rum-runner on his trip to the United States. "We sailed on one of the liners that ply between Vancouver and Seattle, and somebody called my attention to a small, swift boat following closely in our wake. It was a rum-runner. By following us so closely that the small craft was obscured by the foam-covered billows produced by the fast-moving steamer, the liquor boat was not detected by the revenue cutters which are on constant guard in those waters. When our vessel passed the American boundary, the trailing rum-runner suddenly veered off toward shore where it no doubt unloaded the stuff for the benefit of thirsty Americans."

But the rum-running gentry fare ill when they fall afoul of the stony-hearted Canadian authorities. "We recently had a case of that kind in Victoria," said Mr. Bowser. "A Canadian rum-runner and his young son took a cargo of liquor down to one of the numerous islands off the coast between Vancouver and Seattle, where they were to turn the liquor over to a party of Americans.

"The Americans were on hand, three of them, of the toucher sort found in the rum-running business. These individua's couldn't see why they should pay the Canadians for the liquor, wherefore they murdered the Victoria man and his boy. Our authorities got on the job and with the assistance of American officers ran down the murderers in the States, one of them in New Orleans. They were brought back to Victoria, promptly tried, convicted, and two of them were executed just before I left home, the sentence of the third being commuted to life imprisonment, because the evidence revealed that he had been so drunk at the time of the murder that he didn't know what he was doing."

DETENTION ROOMS HELD UNSANITARY

Judges Condemn Waiting Pens Provided Prisoners in New Hall of Justice

Following a conference in which they scathingly denounced the detention rooms for prisoners in the new Hall of Justice, Superior Judges Burnell, McLucas, Keetch Craig and Hahn yesterday invited the Board of Supervisors to inspect the prisoners' quarters next Tuesday.

"Inhuman" and "unsanitary" were among the adjectives the jurists applied to the detention rooms. It is proposed to ask the Supervisors to cut openings in the walls separating the rooms from the corridor and to install fans or some other ventilating device.

"The detention rooms are supplied with air only through small windows in the adjoining toilets," said Judge Burnell. "They are large enough to accommodate only six persons, while space is needed for at least twenty-five prisoners. With twenty-five men, all smoking, crowded into an unventilated room the air will become almost unbreathable in a few minutes."

The judges plan to have the prisoners brought down from the jail in squads of six. The rooms were planned for the purpose of bringing all the prisoners to be arraigned down at one time, thus avoiding delays and decreasing the number of bailiffs required.

Judge Burnell said thirty-nine prisoners were to appear before him Monday and that to herd them into the detention room of his court would constitute cruelty. As chairs are not provided the prisoners will have the choice of standing while awaiting hearing, or of sitting on the cement floor.

DIVORCE EASIER TO START THAN FINISH

Mrs. Marie C. Whitton

WIFE FINDS ENDING SUIT DIFFICULT

Fees and Dismissal Action Make Reconciliation Not So Simple

A divorce suit is one of those things that is much easier to start than it is to finish, Mrs. Marie C. Whitton learned yesterday.

Mrs. Whitton went into Judge Gates's court, beaming and smiling over her reconciliation with Edward C. Whitton, and left wondering what she was going to do.

"We're made up, judge, and I want to drop my divorce action," she told Judge Gates. And then she found out how hard to let go of a divorce suit can be under certain circumstances.

For up spake then Counsellor Hugh McNary, her attorney.

"Just a minute, Your Honor, just a minute," he interposed. "There are some matters to be adjusted here, notably the matter of the fee for the plaintiff's counsel, myself. I have not filed a dismissal of this action."

"But I don't want any divorce," exclaimed Mrs. Whitton, bewildered.

"Well, you can't dismiss your action yourself. Only your attorney can do that for you," Judge Gates told her. So the matter went off calendar pending some arrangement between Mrs. Whitton and her attorney.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Whitton came into court and reported that Whitton had kidnaped her to prevent her from appearing in alimony proceedings. A deputy sheriff was sent out to find Whitton. When he arrived in court Whitton's story was that he had only taken his wife out for a ride to try to make up with her.

the hostess says she called blithely over to the royal table and said: "Eddie, give the little girl a hand."

And Eddie not only responded lustily with his applause, but, when another little girl danced, he called back, "Texas, give this little girl a hand, too."

And so forgot he was a Prince and so on; and had a real good time.

WATERING STOCK
They say that twelve cubic feet of ice may be made from eleven cubic feet of water. No wonder that the ice business carries its appeal to financial minds.

KEEPS THINGS RUNNING
America supplies the world with something over 75 per cent of all its oil. Consequently we are keeping the old earth going whether we mix in its affairs or not.

PROHIBITION SUCCEEDING
"Hair Tonic as Liquor Kills Six" was a first-page headline the other day. If you doubt that prohibition has driven whisky out of the land just look at the stuff they're drinking now.

UNEMPLOYED
According to Congressman Davey of Ohio, the only army of the unemployed we have in America just now is the army of tax-eating drones on municipal, State and Federal pay rolls.

NOISY SHOES
Gay colors in shoes for men are to be worn in the East this summer, according to certain fashion advices. Out in this country the Charleston dancers can be heard when they are barefooted.

TRAFFIC JAMMERS
According to latest figures there are 538,246 licensed motor vehicles in Los Angeles county—most of which contrive to get in a fellow's way every time he's trying to get home in a special hurry.

APRIL FOOL
An effort is being made to have Congress defer until April 1 the time for the first payment on income taxes. It would set well with the idea that a man always feels foolish when he is making out a return.

THREE OF A KIND
In the Transvaal country oranges, lemons and grapefruit have been grown on the same tree as the result of experiments in grafting. In California the average family lot is still large enough for a tree of each kind.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH KANSAS?
Nearly 25 per cent of the world's recorded meteors fall within the borders of the State of Kansas. Kansas is also frequently struck by lightning. Yet nobody appears to know why the State offers such shocking attractions for heavenly bodies.

SHADES OF CLASSIC GREECE
Athenian girls, incensed at a decree forbidding short skirts, have evolved a "window-shade" skirt, the wearer of which may lower it to lawful length by merely pulling a concealed string when a policeman comes in sight and as easily run it up above the knee when the coast is clear. For heaven's sake be careful, girls. You know how unexpectedly some window shades go whirring to the top.

NEED THE MONEY
Pay in the Italian army is very light and it is the wish of Mussolini that officers do not marry unless they get a dowry with the girl. They really do not get money enough to be able to live comfortably without some sort of an arrangement of this kind. There are not many Italian maidens who have fortunes of their own and, therefore, interest is centered on the American girls who visit Italy. They are rather certain to be warmly pursued if the noblemen and officers learn that they are well heeled.

THE BUSINESS CHURCH
There are now nearly thirty churches in this country that are built in connection with business blocks. In many cases the combination is found to be excellent. There is a definite income for the church and the pastor does not have to interrupt his work with pleas for financial aid. In some cases the church is an institutional affair and the location in a business district permits the organization to be of vast practical use to the community. There isn't any objection to the blend of business and religion. The good old preacher will tell you that there is no more important business in the world than that of his Master.

DAINTY LOTS
Ponzi adheres to his old school of finance. He was about to pay off his creditors through his Florida operations. He had bought a big bunch of wild land in the glades at about $10 an acre and had platted it at the parsimonious ratio of twenty-four lots to the acre. These lots were then peddled to the unsuspecting stranger at $10 per each. Almost anybody would succumb to the idea of getting a deed to a Florida lot for a $10 bill. The pioneers out here used to supply four lots from the average acre subdivided. When there are twenty-four lots cut from an acre any individual holder hardly has parking space for an angleworm. No wonder the jail is again yawning for Ponzi.

NEW CHINESE UPHEAVAL
Civil war of tremendous magnitude and significance is imminent in China, according to late dispatches. The mobilization on all fronts is said to be the greatest since the republic was declared and the different factions began their internecine warfare.

A new element in the strife, and one which greatly alarms Christians in China, is the importation of large bands of mercenaries from Tibet by Gen. Li Ching Lin. These troops are all Mohammedans. They form the savage cavalry of the Moslem general, Ma Fu Hsiang, and are known as the most fanatical fighters in all Asia. It is said they would rather kill a Christian or a Buddhist than eat breakfast. But, of course, their pugnacious character may be overrated, though that consideration will give little comfort to Christians as they see this savage horde pouring into Peking. A large number of them are already in that city and their appearance must be anything but reassuring to foreigners. For, while they are there ostensibly to protect the capital from invasion by Gen. Chang Tso-Lin, who is massing a large army in the Jehol district north of Peking and threatening all the adjoining provinces, there is a feeling that Peking would be a safer haven for foreigners under Chang than under the Mohammedan general.

The situation is a peculiar one. The Moslem troops find themselves in quarters that must make them blink and stare. They are all Tibetan border rangers and wholly unaccustomed to the city or its semiforeign customs. If, however, they are moved on to the Jehol front, as promised by Gen. Li Ching Lin, they may do no harm to Peking or the foreigners there. Still the apprehension that naturally arises in a Christian population that is being policed by Tibetan Moslems will hardly be quieted until Li's promise has been fulfilled. Nor is it strange that the French Minister has made a formal protest to the provisional executive, Tuan Chi-Jui, against what he considers this dangerous occupation of the city by tribes that are known to be exceedingly hostile to Christians. On the American side we have full grounds for protest, not only because of the Tibetan occupation of Peking, which warrants the assumption of its being an anti-Christian movement, but because a large number of American missionaries are held as hostages inside the walls of Sin Yang Chow by Nationalist troops.

It is further proof of the insecurity of foreigners at the capital as well as elsewhere in China that, foreseeing the collapse of the government, Tuan Chi-Jui, the provisional exeecutive, has sent out a circular announcing his retirement.

To confuse the situation and still further to threaten the peace of foreigners in China the Chinese Communists are taking a bold stand and are worrying the missionaries by hostile movements. The English Presbyterian and other mission colleges at Swatow have been abandoned because of the activities of the Reds, and it is charged that they were the ring leaders of the Chinese troops who recently expelled the missionaries from the Presbyterian College and residences at Chaochow.

It would seem that the day of the foreigner in China is about over, at least for the present. That is the opinion of some of the American military officers in China, who say that the orders from the European powers to their representatives are "hands off." Unless there is to be unity of action in enforcing the provisions of the Boxer protocol of 1901 the missionaries, it is said, will have to look out for themselves.

Unity or no unity, it is hardly credible that America or Britain will stand aside and view with complacency such outrages as Christians have had to endure of late in China.

GREAT SOULS
Quite frequently it is charged against our age that it is not producing as many really great men and women as the generations that preceded it. It is admitted that we have more people of great wealth and great cleverness than any other age, but the modern critic asks, "Where is our Napoleon, our Washington, our Lincoln, our Shakespeare, our Tennyson?"

On the other hand, there are those intense moderns who profess to believe that the last half-century produced greater geniuses, especially literary and scientific ones, than any other similar period in the world's history.

One hears quite intelligent persons say that Edison is the greatest man of science who ever lived and that the work of Shaw, Mencken, Dostoyevsky and Dreiser is greater than that of Shakespeare, Dante or Cervantes. As to science such persons are incapable of comparing the value of the actual world-revolutionizing discoveries of such men as Galileo, Newton and Faraday with that of the improvements made upon them by latter-day scientists. They fail to recognize the fact that the chief claims of Shaw and Mencken to literary distinction are not their contributions to the most elevating and ennobling literature, but their scintillating cleverness which sparkles most brilliantly when it travesties our most sacred traditions. Dostoyevsky, Dreiser and others of their class have faithfully depicted certain phases of human life and character, but what noble and inspiring company do we keep while studying the vicious and degraded men and women whose lives and acts these writers almost invariably prefer to record?

It is a rank misuse of the word greatness to apply it to those writers who have sought to show that our most worthy and unassailable traditions are all buncombe, or who have pandered to the worst instincts of their readers by seeking to interest them in characters degraded to the level of dullness and vice, even though the erotic stuff be written with the professed purpose of teaching a high moral lesson, which, in fact, it rarely, if ever, conveys.

Emerson was not willing to separate greatness from goodness. He said that it was not the strong hand which represents the highest force of mankind, but wisdom, morality, civility and self-respect. Who can doubt the potency of the individual moral mind who sees how far-reaching has been the influence of Christ?

The essential originality of the truly great soul is obvious in every example recorded of it. But we must not confuse greatness with the manifestation of a desire to be different. Those who deplore the lack of great men in these times should know that much of the luster that attaches to the names of Caesar and Napoleon was not only due to originality and to the initiative that led to mighty accomplishment, but also to opportunity. The same is true of many statesmen and writers who could not have advanced anywhere without the inspiration of occasion.

There are great souls all about us—potential Cromwells, mute, inglorious Miltons. Some of them may not be what Amy Lowell calls "matrix-breaking, visioning souls." They may lack scholarship and fine manners. But one thing they do not lack and that is goodness—the desire to cleave to all that is worthiest in human life with manifest sincerity. People warm to the man who possesses such a soul, whether his name be known the world over or only in his own village. That name may not go down in history, it may never get into the newspapers, yet it is that of a truly great soul.

BOY SCOUTS' ANNIVERSARY
A week devoted to forwarding the cause of the Boy Scouts of America is a week devoted to the service of God, home and country. Such is the obligation of their oath. To be trustworthy, to be loyal, to be helpful, to be kindly, to be courteous, to be cheerful, thrifty, clean, brave and reverent are the principles trained into its members by the laws of the institution. Since the days of Charlemagne and his knights no society ever marched under a higher banner; nor have the knights in any former crusade lived up more truly to their oath and their obligations.

This sixteenth Anniversary Week, February 7 to 13, finds the Boy Scouts of America with an active enrollment of 800,000 members. Everywhere our educators and civil and religious leaders are searching for ways and means to instill into the youth of the country more directly and more abundantly the elements of character and good citizenship. They could support no worthier agency for accomplishing this lofty aim than the Boy Scouts of America. Whenever a new member is sworn in a step forward is taken in the moral and practical progress of America.

One of the best recommendations for advancing the Boy Scout movement is this: it combines the moral and the practical in a form attractive to high-spirited youth. It reaches them in a way that preaching and exhortation by themselves can never do. The results speak for themselves.

Over 1100 medals and certificates for heroism have been awarded in the past sixteen years to scouts who have risked their own lives to save a fellow-man from death. Boy Scouts have assisted in fighting forest fires, have helped to locate wanderers lost in the wilderness, last year built twenty-three miles of new trails in national parks, have served on school traffic squads, have rendered "first aid" on numerous occasions in accident cases and have always been on hand, when the call came, to assist the aged, the sick and the unfortunate with trained and competent service.

The scout's method is the best so far devised by man for the benefit of his kind, to learn by doing. Their watchwords are "Be Prepared" and "Do a Good Turn Daily." If every citizen lived up to these simple but comprehensive slogans critics would have a hard time to pick holes in our American civilization. By next February the membership should pass the 1,000,000 mark as a proof that our extraordinary prosperity is founded on the solid rock of youth.

THIS MORTAL COIL
A San Quentin prisoner's execution was postponed long enough for him to be cured of the dope habit, says a recent dispatch. The reprieve was granted for another reason; but during the respite the cure was effected.

Was this a waste of good medical skill? Was this a wonderful piece of humanitarian service? Was it a show of kindliness to the culprit? If he had been dozing when "bumped off," would justice have been cheated?

If the authorities wanted him in a clear state of mind for the execution, did they think it would make a more lasting impression upon him and be a lesson to him?

It is also reported that a negro in Sing Sing, sentenced to be hanged, was suddenly smitten by appendicitis and rushed to the hospital for an operation. However, the patient demurred and preferred death by the appendix route to being kept alive for hanging. He seemed to show considerable discretion.

When a man is willing to be cured of the dope habit and thereby delays his death for a season, that is wisdom on his part. But just what psychology may prompt the authorities to cure him for the occasion puzzles us.

Is it unethical to hang a man under the influence of dope? Would it hurt a man's feelings to hang him with appendicitis? If a prisoner cannot receive medical attention so that he will be in a proper frame of mind to get all that is coming to him, will it discourage him and make him downhearted?

We confess to a strange mixture of feelings. There seems to be a confusion of justice and mercy. Is a doctor's code of ethics higher than a lawyer's? If this mortal coil be the greatest thing in the world, then the doctors are right. If justice is loftier than life, then the lawyers win the decision.

While these matters are being settled, Henry Ford, Clarence Darrow, Amos Pinchot, Rev. Malcolm McCloed and many others are championing the abolition of capital punishment.

However, if they be unsuccessful and this thing keeps up, it will be perilous to go to prison. A man will never know when he may be cured of something by the doctors and his life saved so it can be taken in an orthodox manner.

A GOOD TIME COMING
By James J. Montague.

It is predicted that heat and other commodities may some day be sent over the radio.
It is pleasant to sit at my radio set
And listen to speeches and ditties,
To jazz tunes and sermons and such, which I get
From a number of different cities.
But very much pleasanter still it will be
When, with only a nominal payment,
My radio set will deliver to me
My food and my fuel and raiment.

No longer I'll need to stop by at the store
For a couple of cartons of biscuit,
A half-dozen eggs, which must not be prewar,
A cabbage, ten prunes and a brisket.
The proteins needed to keep me alive
Will be furnished as soon as requested,
And I won't need to eat them, for when they arrive
They'll by tucked in my stomach digested.

No shortage of fuel can fill me with dread,
Of coal I shall not burn a splinter,
I shall order my stock of caloric ahead
And my house will be heated all winter.
And when my brown suit gets a little too worn
I shan't have to wear my old blue one,
But will dive in the depths of my radio horn
And proudly pull out a brand new one.

And though I was never a person to wink
At the laws of a sovereign nation,
If sometimes I feel that I do need a drink
I need only tune into some station
In Leith or in Glasgow or bonnie Dundee
Request 'em to send a wee drappie,
And here, in this land of the brave and the free

Lincoln Day

[Protected by George Matthew Adams]

The easiest of all occupations is to be a winner and chide poor sports.

We are a democratic people and almost everybody knows what a niblick, a crank shaft and a rail fence are.

If his hands are soft and he arises at 8:30 a.m. he probably has a pet remedy for the farmers' troubles.

Chinese are queer. They feed their own poor relatives instead of sending all their charity across some sea.

Among the things that cover a multitude of sins are charity and the words "economic conditions."

Still, one's associates in prison usually are about the same kind one had outside.

Funny how derisive the fireman or engineer can make the whistle sound while passing a truck that's mired down.

This is the season when the sport page reports the hold-out of the man the team needs most.

One suffers the handicap of a poor mind and one is voted the handsomest young man in college.

You must remember, Mussolini, that when Caesars did your act the whole of civilization was Rome.

The Indian used corn long ago, but not in politics.

People are funny. Those who advocate phonetic spelling don't spell it "fonetik."

There are many more women than men. Which may mean that nature is slowly eliminating the weaker sex.

Among those who object to diplomats bringing their own liquor are the capital bootleggers.

Correct this sentence: "When I call dinner," said she "John never keeps us waiting while he washes his hands."

You can generally spot a married man. He does a lot less talking and a lot more thinking.

A foolish woman believes everything her husband tells her; a wise woman merely pretends to.

The man who likes to knock should study the automobile. Nobody loves an automobile that knocks.

Self-preservation is the first law of nature; but there is nobody around a railroad crossing to enforce it.

An undertaker's future lies in the opportunities he gets for sealing some other chap's past.

FROM LINCOLN TO COOLIDGE

I. LINCOLN

A resemblance in characteristics, actions and manners of Lincoln and President Coolidge might be briefly summed up in the phrase "knowing how to act." The following sketch will be devoted to investigate the personalities from the hands of two God-gifted individuals.

Every American is acquainted with the history of President Lincoln and is also familiar with the life of President Coolidge. Comparing their characteristics brings to my mind a picture undoubtedly far unlike that which the American sees—the first impression of a marvelous landscape, never to be forgotten! For twenty-five years I lived in a country of autocracy—an absolute monarchy, where the majority must obey the slightest whim and order of one man. This one man commanded 200,000,000 people. When he said "It shall be done" unwaveringly it was done, as swiftly as the passage of a bird.

I have seen the great reign of a people, "les enfants du bon Dieu." I have seen the greatness of the will of the American nation. The last election was such a dynamic thunderstorm that even the most terrible earthquake could not burst with such power. What a weapon these great people possess. There is nothing in the world that can equal this power. Blessed are the people who have such a strong and earnest character. While the Americans, severe, certain, silent and decided, go to the polls knowing what they wish, masters of themselves, understanding their antagonist and knowing that they conquer. They go to the polls for liberty of their country, justice and equality, considering and analyzing—the old proverb might be paraphrased, "Talis filius, talis pater." "As the congregation, so is the clergyman." Such beauty can only be created by a Lincoln, Washington, Jefferson, Coolidge and the other great leaders in American history.

When, in my childhood, I read about Lincoln I wondered and asked myself if a man like Lincoln could exist. My childish imagination gave me the thought that God sent the American Lincoln from heaven and that he was an angel, and when I was grown and became better acquainted with the history of this marvelous man and after coming to the States and studying still more of his character I must confess that I am not far from my childish dreams of Lincoln. The election of November, 1924, decided for me the enigma that only among such a people could be born a Lincoln. Lincoln for the people, from the people, with the people. Lincoln with his thunderstorm character! Possessing fire from heaven, intrepid, fearless! His wonderful voice to his volunteers! Lincoln was unvacillating, unhesitating; his severe will at the same time showed mercy and justice. With simplicity he governed, with Christianity and the deepest and truest understanding, the goal of fraternity. Lincoln—a symbol of the "lactea via" ("the milky way") to Americans.

Generations will come and march through history and Lincoln will ever be alive. Knowing Lincoln as the great architect of his own creation, the Americans will love him more. The more you Americans love him the more certain it is that in each of you will be a part of Lincoln. There must be more patriotism broadcast throughout the country—the incentive to penetrate more deeply into his personality in every movement, for every phase of his character will be useful to all generations. Penetrating into and analyzing his character, every one of you can master himself and cultivate a better understanding of himself. He is a model, the study of which will bring true happiness. He is a motive mental, a "rail-splitter" of improvement and a creator of humanity. His monism was to make the American nation like one great, powerful man. He brought his mind into relation with mental topics, with every new threshold of his traveling and thus his mental temperament increased and he became always more influential.

HANDWRITING SHOWS RUGGEDNESS AND HUMANITY

When I studied Lincoln's handwriting some of his letters showed the strength with which he used the ax; the structure of the letters showed the development of his muscles, his tensity and hardness; they showed his youthful power. They also revealed how added mental development gave that power better direction than it had in earlier times. When I look on his bony features—bony in spite of their simple manifesting of bluntness and smoothness—the mental temperament is shown in various ways. The smallness of his letters, however, shows his pleasant nature, for when he was surrounded by conditions that awakened in him gentle and tender feelings his face would lose its hardness, there would come over it a mildness that made his appearance particularly sunny, especially when he smiled. For an artist or sculptor it might be hard to knit his features. There must have been intense interest, for his face culminated in a great width, indicating also an outpouring of benevolent enthusiasm. His rugged face glows like a burst of sunshine upon the mountain's brow.

His written characters show eager enthusiasm and strength of style in speaking and writing. The compactness of sentences shows earnestness and a working mentality. This also showed in his utterances—a staccato expression similar to the strings of a musical instrument. This strong social nature had a keen sense of humor and wit. There is likewise marked in the letters an analytical, shapely mind.

Lincoln was ever fighting—fighting for honor, for right, for love of country, for fraternity, for the happy future of mankind; fighting for simplicity, fighting for the world balance, for all that is pure, honest and humble, for equality,

WALT MASON

[Copyright, 1926, George Matthew Adams]

FROM THE "GLOOMY DEAN"

The Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's, in London, probably the most brilliant man now preaching in England. Despite the fact that London papers have nicknamed him "gloomy dean," his sermons are not only an incisive wit, but a burst and beshabrol of optimism which is as far as possible from pessimism and despair. His article, "The Future of Christianity," in the January Forum, these gems of epigram:

"Nations get the rulers they deserve, and the future of the white races is not secure."

"The Catholic Church was the last creative achievement of classical antiquity, which may be said to have died in giving birth to it."

"The religious life begins with faith, which has been defined by Frederick Myers as the will to stand or fall by the best hypothesis."

"It is not difficult to imagine Christ would not have approved of modern capitalism."

"A new religion cannot be made for the asking any more than a new political and social institution. We might as well try to grow a tree."

"From within, Jesus said, come all things that defile a man."

"Religions are apt to run wild in the West and America; in the East they grow wild, luxuriating in the strangest fruits and flowers."

TALKED WITH GOD AND HELD THE LIGHT FOR A WORLD

The simple consciousness that "right makes might" was the secret of Lincoln's power.

"Without the assistance of that Divine Being···I cannot succeed. With that assistance I cannot fail.

He depended not upon technicalities or man-made devices. He stood with the simplicity and majesty of right, justice, truth and love.

He resolved everything into its fundamentals. He got straight at the roots and did not get impaled on the branches.

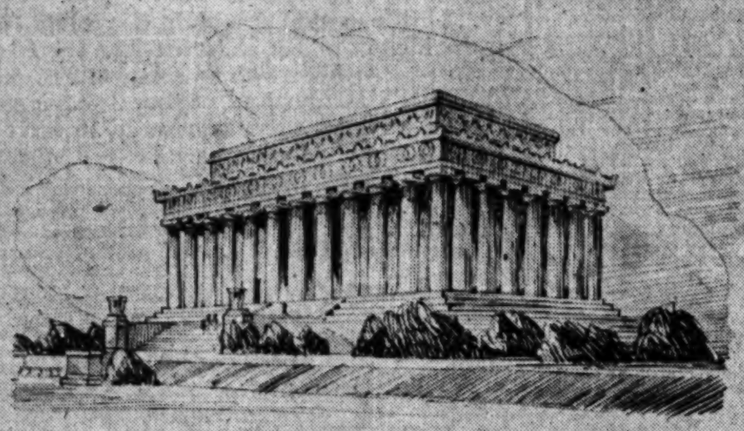
He was not deceived, misled or clouded by any vain hypotheses. His clear perception of the simple elements of fundamental truth, justice, righteousness gave him faith, and supreme trust in divinity.

He reasoned from cause to effect---not from effect to cause---and thus escaped both erroneous philosophy, alignment with false theories, and belief in gain or advantage in any act that was not founded on the purity and perfection of truth or Divine Cause.

He believed in miracles, not as special dispensation or Divine caprice, but as the result of Divine Law. He believed that the Mind that holds the universe was infinitely perfect and subject to no variation or shadow of turning---that God would not align himself on our side, but that we could align ourselves on God's side---and win.

In the greatest act of his life---the issuing of the emancipation proclamation---he neither asked nor accepted the advice of his cabinet, or of any human being. The matter was settled and established between himself and God. He knew absolutely that it was right, and right to do, no matter what any or all other men might think or do.

Abraham Lincoln



Lincoln Memorial···Washington, D. C.

He talked with God as surely as did Abraham of old and he received his answer unmistakably.

Not in its forms, but in its substance Lincoln was a deeply religious man. He had the clear conception of divinity that did not get lost in the fogs of earth---the perception of truth that knows no time.

The things of earth blinded us while he was yet with us, but when he was gone we recognized him as immortal. While he was here we said: "Is not this the carpenter's son?"---and truly he was. Only when he was gone we saw he was a "man of God"---"Now he belongs to the ages."

He was the light shining in a dark period in the history of the nation and the race. Through him he believed God would establish human freedom---not only for his own country, but as a light unto all people and nations.

His clear perception of Principle underlying human freedom and all things governing man and the universe---his sense of inexorable justice---his application of love in all human relations, rising magnificently above malice and revenge---his just judgment and treatment of those who conspired against his country and himself---his vision that the things for which he struggled were not for America alone made him a rock on which rests "civil liberty", freedom, justice, brotherly love and the universal government of man by self-imposed laws which shall in detail express the great commandment: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy soul ···and thy neighbor as thy self."

The Woman and Her Job

BY VALERIE WATROUS

(Questions concerning the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times.)

TAKING UP THE REINS

The future looked black for her. There was the insurance, of course, but $500 would go for hospital bills and funeral expenses. She would pay off the mortgage the first thing. She must get that horror off her mind and be able to feel that the house was her own. When the taxes were paid and the assessments . . . well, $200 was better than nothing; at least it would feed the two children and herself for a little while.

Thus her thoughts ran in those first dreadful days after the funeral. But back of them, the question: "What shall I do to earn us a living?" persisted, gnawing like a starving rat.

Along toward the end of the second week she came to a decision. She would go to the great metropolitan daily whose country correspondent her husband had been and ask to be continued in the work.

Not that she could write, she couldn't even operate a typewriter, but that she must live, and in a vague way she had known something of how her husband searched for stories. There was his neatly kept scrap book. She could study his work and see how the stories should be written.

The man in charge of out-of-town correspondents was kind. He knew how modest her husband's earnings had been; it had been a hand-to-mouth existence, he suspected. Yes, he would give her a chance. Patiently, he explained to her how a lead should be written, that it should, in less than fifty words, tell the reader what the story was about.

She returned to her own small town and began scouting for news as she had seen her husband doing across the ten years of her married life. Not that she had ever helped him, except by careful household management, by baking and preserving, darning and mending. Those were her accomplishments, profession and trade rolled into one.

Wherever there was an accident, a celebration, the opening of a highway, there was the little old flivver carrying the country correspondent.

Inch by inch her stories grew, and she ranged farther afield. With growing experience came a greater self-confidence, and she secured the appointment as correspondent for another metropolitan daily at the northern end of the State.

This increased her income nearly double that which her husband had earned. There were feature stories, and occasional stories for the magazines, and always that editor in charge of the outside correspondents helped and encouraged her.

The success that came was hardly earned; she worked not only to get her stories, but to develop her style in telling them. She enlarged her contracts until the day came when the editor, in need of information from any town in her vicinity, would say: Telephone Mrs. Quick; she'll know how to get that story."

She had found the answer to that question: "What shall I do to earn us a living?" She has educated her children and made a name and reputation for accuracy that has swelled her salary check each month.

What Women are Doing

By Myra Nye

Four Southern California girls, all active in dramatic affairs at Stanford University, will have prominent parts in the fiesta to be given on the shores of Lagunita in May, according to announcement today.

MARJORIE ALLEN

Miss Marjorie Allen, 3615 Marathon street, Los Angeles, a senior student and member of Chi Omega sorority, will occupy the important post of dramatic director of the play, which is the Stanford women's biennial co-operative outdoor extravaganza. Miss Allen has been a favorite before the Stanford footlights four years now, since she entered college in 1922.

Miss Elizabeth Lafayette Park Place, Los Angeles, whose activities have been directed along business lines, will serve as chairman of the admissions department. She has a committee of twenty, including the Misses Ethelind G. Thompson of San Diego, Marjorie E. Wilson of Los Angeles, and Alice Schlinger of Los Angeles. Miss Crebs is a member of Pi Beta sorority, and has been active in undergraduate extra-curricular affairs.

ELIZABETH CREBS

Miss Marie Manchee, a member of the Roble Club and registered from 124 East Arrellaga street, Santa Barbara, will conduct the concessions and sell to sweet-toothed male students such delicacies as they may desire. Miss Manchee will be assisted by Miss Charlotte Lovekin of Riverside, Miss Anita K. Clock of Redlands and Miss Ruth Rosalind Coverly of Hollywood.

MARIE MANCHEE

Miss Allene Thorp, who was director of publicity at the University of California, Southern Branch, last summer, will bring the fiesta to the public's attention with the assistance of the Misses Margaret Olsen of Los Angeles and Elizabeth Bakewell of Santa Barbara.

ALLENE THORPE

Others from Southern California who will have places with the fiesta are the Misses Alleene Burks of Venice and Velma Randall of Los Angeles, who will have a part in arranging the dramatics of the play.

For the first time the fiesta, which is put on biennially and supported by all the women students of the university, will be given at night. It will be staged on the shores of Lagunita, the lake in the center of the campus.

The fiesta was written by Miss Jean Ward of Mill Valley, under the title of "The Romance of Resanov, the Russian." The type and plot of the story leave plenty of room for colorful settings and for a varied type of dancing, both group and solo. The story is laid along the coast of California, principally in San Francisco, about 1806.

It deals with the lives and romances of the Russian, Resanov, and the Spanish maiden, Conchitita. The girls to play these parts have not yet been selected. The Czar of Russia wishes to increase the commerce of his country by securing the trade of Pacific Coast communities. To accomplish this he sends Resanov to beg the favor of Jose d'Arguella, the commandante of the San Francisco Presidio.

The first act is taken up with the meeting of Resanov and Conchitita, the daughter of d'Arguella, and the development of their romance. The second act shows the Russian exiled. The third act is set about forty years later, again in San Francisco.

The spring pageant, involving the participation of more women students than ever before, is to be given on the shores of Lagunita in May, according to announcement today.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Big Help

If a few drops of lemon juice are squeezed into the food-chopper before grinding raisins or other sticky substances the fruit will not stick to the grinder.

On to Stay

If the little fellow is particularly hard on buttons, put a small one back of the one to be used and sew through both buttons. You will find this will work splendidly and be a big protection to the garment.

Will Keep Well

Breadcrumbs are apt to turn musty if kept very long in a tightly covered jar. Place them in a jar but use a piece of thin cloth to cover the top in place of the usual lid.

Padded Linoleum

You have noticed, perhaps, how thick and heavy the linoleum seems in some of the places you visit. A very fine layer of sawdust is laid under the linoleum before it is put down and it not only adds to the life of the floor covering but makes a softer substance to stand on.

Lighter Cake

It will always lighten the texture of a cake if the eggs are separated and the whites beaten stiff before mixing them into the batter. Try it some time with your favorite layer cake recipe and see if it does not make for improvement.

In Case of Emergency

Omelet and scrambled eggs can be stretched in quantity by adding a little cold water before putting them in the pan to cook.

Windows in Winter

When cleaning windows in cold weather add a dessert spoonful of salt to the water. This will prevent the glass from freezing and cracking.

Random Tips

Benzine will remove stains on marble.

Poorly rinsed clothes are more likely to scorch when ironed.

Lay the dull files in diluted sulphuric acid for sharpening and note the result.

The strawberry huller may continue its activities through the winter by acting as an implement to remove pin feathers from poultry.

BUTTERICK 6597

The straight ways of a blouse, its band collar and pleated skirt, make a two-piece frock that is the pink of sartorial propriety.

BUTTON by button the collar has closed in on the neck until now it is high and trim on many of the new tailored frocks. It is a style that is easier for a young girl to wear than an older woman, but even the youngsters have off days when they prefer to open it up and turn it back to the more becoming V neck. The front-closing blouse and the skirt with inverted plaits that give the effect of box plaits is the latest version of the smart two-piece frock. It is made usually in the silk or satin crêpes or light-weight wools.

JUDGMENT ENTERED IN WIDENING OF AVENUE

The interlocutory judgment has been entered in the proceedings toward the widening of Western avenue between Pico and Washington streets, the Council was told yesterday by Assistant City Attorney Whitehead. Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

God could not be everywhere; therefore, He made mothers.—[Jewish Proverb.

SCURVY

Scurvy is not uncommon in babies and children who have not had enough fresh foods containing the antiscorbutic vitamin in their diets. (Scurvy can also develop in adults on deficient diets.)

About the first symptoms of scurvy is tenderness of the bones and muscles. The baby shows by crying that it is painful for him to be touched. He is pale and loses weight. Later his gums are swollen and spongy and he has hemorrhages underneath the mucous membrance of the mouth. The tendency to breaking of the blood vessels and hemorrhages, both in the tissue and externally, is one of the characteristics of the disease. Later scurvy may cause a form of paralysis.

The cure and prevention are simple—like a miracle! They consist simply of giving orange juice or strained tomato juice, fresh or canned—or, if these cannot be secured, the juice of fresh cabbage. Begin with one teaspoonful, diluted (as early as the third month) and gradually increase to at least three tablespoonfuls daily. One teaspoonful every other day won't be too fast. By the time baby is 9 months old he can be taking one-half to one orange daily. Better begin it between the morning feedings.

The child who has scurvy should be under the care of a physician.

Feeding schedule for the sixth and seventh months:

The normal baby should not be fed oftener than every four hours. Feed at 6, 10, 2, 6 and 10 o'clock. Nothing between meals, except boiled water and its orange juice at 8 or 9 o'clock.

SIXTH MONTH

6 a.m.: Nursing (or bottle, if not breast fed.)

9 a.m.: Orange juice, two tablespoonfuls. (See direction at end of scurvy article above.)

10 a.m.: Breast or bottle preceded by any well-cooked strained cereal. Begin cereal half-level teaspoonful, increase same amount every other day until about two level tablespoonfuls. Use no sugar and feed in the solid form. Later you can put a little milk in it.

2 p.m.: Nursing or bottle.

6 p.m.: Cereal same amount as getting at 10 a.m., followed by nursing or bottle.

10 p.m.: Nursing or bottle.

SEVENTH MONTH

6 a.m.: Nursing or bottle.

9 a.m.: Orange juice.

10 a.m.: Breast or bottle, preceded by strained cereal, three to four level tablespoonfuls.

2 p.m.: Nursing or bottle. Vegetable or beef juice, minus all fat. Begin, teaspoonful diluted. Increase one teaspoonful every other day to two tablespoonfuls. Piece of dry toast to nibble on before nursing or bottle. Can put a little in the broth also.

6 p.m.: Cereal, same amount as getting at 10 a.m., followed by nursing or bottle.

10 p.m.: Nursing or bottle.

Next week we will have the tables of feeding from the ninth through the twelfth month.

Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents.

Cover two cupfuls of dried mushrooms with cold water and let stand overnight. Place in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, heat, add one chopped clove of garlic and the white part of two young onions finely chopped; cook until the onion is clear; add the soaked mushrooms and water and two peeled and quartered tomatoes; simmer five minutes, add the spaghetti and one cupful of grated Parmesan cheese, heat through and serve in a hot dish after seasoning with salt and white pepper.

TEA DOUGHNUTS

Beat two eggs until light and beat into them four tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of melted shortening and one-third of a cupful of milk. Sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add to the egg mixture; mix smooth, turn out on a well-floured board and divide into twenty-four even-sized balls; drop into hot vegetable shortening and fry a nice brown; drain, cool and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Season six slices of calf's liver, cut one-third of an inch thick, with salt and pepper, roll in sifted flour and fry nice brown in hot butter; do not fry too long, as it will toughen the liver. Balks at Paying $90 Rental for Crow Worth $50

One plain black crow, the kind usually considered a pest by farmers, was made the subject of a legal action filed in Municipal Court.

The crow, according to the suit, is the property of the Luna Park Amusement Company and one of the birds on exhibition. Because it had become tame, although it knew no tricks, it was farmed out to Archie Beekingsale at a salary of $30 a week, the suit recites, for a period of three weeks. The salary remains unpaid, the suit sets forth, and the company wants the money.

One clause in the contract stated that if the crow should be killed, or could not be returned to the Luna Park Amusement Company, Henry Merton, attorney for the company explains, Beekingsale was to pay not to exceed $50. When the company tried to collect the crow's three weeks' salary, Beekingsale protested that there was no reason why he should pay $90 rental for a $50 crow.

The suit was finally settled by the payment of the $50, Mr. Merton reports.

Wrinkles Erased In 15 Minutes—A New Marvel

The beautifying sensation of the day is the "tarkroot treatment." No discovery in the field of beauty culture has ever before met with such enthusiastic, such instantaneous, approval. Nothing will so surely and quickly iron out the age-lines and wrinkles, the sagging and folds, and give the face such a naturally youthful appearance. One need merely mix a spoonful of powdered tarkroot with a spoonful of lemon juice, smooth this soothing emulsion over the face, then go to the mirror and watch the wrinkles and flabbiness vanish like magic! One can scarcely believe one's own eyes. Even very aged faces are wonderfully rejuvenated.

Tarkroot is so harmless it could be eaten with impunity. It will improve any complexion. It is to be washed off entirely when its work is done, and therefore is not to be confused with any cosmetic or make-up. Any druggist can supply it in the original package, making the cost less than 3 cents a treatment!—[Advertisement.

A Unique Soap

Created by experts for one purpose only—to safeguard your complexion

That's why, on expert advice, thousands are gaining the charm of natural loveliness through this simple daily rule in skin care

THERE are many places where experiment is safe. But not with the complexion. To endanger one's pretty skin is a folly.

Before Palmolive came women were told, "use no soap on your faces." For soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty soap. A soap made by experts in skin care for one purpose only—to guard youth and charm. A soap made to be used freely, lavishly on the skin.

It changed the beauty situation throughout the world. It supplanted artificial beauty methods by the score. World's authorities widely urge it. The thousands of pretty skins you see today are largely due to it.

Wash, launder, scrub, with any soap you wish; but when beauty is at stake, take care.

This simple daily rule to natural skin beauty

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

POLICE OFFICER UNDER ARREST

Tia Juana Jailer Accused of Man's Death

Relatives Insist on Thorough Investigation

Dead Man Said to Have Had Large Sum of Money

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 11.—Arrest of a Tia Juana police officer named Gordo, employed at the Tia Juana Municipal Jail, for slugging T. M. N. George of Nashville, Tenn., insurance man and broker and inflicting injuries that resulted in his death has been ordered by Lower California Federal officials and was expected to be made late today.

Gordo is said to have struck George on the head with a club, the blow having caused a fracture of the skull that resulted in death after George had been taken to a San Diego hospital the next day.

Mystery surrounded the slugging of George at the time of the affair, several months ago. George was known to have had considerable money on his person when he went to Tia Juana and authorities of the border town reported that he had been found unconscious, with his pockets turned inside out. An investigation was promised, but brought to light no details of the affair.

George's body was sent to his former home in Atlanta, Ga., for burial and relatives of the deceased recently employed detectives to make further investigation of his death. The detectives are said to have obtained evidence that Gordo clubbed George and fractured his skull.

Other arrests in connection with the alleged slaying of George are said to be in prospect.

USES DYNAMITE TO END HIS LIFE

DESPONDENT MAN PILLOWS HEAD ON STICK OF EXPLOSIVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Feb. 11.—A suicidal scheme, which succeeded without a flaw, was demonstrated by Frank L. Swan, 65, at 11:30 this morning on a vacant lot near the municipal baths at Paso Robles, and one block from the City Hall, when, pillowing his head on a stick of dynamite and lying down on the edge of an excavation, thought to have been intended by the man for his grave, he lit the fuse and waited to be blown to pieces, all of which happened.

Mr. Swan had been a resident of Paso Robles, intermittently, for twenty years. He had suffered an injury to one hand about six weeks ago while at work. He had not worked steadily for some time and had little money, it is said. Whether these were reasons for his suicidal intention is not known.

HOW OIL WAS FOUND IN VENTURA COUNTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, Feb. 11.—The discovery many years ago of a burning shale cliff by Lewis M. Lloyd was today divulged as the first indication of the presence of oil on the new famous Lloyd lease in the rich Ventura-avenue field. The discovery was made many years ago when Lloyd, the father of Ralph Lloyd, lessor of the land, became puzzled at the cause of a cloud of smoke rolling from a side hill. Going to investigate the smoke he found himself encircled in fire, and was forced to slide down the shale cliff to safety. It was not until many years after that his son, Ralph Lloyd, a student of geology, becoming interested in his father's story, investigated the place and found unmistakable signs of oil.

ENJOY WINTER SPORTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ALDER CREEK (Headquarters, Sequoia National Park) Feb. 11.—Of much interest is a bit of ancient kitchenware brought up from a depth of about four feet by the steam shovel working on the Generals' Highway near the mess house at the Hospital Rock Camp above here. This is spherical in form and fashioned out of a stone hollowed out leaving walls about an inch thick. The opening across the top measures about four inches.

Work on the highway is now being delayed somewhat by a hard stratum of rock struck by the drillers. It is expected to be a week or more before the steam shovel can begin operations again. The upper shovel has also been slowed up for the same reason, a similar stratum having been encountered in places. The wonderful spring-like weather recently being experienced brings many visitors to the park over the week ends. Last Sunday 642 persons came to the park. Automobiles were stopped at Hospital Rock on account of the work being done above, but many people hiked up the trail toward Big Fern and 117 cars were parked at Hospital Rock all day. Twenty-five hikers went on to Giant Forest, enjoying skiing and tobogganning. Snow is seventeen inches deep there, with a hard crust.

Buckeyes are turning green and in warm, sheltered nooks snowflake pansy and cyclamen plants are coming through the earth, indicating an early approach of spring. Seven does and fawns have been entertaining visitors at Hospital Rock, while at Big Fern a big four-point buck comes to the mess house each evening for his supper.

Screams of a mountain lion a few nights ago sent all near-by deer rushing to protection of one workman, who is their particular friend. He had a light and they spent the night but seemed greatly agitated, so it is thought the lion was not far away. Herds of from seven to twenty deer are frequently seen up the Kaweah River from Hospital Rock.

OFFICERS LOCATE TWO WELL-EQUIPPED STILLS

PLANT AND LARGE QUANTITY OF WHISKY CAPTURED BY RAIDERS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Feb. 11.—Two men were arrested and two of the large and well-equipped stills were captured last night when the police, led by Detective Sergeant Charles P. Blake and Serg. J. V. Mercer, raided the premises occupied by L. L. McKeever at 1531 Orange Grove avenue, taking McKeever and Paul Fiske, 6114 South Main street, Los Angeles, into custody.

When the raiders entered the house they found McKeever sitting among the elaborate equipment that he is charged with having used to manufacture liquor, and his first remark to the officers was that he had been expecting them and did not intend to make any trouble or put up a fight. Fiske was taken as he was preparing to drive a truck out of the yard. More than 150 gallons of liquor was taken and two barrels of mash, containing 100 gallons, were destroyed, and the still, made of the finest materials, was taken to police headquarters.

Others in the raiding party were Motorcycle Officers Walter Hegi and L. O. Clem and Officer J. M. Claxton. McKeever and Fiske were held incommunicado, bail being fixed at $1000 each.

JURY SAYS WIFE HAS LOST HER MIND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Feb. 11.—Sitting in judgment in an insanity case involving one of their own sex, twelve women in the Superior Court here today found Mrs. Ermetta Lowry insane and recommended that she be placed in a suitable institution. The jury deliberated for almost two hours and returned a verdict of 11 to 1.

Mrs. Lowry is the wife of Walter A. Lowry, yardmaster for the Southern Pacific at Long Beach, against whom Mrs. Lowry made sensational charges on the witness stand yesterday. She testified that he had murdered one wife and "railroaded" another to an insane asylum, that he is the head of a ring engaged in bootlegging, narcotic and white slave traffic, that he is a narcotic addict and robber and that he attempted to murder her.

Two Convicted of Taking Auto from Anaheim Street

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Feb. 11.—Lacking transportation to their homes in Ontario, Ramona Pacheco, 22, and Hosefa Mesa, 32, who live in that city, helped themselves to an auto owned by Merino Cerilo of Placentia, which was left parked on a downtown street last Sunday night while the owner was being held by police headquarters on suspicion of having liquor in his possession, according to testimony brought out when the two women were arraigned before City Recorder Eldon W. Stark here to answer to a charge of petty larceny.

The anticlimax came when the driver wrecked the machine in Fullerton on the way home, but the grand climax came today when Judge Stark sentenced each of the two women to pay a fine of $100 or spend 100 days in jail. Lacking the necessary finances the women are now being entertained by the county. Cerilo was acquitted of the liquor charge.

VETERAN OF NAVY LAUDS TODAY'S BOY

Rear-Admiral Wilson Says Youths Made of Finer Stuff Than Former Generation

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Feb. 11.—The American youth of today is made of finer stuff than the youth of any previous age. He has more spirit, knows more and yet is just as responsive to discipline as was the youth of former times.

This is the belief of Rear-Admiral Wilson, retired, former administrative head of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Admiral and Mrs. Wilson arrived at the Hotel Virginia here recently to spend their first winter in Southern California.

"Right after the war we went through a trying period of readjustment. It affected all of us. Perhaps we changed some of our ideas and became a bit more liberal, but our ideals are just as high," Admiral Wilson said. "And as for the boys and girls of today, they are the finest type to be found anywhere at any time in our national history.

"Boys of today know a lot more than we did when we were their age," said the naval officer who, for four years had under his charge 2500 young men, the pick of the country. "They have many more opportunities and many more liberties. They are just as quick to do the right thing when handled properly as the old-fashioned boy, but the task of handling today is different than it used to be. It is all nonsense to say that the present day youth will not take discipline.

"You know there is a lot of bluff in the young people of the present day. They try to have their way to see what effect it will have. If they get away with it at the start it is a hard problem to change them. But if they know you mean business, and you can mix kindness and wisdom with strictness, they respond splendidly."

Annapolis and West Point still hold to the old iron-clad rules of discipline and both institutions are turning out young men better equipped, better trained and better disciplined than ever before and the nation is getting the benefit, Admiral Wilson said.

The Admiral is on his first visit to Southern California since 1890, and with Mrs. Wilson, will remain here until June.

Fullerton Twins Keep Folks Guessing

Leona and Viola Jackson

One of the nine sets of tyins in the Fullerton Union High School. Their resemblance to each other, it is admitted, even causes some confusion to their nearest friends.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FULLERTON, Feb. 11.—With nine sets of twins strolling about the campus, Fullerton Union High School claims a distinction of which few other schools in Southern California can boast.

And not only that, but instructors in the Fullerton school insist that nowhere else in the country could twins resemble each other so closely and, because of that fact, so much embarrassment.

A striking example of the resemblance to each other are the Jackson twins, Leona and Viola, who admit that even their "steadies" are sometimes confused.

The "twin group" in the school includes Marion and Maxwell Erwin, Bernice and Arthur Bell, Donald and Dorthy Wiese, Cleo and Leo Tanquary, Verial Mae and Vista Mae Wyatt, Charles and Robert Hexmalhalch, Elizabeth and Esther Bohling and Edna and Ethel McCoy.

PRISONER IS GONE

Arkansas Officer Makes Trip Here for Naught

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Feb. 11.—When Detective Herbert Akers of Hot Springs, Ark., arrived in Santa Ana today with extradition papers for Homer F. McGowan, charged in Arkansas with assault with intent to commit murder, he found his intended prisoner gone. McGowan was released two days ago by Superior Judge E. J. Marks, on a writ of habeas corpus secured by Attorney O. A. Jacobs. The court held that the fugitive warrant upon which McGowan had been held here since the 3rd inst., was defective and the affidavit accompanying it was insufficient. McGowan, it is said, is now somewhere in Arizona, with his child, the object of contention between McGowan and his wife, who filed the criminal charge against him at Hot Springs.

According to McGowan, the criminal charge was inspired by his wife, whose real purpose was to secure return of the child to Arkansas, where she could obtain its custody. The only basis for the criminal charge, he said, was his remark to his wife, when they parted, that "he really ought to kill her, but she wasn't worth killing." He had told her that, he said, after discovering an affair between herself and another man.

SOFT-DRINK DEALER IN LIQUOR NET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Feb. 11.—A. E. Beals, proprietor of a soft-drink stand in Garden Grove Road, just inside Los Angeles county, but deriving most of its patronage from Orange county, was arrested today on warrants charging sale of liquor to school students.

The complaints were signed, it was said, by five students at Anaheim High School, one at Santa Ana High School and one at Fullerton High School. The case was worked up by Anaheim and Los Angeles county officers. Beals was taken to Los Angeles, it was reported here, and held in $5000 bail. Beals has been an Anaheim resident several years. Formerly he was a truck driver.

Discovery of Beals's asserted liquor sales, it was said by police, was made during an investigation of minor thefts of automobile accessories, in which the trails led to the high school. The officers say they believe the proceeds of these thefts found their way into Beals's hands in payment for illicit liquor.

CONDEMN CROSSING

Citizens Ask Council to Force Railway to Act

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Feb. 11.—Petitions were presented to the City Council today, signed by thirty property owners and residents of Burchett street, asking the Council to close the crossing over the Pacific Electric tracks at Brand Boulevard and Burchett street on the ground that it is a death trap.

Three fatal accidents have occurred there in recent weeks, as well as a large number of accidents that did not result fatally. The petitioners ask that the Pacific Electric be made to erect a curb from the bridge across the Verdugo wash south to Doran street, claiming that the lowering of the tracks to grade would not offer a solution of the problem but would rather tend to increase the danger, as the trains would be running down grade when they reached the Burchett street crossing, with a heightened risk to any motorist who might be crossing the tracks at that point. The petition was referred to the committee of the whole.

HIGH TIDE INVADES SOUTH BAY DISTRICT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDONDO, Feb. 11.—The South Bay District experienced no damage from the seven-foot tide which occurred at 8 o'clock this morning, rivalling the annual visits of the grunion in interest. The flood waters rolled over the strand walk for practically its whole length in Hermosa Beach, entering many of the homes and many business houses along the ocean front.

According to old-timers living along the Strand, a similar visitation has not occurred in the past fifteen years. Other than creating a bit of unusual interest and leaving a trail of seaweed through the streets and dooryards, there was no damage, as the force of the breakers is so broken up before the walk is reached that the flood waters are merely backwash and are not deep. The tide will be 7.2 feet tomorrow and will occur at 8:50 a.m.

Opposition Refused Trade Mark

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

FRESNO, Feb. 11.—The Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' Association apparently has lost a suit involving several hundred thousands of dollars, the cost of machinery, and was an unsuccessful attempt when the United States Patent Office refused to grant registration of a trade mark and appearance and name in the Sun-Maid.

Conflicting reports came from Wilmington, Del., that the Sun-Maid has compromised with of the Pneumatic Scale Corporation for amounts varying from $500,000. The suit was against the co-operative association, alleged breach of contract in connection with the manufacture, approximately, $1,500,000 worth of automatic weighing, sealing and wrapping machines, which were refused by the co-operative association ground that they failed to function as they were supposed to. The Delaware court gave judgment for $355,000 in favor of the Pneumatic Scale Corporation, and Sun-Maid now has a motion for a new trial or in arrest of arguments are soon to be heard.

Reports from Wilmington were that the case has been compromised for $150,000, while others say that the association will pay the full amount of the judgment, plus damages, which would total approximately $1,000,000. Sun-Maid officials deny that they have been any compromise at the $355,000 basis.

The trade-mark controversy arose when the California Associated Raisin Company sought to register a trade mark under the name of "Sun Rayed." Sun-Maid interposed objections and filed a suit to restrain the Independent packer from using the trade mark, which was claimed to be in appearance to the Sun-Maid carton. According to word received by F. C. Huebner, attorney for the independent packer, the Patent Office has refused to grant registration of the trade mark on the ground that it is likely to create confusion because of the similarity in sound of the names with those of the Sun-Maid.

PET PICTURE CAST

F.B.O. TELLS WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT

By Grace Kingsley

To James Hogan has been assigned the proud job of directing F.B.O.'s pet picture, "The Isle of Retribution," which was adapted from Edeson Marshall's best seller of 1924, and for the picture rights to which F.B.O. is said to have paid a huge sum.

LILLIAN RICH

Lillian Rich is to play the feminine lead, with Robert Fraser featured. This will be the first time since Miss Rich signed with Cecil B. De Mille that she has been lent to a producer outside the Producers' Distributing circle.

The company will journey to the Huntington Lake region east of Fresno, where the Alaskan scenes will be made. Here is a region that is nearly untouched by the picture makers.

Director Hogan, Technical Director Frank Ormston and a crew of men departed last week to make preparations, and the cast will travel along in time to commence operations the first of next week.

J. G. Hawks will editorially supervise the production from Fred Myton's scenario.

Marceline Day In It

Marceline Day, petite screen beauty, whose leap from bathing-girl comedies to leading-woman roles in less than a year has been the amazement of the entire motion-picture industry, has landed another big part, that of the daughter in "Toto," the picturization of the famous stage play which John M. Stahl will direct for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

MARCELINE DAY

Miss Day was recently signed to a long-term contract by M-G-M.

A strong factor in the selection of Miss Day for the romantic feminine lead in "Toto" was her distinguished performance in "The Barrier," the photoplay of Rex Beach's famous novel. George Hill directed for M-G-M, in which Miss Day had the leading feminine role of Necia, opposite Norman Kerry.

Lew Cody has the title role in "Toto" and the cast selections to date include Carmel Myers and Antonio D'Algy.

Dorothy Barthelmess Lead?

The Marshall Neilan studios have been leased as the future headquarters of Dick Barthelmess Productions, and Director Sidney Olcott has started to cast for "Ranson's Folly," for production early next week.

Elinor Glyn's New Ones

Elinor Glyn has discovered two more "Its," and immediately signed Lilyan Tashman and Ned A. Sparks for featured roles in "Love's Blindness," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which John Francis Dillon is directing.

Sparks was engaged already for "Monkey Talks," but Mrs. Glyn could se eno one else except this comedy actor in her picture, and was able to make arrangements with Director Archie Mayo whereby he could act two roles in both productions simultaneously.

Edwin Carewe's Next

Edwin Carewe is to make as his next First National vehicle "Pals First," by Frances Perry, according to announcement yesterday of John McCormick. No cast has as yet been chosen, although Lloyd Hughes is being considered for the principal male role.

Here and There

Charles Lane has been assigned to play one of the big roles in Paramount's "Padlocked," which Allan Dwan will direct.

Betty Boyd is to play a principal role in Fred Thompson's new starring vehicle, "Hands Across the Border," for F. B. O. Miss Boyd is an expert horsewoman.

Julia Faye, heretofore considered a vamp type in pictures, has been discovered by Cecil De Mille to have hitherto unsuspected comedy talents, and she has been assigned to a comedy role in "The Volga Boatman."

HIGH-CLASS VARIETY FOR NEW PROGRAM

A varied bill is promised at the Hillstreet next week where Florrie Le Vere and Ben Meroff will split the headline honors.

Miss La Vere will be seen in a new act called "Celebrities" in which Lou Handman is seen at the piano. Ben Meroff is at the head of an organization called "The High-Hatters."

Jack Benny is also on the bill with his inimitable line of chatter.

Murray and Alan will offer a bunch of songs, while Keller sisters and Lynch will show the latest in terpsichorean art. The four Klewnings offer an aerial sensation.

For the screen feature "Peacock Feathers" will be shown with Jacqueline Logan and Cullen Landis in the title roles. Alberta Vaughn, Larry Kent, Kit Guard and Al Cook will be seen in another of the "Adventures of Mazie" series. A Pathe newsreel, and a cartoon will conclude the program.

LEWIS STONE AT UPTOWN

No let-up is apparent in the capacity business being attracted by the First National offering, "What Fools Men," which is now playing at the West Coast Uptown Theater. Lewis Stone contributes a masterly characterization to the screen and Shirley Mason, Barbara Bedford and others of established ability surround Stone and give a graphic interpretations of the famous Henry Kitchell Webster novel. "Joseph Greer and His Daughter," from which the play is adapted.

Will Be Seen in Next Week's Films

Pola Negri and Claire Windsor

NEW DRAMA OPENING AT MOROSCO

"The Back Slapper" Will be Seen for First Time Here Next Sunday

"The Back Slapper," which will be seen in Los Angeles for the first time at the Morosco next Sunday matinee, ran all last season at the Hudson Theater in New York and is said by the eastern critics to have been one of the most interesting plays of the year.

The punch of the play lies in the exposure of the central character, Bob Alden, played by Richard La Salle. Charlotte Treadway will play the part of Beth Lane, who is persuaded that she loves Alden enough to marry him.

This is the latest play by the author of "Rose Marie," "Cape Smoke," "The Broken Wing," "The Misleading Lady" and "The Ghost Breaker," and will tickle your sense of humor all the way through.

FINNISH OPERA STAR IN UNIQUE RECITAL

A highly enjoyable concert was given by Waino Sola, Finnish operatic singer, on Tuesday evening at the Hollywood Conservatory of Music and Arts on Hollywood Boulevard.

Mr. Sola's program was rich in linguistic variety, including German, English, Italian and Finnish selections. His singing displayed a tenor voice of fine tonal quality and power, and a regard for dynamics that was especially worthy. He enunciated well, and his performance evinced much dramatic and musical feeling. Furthermore, he possesses an ingratiating personality.

The majority of the program was comprised of Finnish compositions, although some German and Italian masterpieces were sung. These included the always popular "Erlkenig," by Schubert, and "Arioso" from "Il Pagliacci," by Leoncavallo. Among the Finnish numbers, especially to be mentioned were the "Kilkka" (Klanto,) which was sung in a finished manner, with a smooth, flowing tone. The concert served to bring out many compositions by the younger Finnish composers, which evinced fine musical worth.

Mr. Sola's son, Pentti Sola, furnished the piano accompaniment to the program, and also contributed two piano solos. His rendition of the "Barcarolle," by the Finnish composer, Sibelius, displayed a singing quality of tone and a depth of musical feeling.

COMEDY AT FIGUEROA

Harry Langdon's latest comedy, "Lucky Stars," has just been booked by Fred Miller for showing at his new Figueroa Theater beginning next Saturday.

It is a special added attraction with Warner Brothers' production of Kathleen Norris's famous novel, "Rose of the World," starring Patsy Ruth Miller.

WILKES' TRIP EAST HIS TWENTY-NINTH

Thomas Wilkes, producer of "Desire Under the Elms," now playing at the Orange Grove Theater, left for New York yesterday on his twenty-ninth trip East since he has been producing in Los Angeles.

Before leaving, Wilkes took occasion to complain again about the train service between Los Angeles and Chicago. Along with other business men, he figures that the running time could be reduced by eight hours.

In making his twenty-nine round trips, Wilkes estimates that he has lost eight hours each time, a total of nineteen days and eight hours, which could have been saved.

WILL SCREEN CHINA FILM FOR NEW YEAR

In celebration of the Chinese New Year's, beginning tomorrow, the China Educational Film Company is to present "The Silk Bouquet," featuring Anna May Wong, in a motion-picture house near Chinatown.

ANNA MAY WONG

The picture was recently produced at the Fine Arts studio and those who have seen the preview declare it to be the best Chinese picture ever made. It is adapted from an old, romantic Chinese stage play originally produced about 2000 years ago, according to reports. The titles are written in both Chinese and English. The cast includes Jimmie Leong, who plays opposite Miss Wong.

SCHONBERG, SOWERBY SYMPHONY HEARING

Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra plays this afternoon and tomorrow night selections that are very interesting.

Arnold Schonberg, whose composition "Verklarte Nacht" (Transfigured Night) is programmed for its first hearing, has gained world-wide notoriety from 1908 down to date by reason of his radical ideas concerning musical composition, such peculiar music, viewed from accepted standards that it caused riots, when performed in German and Austrian concert halls.

The other work having its premiere is "Money Musk," an arrangement for orchestra of an old-country dance tune, by the American composer, Leo Sowerby.

Born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and educated musically there and in Chicago, Sowerby is truly American, even though he was the first winner of the Prix de Rome and subsequently availed himself of the opportunity for foreign study that it afforded.

FAMOUS CHARACTERS IN CRITERION FILM

Presidents Jefferson, Monroe and Lincoln, Aaron Burr and Lady William Hamilton are among the historic characters in "As No Man Has Loved," the massive screen masterpiece which opens tomorrow at the Criterion Theater.

William Fox, who presents the story, easily recognizable as Dr. Edward Everett Hale's tale of 1863, called "A Man Without a Country," and Director Rowland V. Lee spared neither time nor money in its preparation. Historic spots are reproduced with praise-worthy exactitude and two huge frigates were built after a study of paintings of famous battleships of earlier days.

POLISH VIOLINIST DEMON FOR SPEED

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Paul Kochanski, trained in the Warsaw Conservatory, having gained much experience as a teacher at the Petrograd Conservatory and playing the most beautiful violin that Stradivarius made, gave a program of brilliant numbers that turned out be remarkably uninteresting last night at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

He has a penchant for fast tempos and never misses a note. His bowing is scintillant and very, very clever. His tone aided by the priceless Stradivarius has a certain nobility and penetrating power, and he knows well how to build programs, but he is far from the ideal recitalist.

The first number, the Devil's Trill Sonata by Tartini, bete noir of less well-equipped violinists, displayed all of the above qualities at their best only in the cadenza. Elsewhere a certain flatness of pitch in the piano helped to complicate matters. It was the same piano which was not tuned up to concert pitch for Elly Ney nor for Levitzki in their recent appearances with the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Kochanski's Mozart was lightly played. The Bach Praeludium from the sixth Sonata, written for violin alone, but played last night with the Schumann accompaniment, fared no better. There was neither a change of color between the Mozart and the Bach nor in the many musical ideas in the Praeludium. The latter was taken at such a rapid gait that beauty fell by the wayside.

As a composer and adapter the violinist shone. His arrangement of a Chopin Nocturne was exceedingly rich and kept admirably to the spirit.

Lili Boulanger's "Cortege" was a brilliant little piece, which so enchanted the audience that they insisted on a repetition. "Sicilienne and Rigaudon," by Kreisler, was the added encore. The Rigaudon was a mad race. Kochanski won.

The modern group of De Falla and Ravel was something to be grateful for. "El Pano" and "La Jota" by this Spanish writer are two charming new numbers full of life, and the Ravel "Tzigane," while only distantly related to a gypsy, was most interestingly oriental. The skilled accompaniment by Gregory Ashman at the piano added much to this performance, which I considered the best of the list. It was encored with the bromidic Indian Love Song dressed up with technical difficulties.

The "Meistersinger" Prize Song (Wagner,) the Brahms Waltz in A and "Kopak," by Moussorgsky-Rachmaninoff, closed the program.

Kochanski is not richly satisfying as a concert artist. His playing lacks variety and while he certainly has "style," he has little individuality. He made a better impression upon me when he appeared here two years ago with Arthur Rubinstein, the pianist. And that is no reflection upon his accompanist.

Gorgeous Scene in New Film at Metropolitan

The famous chorus of the show in some of their most brilliant numbers are in the stage scenes of "The Song and Dance Man," a screen adaptation of the George M. Cohan farce.

"Just Suppose" Shows Exciting Polo Playing

In "Just Suppose," starring Richard Barthelmess and which comes to Loew's State tomorrow, there are said to be some of the finest polo scenes which have ever been filmed.

Dick is the Prince of Karonia, who comes to America on a diplomatic tour and partakes, as Princes do, of some polo at the private polo field of a wealthy American.

WHIPS HIS WAY TO POPULAR APPEAL

Douglas Fairbanks whips his way to the hearts of his audiences in "Don Q," his latest picture, now at the Million Dollar.

Heretofore, the whip has been an instrument of foulness in the hands of numerous screen villains. But Doug has made of the long Australian stock whip, which he employs with such amazing skill in this picture, a thing almost beloved.

With it he wins the plaudits of the Spanish populace; saves the life of his arch enemy when an enraged bull escapes from the ring and runs amuck in the streets and frustrates the plans of conspiring enemies against the romance of himself and his lady love.

LINCOLN IS IDEAL OF CAROL DEMPSTER

Due to Miss Dempster's great reverence for Lincoln, a scene was woven into the D. W. Griffith picture, "That Royle Girl," in which she is now playing at the Rialto, which shows her as a little friendless waif, making frequent visits to a huge statue and taking courage and strength from Lincoln's creed that "Right Makes Might," engraved on the pedestal of the sculpture.

Exciting Horse Race Run Near to Los Angeles

Despite the fact that racing and its accompanying gambling are forbidden by statute in California, one of the most exciting horse competitions of recent years was run yesterday, within forty miles of Los Angeles. A crowd of 1000 attended and bets were made on all sides. And strange to say not an officer of the law was there to stop the gambling.

Not that law enforcement is lax. For this all happened in front of John Boyle's camera and was part of the action for "Her Second Chance," which Lambert Hillyer is directing for First National. Most of the crowd were hired extras; others were merely natives who had been attracted by the well-staged racetrack scene. All were as thrilled by the running as they would have been had the money passed back and forth been real instead of stage.

Featured in the cast of "Her Second Chance" are Anna Q. Nilsen and Huntly Gordon. Similar scenes at the track will be made all week.

Loro Bara, sister of the famous Theda, is doing a small part in Hobart Henley's production of "The Auction Block," which features Charles Ray and Eleanor Boardman for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Loro bears a striking resemblance to her more famous sister.

H. B. Warner, star of the original stage presentation of "Silence," is being featured in the screen version of Max Marcin's crook melodrama at the De Mille studio.

OFFICER SHOT; MAN GIVES UP

Wilmar Deputy Wounded at Service Station

Quarrel Over Gasoline Tank Declared to Blame

Special Aide of Sheriff Gets Bullet in Shoulder

Edward Lieber, special Deputy Sheriff living at Wilmar, near Monterey Park, was shot in the left shoulder yesterday afternoon. Thomas Silverthorn, who operates a service station at San Gabriel Boulevard and Garvey Road, Wilmar, surrendered himself to Monterey Park police and was taken to the County Jail.

According to Constable Parker of San Gabriel township, the trouble started over the attempt of Frank Richards to take away a gasoline tank, said to be owned by him, from Silverthorn's station. When Silverthorn refused to give it up without a court order, Parker said, Richards returned with Lieber.

Lieber, according to Parker's story, fired several times at Silverthorn, who fired back with a rifle. The bone in Lieber's arm was shattered by a rifle bullet, it was stated at the Alhambra Hospital, where Lieber was taken. He will recover.

According to reports by the Sheriff's office, Lieber interceded and was shot after Silverthorn had fired upon Richards. Silverthorn is said to be a special Deputy Sheriff of Orange county.

LUMBERMAN KILLS SELF OFF HARBOR

Believed to Have Leaped Into Sea from Ship After Writing Suicide Note

Jerome Winder, a Los Angeles lumber salesman, was missing yesterday from the steamship San Juan when she docked at Los Angeles Harbor, and is believed to have leaped overboard. A note addressed to his wife, at 145 North Douglas street, stated that he intended to do so, and added:

"I've lost you through my own fault and know I can never get you back, so there's nothing left to live for."

Winder was arrested by San Francisco police a few days ago, when he landed from the steamship Humboldt, for carrying a concealed weapon with which, he told police, he had intended to end his life at sea. Winder said he had been too seasick all himself, and had decided to drop the idea. Winder was not seen about the ship after 11 p.m. Wednesday and his cabin was empty yesterday morning. The note was dated 6 a.m. yesterday, at which time the vessel was off the harbor.

Another note found, asked that the letter to his wife be mailed and that his attorney, Marshall Stimson, and his brother in Chicago be notified. Capt. J. A. Rosengren, master of the San Juan, left all the notes in the hands of the police when he made his report to them.

RAIL CLAIM AGENTS END CONFERENCE

Discussion on Damage to Fruits and Vegetables in Transit Discussed

Featuring a program of special addresses and open discussion on freight claim problems of Pacific Coast railroads, the midwinter business convention of the Pacific Coast Claims Conference ended its two-day session yesterday evening at the Rossiyn. Several of yesterday's speakers were special representatives from eastern and southern railroads.

The morning session was opened at 10 o'clock with an address on freight-shipping problems by C. H. Dietrich, chairman of the freight claim division of the American Railway Association with headquarters at Chicago. Mr. Dietrich spoke briefly of ways and means of preventing freight-claim losses, sketching the many difficulties of the carriers in totally eliminating such losses.

A brief account of the freight claim prevention campaign now in force throughout the country was given by J. D. Shields, freight claim agent at Chicago for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad. Shields's address was followed by general discussion of the subject by members of the conference, led by F. E. Winburn, Joe Marshall and A. L. Green, special representatives of the freight claim division of the American Railway Association.

Damage to fresh fruits and vegetables, a problem of keen interest to freight claims men, was taken up by R. G. Fagan and by R. A. Podloch, assistant to the general manager of the Santa Fe. Their talks, followed by general discussion, covered the points of delay in transit, refrigeration, ventilation and heating of cars. The point of inspection at the origin and destination of shipments also was brought into the discussion, which was led by B. A. Little, retired freight claim agent of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad.

Following a short recess at 12:30 o'clock, the convention again met in its final session at 2 p.m., at which time the program was completed, and it was decided to announce the next meeting place for the June session, at a later date.

Officers of the Pacific Coast Claims Conference are Howard Bruner, chairman, and J. G. Brady, secretary-treasurer.

VON KLEINSMID TO SPEAK

Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, will speak at the La Jota Union College, La Jota, Cal., tomorrow night. His subject will be "America's Tomorrow." Dr. Von KleinSmid will also speak in Exeter, on Sunday night, his topic for this occasion being "A Neighborly American."

CHINESE BOY IN DIVORCE RETURNED

Servant Sought as Witness in Olmstead Suit Found in San Francisco

Captured in San Francisco's Chinatown, where he had fled following asserted threats on his life, H. W. Fenk, former servant in the E. L. Olmstead home, and regarded as an important witness in the marital difficulties of his former employers, has been returned to this city. Attorneys for the litigating parties are engaged in taking his deposition, it was learned yesterday.

Feng came into the limelight following the filing of divorce action by Olmstead early last month in which William Duff Howard, former president of the Consolidated National Bank of this city, was named co-respondent. Howard and his wife, Mrs. Lillian Howard, the former wife of E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, also were made defendants in a suit filed by Olmstead asking $500,000 damages for asserted alienation of Mrs. Olmstead's affections.

The Chinese house boy was subpenaed as a witness and cited by Judge Stevens to appear on January 27, last, but the preceding day he was seen by Olmstead at a local railroad station, where he purchased a ticket for San Francisco.

Feng was arrested in San Francisco on a bench warrant issued by Judge Stevens for contempt of court. He appeared before Judge Stevens Monday, at which time he was held under the personal custody of Deputy Sheriff Bent pending completion of the deposition. The contempt charge will not be prosecuted against Feng.

In answer to Olmstead's complaint, in which he charged cruelty and infidelity, Mrs. Olmstead filed a cross-complaint on January 25, last, charging cruelty and naming a Jane Doe Johnson as co-respondent. Date for trial has not yet been set.

"Ghost" Held to Answer on Police Charge

Elizabeth Thomson and her daughter, Dora Thomson, were arraigned yesterday before Municipal Justice Bullock on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses in the conduct of spiritualistic seances, and were released under $1000 bail each pending entry of their pleas.

They were arrested Wednesday night in a police raid on a seance conducted at their home at 1752 North Hudson avenue. The seance broke up in confusion when an impatient detective forced his way into the cabinet which was supposed to house the "ghost" and, he said, found Mrs. Thomson there instead.

YOUNG WOMAN HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Miss Beatrice Jackson, 24 years of age, suffered fractures of both knees and other injuries last night when she was struck and knocked to the paving at Sixth and Los Angeles streets by an automobile said to have been driven by Theodore Creight of 491 East Avenue 22. Miss Jackson was taken to her home at 2517 West Sixth street. She will recover.

FAIRBANKS NIECE HAS FILM TEST

Doug and Mary Pleased With Tryout and Predict New Star's Ascendency

Another member of the Fairbanks family has decided to enter a career in motion pictures. Flo Belle Fairbanks, daughter of John Fairbanks and niece of Doug and Mary, has had her first screen test and everything looks so promising for her that the famous stars are encouraging her ambition.

Thus far, Doug is the only member of the family who has gained stardom, for both of his brothers, John and Robert, are engaged in the business department of pictures.

The niece of the star has just finished school and upon her expressed desire to enter pictures, she was given a chance to carry out a scene before the camera with Doug and Mary supervising. Miss Fairbanks is said to resemble Corinne Griffith photographically and to look somewhat like Irene Castle off screen.

"Her test before the camera was so favorable," said Mary Pickford, who chiefly is sponsoring her niece's efforts, yesterday, "that I believe she will be ready for leads almost immediately. She acted out a scene in which there was a difficult transition, and was not the least bit selfconscious. Both Doug and I are so pleased with the way she did the test that we are going to do everything possible to help her."

ATTORNEY CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Counsel for Suspect in Sieber Murder Accused of Coming to Court Drunk

John S. Cooper, an attorney, yesterday was found guilty of contempt of court by Judge Hahn, who declared he was under the influence of liquor and cited him to appear Monday and receive his sentence.

Cooper appeared for the defense in the case of Charles Sieber, accused of the murder of his wife, and, it was said, advised his client not to plead at all. After an argument Judge Hahn ordered a plea of not guilty entered and set the case for trial the 24th inst. An attorney associated with Cooper in the case attended to the entering of the plea at Judge Hahn's direction.

In finding Cooper guilty of contempt Judge Hahn said it was "apparent from his manner and conduct" he was not in normal condition, and declared him guilty for appearing in court under the influence of liquor.

BRIDGE AUTHORIZED

The Board of Supervisors yesterday delivered to the Council their authorization for the erection of the Fletcher Drive bridge across the Los Angeles River, thus removing another obstacle from the construction of the bridge for which funds were voted last year.

RAILROADS DENY CHARGES

The Times is in receipt of the following letter, to which its own comment is added:

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Regarding argument advanced in your columns, reinforced by cartoons, and repeated in this morning's Times, that the railroads' opposition to the so-called Plaza plan is founded in a desire to maintain a monopoly in the local transportation field by preventing the entrance of other railroads to Los Angeles:

The facts are that a union station has no bearing on the question of entrance of other railroads into the field. Under the Transportation Act of 1920, any railroad could build into Los Angeles on making proper showing to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the new road entering the territory could avail itself of the terminal facilities of the existing carriers under the provision of the Transportation Act, reading as follows:

Portion of Paragraph 4, Section 8, Interstate Commerce Act

(4.) If the commission finds it to be in the public interest and to be practicable, without substantially impairing the ability of a carrier owning or entitled to the enjoyment of terminal facilities to handle its own business, it shall have power to require the use of any such terminal facilities, including main-line track or tracks for a reasonable distance outside of such terminal, of any carrier, by another carrier or other carriers, on such terms and for such compensation as the carriers affected may agree upon, or, in the event of a failure to agree, as the commission may fix as just and reasonable for the use so required, to be ascertained on the principle controlling compensation in condemnation proceedings. Such compensation shall be paid or adequately secured before the enjoyment of the use may be commenced.

The Times this morning asserts that the railroads are maintaining paid workers at the City Hall. There is no basis in truth for such a charge. It is also stated that the railroads are refusing to carry out an order of the State Railroad Commission, confirmed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, that a union station be constructed at the Plaza site. As a matter of fact, there is no valid order of any commission or court in effect at this time that the railroads construct a union station at the Plaza or any other site.

The railroads are attempting to inform the public on the facts in this controversy. The public has a right to the facts and we have a perfect right to present them.

[Signed]

W. H. KNICKERBOCKER,
General Manager, Union Pacific System.

W. K. ETTER,
General Manager, The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company.

T. H. WILLIAMS,
Assistant General Manager, Southern Pacific Company.

D. W. PONTIUS,
Vice-President and General Manager, Pacific Electric Railway Company.

(The Times is aware of the provisions of the Transportation Act as set forth in the communication above. However, transportation history supplies few instances of voluntary acquiescence by a railroad to the invasion of its territory by a rival road, especially to the point where such rival is permitted the use of the station of the company already in the field.

The vain efforts of other railroads to enter this territory in the past furnish sufficient evidence of what would happen. If the Rock Island, for example, should seek entrance here tomorrow, demanding, say, the use of the present Southern Pacific station for its trains, the demand would be fought to the last ditch by the roads now here. If not prevented altogether, such entry would be delayed for years. If the city possessed a union station any road could secure entry thereto by the payment of its share of the cost and no successful fight could be made against it for the reason that the station would not belong to any one road or group of roads.

As to the other point raised, the State Railroad Commission ordered the Los Angeles steam railroads in 1921 to proceed forthwith with plans for the construction of a union station in the Plaza area. This order was affirmed by the Interstate Commerce Commission last July. The order has never been revoked. The fact that the railroads did and do refuse to carry out the Railroad Commission's order is set out in so many words in the findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which said, under date of July 6, 1925:

"The order (of the California Railroad Commission) required that the defendants (Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe) submit plans for approval and, when approved, to build in accordance therewith. THE DEFENDANTS AT NO TIME MADE ANY EFFORT TO COMPLY WITH THE ORDER."—[Editor Times.]

PETITION IN PHONE FIGHT UP TO CRYER

Intervention With Boston May be Prevented Through Error in Information

The Council yesterday received from City Attorney Stephens the petition of intervention whereby the city of Los Angeles may become a party to the suit before the Interstate Commerce Commission against the American Telephone and Telegraph Company brought by the Mayor of Boston.

Mr. Stephens stated that all that is necessary is for the Council to authorize the action and transmit the document to Mayor Cryer for his signature, and that following the addition of Mayor Cryer's signature and that of Mr. Stephens the petition will be forwarded to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

But the Council, on motion of Councilman Hall, referred the matter to Mayor Cryer.

"We want to hear what Mayor Cryer has to say about it," said Mr. Hall.

Later he said that Mayor Cryer appeared to have made an error in the amount of payments made by the Southern California Telephone Company to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Mayor Cryer made an issue of telephone rates and in his annual message to the Council had these words to say: "Due to the action of the Railroad Commission in granting repeated increases in telephone rates . . ." He further stated that his committee had concluded it was impossible to fight a local corporation, "where 100 per cent of the stock of the corporation is owned by the parent company and where supplies are purchased from the latter (American Telephone and Telegraph Company) at prices it chooses to fix."

City Attorney Stephens pointed out in his message to the Council that the Southern California Telephone Company is not working under the "4½ per cent contract," and that the last figures available show that under that contract the local company would have paid the parent company $709,000, but that the Railroad Commission allowed the payment of $400,000 instead.

Mr. Stephens, therefore, pointed out that Los Angeles could not attack the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on the grounds of the 4½ per cent contract, but for assertedly unreasonable and excessive charges.

Find Influenza Fatal Malady in Russian Quarter

The supposed mysterious malady which has caused four deaths in the East Fourth-street Russian quarter during the last few days was diagnosed yesterday by officials of the health department as influenza.

A personal visit to the district by United States Surgeon-General Rupert Blue, Health Officer Parrish and Assistant Health Officer Porter revealed that as many as fifteen persons have been living in two rooms. The result of the inspection trip was that a change in living conditions was ordered. A corps of nurses, sanitary inspectors and other health department workers was instructed by Dr. Parrish to see that the entire district is cleaned up.

A woman was found seriously ill of influenza at 1512 East Fourth street in a badly crowded apartment Dr. Parrish said. She is the mother of a girl who died earlier in the week. A strict quarantine was imposed and Dr. Parrish said there is nothing to indicate the disease will spread.

CONSOLIDATION VOTED BY BUCKLER ADDITION

By a vote of 7 to 0 the Buckler addition voted in favor of consolidation with Los Angeles yesterday. The addition has an area of 128 acres and is bounded roughly by Slauson avenue, Sixty-second, Kenniston, Alviso and Buckler streets.

PASADENA EXPENSES RISE

Department Costs for Past Fiscal Year Show Increase of $2.59 Per Capita Over 1924

Payments for maintenance and operation of the general departments of Pasadena for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, amounted to $3,013,890, or $53.90 per capita, according to a report made by the Department of Commerce yesterday.

In 1924, it was stated, the per capita expenditure was $51.31, and in 1918 it was $21.13. Payments for operation of public service enterprises, such as waterworks, light and power system, underground conduit and city farms, amounted to $1,555,703, interest on debt $404,959, and outlays for permanent improvements, including those for public service enterprises, $3,116,347. The total payments for expenses of the general departments and public service enterprises, including schools, were $6,089,899. The total payment for the schools amounted to $2,363,511.

The total revenue receipts for 1925, including schools, were $7,999,483, or $143.05 per capita. This was $3,024,931 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of permanent improvements, but $90,416 less than the total including permanent improvements.

Property taxes represented 41.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1925, increasing 118.7 per cent from 1918 to 1925 and 24.6 per cent from 1924 to 1925. The per capita property tax was $59.13. Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 31.1 per cent of the total revenue in 1925, 32.1 in 1924 and 28.6 in 1918.

The total indebtedness of Pasadena June 30, 1925, was $9,681,543, or $173.13 per capita. Of the total net indebtedness $3,208,767 was for the schools. The assessed valuation of property subject to ad valorem taxes for city corporation was $131,038,010.

The report states that for comparison purposes with cities in which schools are a part of the city corporation, the figures given for Pasadena include 77.6 per cent of the transactions of the high school district and 53.8 per cent of the elementary school district.

THOUSAND CHURCHMEN EXPECTED

Convocation Called by Holiness Association to Open 23rd Inst.

More than 1000 ministers, church officials and laymen are expected to attend the interdenominational convocation to be conducted from the 23rd to the 25th inst., inclusive, at the First German Methodist Church, according to Rev. Joseph H. Smith, president of the National Association for the Promotion of Holiness, which organization is responsible for calling the convention.

The conclave, which will be conducted under the auspices of the Southern California Holiness Association, will include three services daily, at 10 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The School of the Prophets, to be conducted each morning by Mr. Smith, will be of special interest to ministers and Bible school leaders.

Among clergymen who will address the various sessions are President Smith of the National Holiness Association, Rev. Lincoln A. Ferris, pastor of the Glendale Methodist Church, and, probably, Bishop Charles W. Burns, head of the San Francisco area of the Methodist Church. Congregational singing will be led by Earl F. Wilde. The public is invited to all the services.

EASTERNERS INTERESTED IN CONCERTS

Orchestra Manager Finds Outdoor Winter Events Have Attained Fame

Upon her return from a seven weeks' trip in the interests of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, of which she is manager, Caroline E. Smith expressed herself particularly interested in the second of the winter series of concerts at the Coliseum, which takes place Sunday.

"Everywhere I went," she said, "people asked questions about our outdoor concerts at low prices, which they can not duplicate because of climatic conditions. This is our unique claim to fame.

"I found the orchestra very well known in the East, partly because of the great number of winter visitors who have heard it in the Coliseum. They marveled at our progress musically in the short period of six years that the orchestra has been conducted.

"I am much pleased with the program chosen for the second concert and am sure it will please our patrons also."

DIVORCE PLEA BLAMES ILL HEALTH ON MATE

Mrs. Zetta M. Butler asserted that she had become a semi-invalid as the result of treatment accorded her by Reginald Alfred Butler in a complaint for divorce filed yesterday. Butler is a captain in the California National Guard. Twice, she said, Butler struck her in the presence of the man who had been his best man at their wedding. They separated, according to the complaint, last July 28, after Mrs. Butler had found her husband sitting in an automobile with another woman, with the curtains down.

Motorist Dies in Crash With Electric Train

A man, identified by effects found on his person as L. B. Lichty, a resident of Long Beach, was killed last night when his automobile was struck at Figueroa and One Hundred and Fifteenth streets by an El Segundo line train of the Pacific Electric Railway Company. The car was dragged a distance of approximately 150 feet.

The victim apparently tried to beat the train to the crossing, according to Motorman J. W. Rogers and Conductor C. R. Monroe, who were in charge of the train of oil-tank cars.

PENARSKY HELD ON EXTORTION CHARGE

Ben Penarsky, former police officer, was held for trial in Superior Court under $5000 bail yesterday on charges of extortion and bribery after a preliminary hearing before Municipal Justice Ambrose. The former officer, it is charged, extorted $500 from W. M. Pilgrim after raiding the latter's home at Van Nuys a few weeks ago for liquor.

Britain, it is estimated, spends $175,000,000 a year in advertising; in the United States the total is $1,500,000,000.

BUILDERS FLAY UNION TACTICS

Exchange and Chamber Assail Sympathy Strike

Move Called Vicious Effort to Tie Up Industry

Indorsement for Open Shop Again Expressed

A severe public denunciation came yesterday from the Chamber of Commerce and the Builders' Exchange against those union labor agitators who are using workmen under their leadership in an attempt to paralyze the building industry in Los Angeles so as to give them a club with which to beat into submission builders who recently declared that they hereafter will conduct their jobs without discrimination against nonunion workmen.

The Builders' Exchange includes 579 persons in the building, construction materials and supplies and allied businesses in Los Angeles. It has functioned for thirty-seven years and in its ranks are the men who built Los Angeles, ofttimes providing necessary capital.

"Prevailing labor conditions in Los Angeles," says a public statement issued through Paul F. Langworthy, secretary of the exchange, "warrant the Builders' Exchange in again confirming its position relative to the open shop.

REAFFIRMS STAND

"In order that the public and the construction industry of the city may know the position of the exchange, we reaffirm our commitment to the American plan open shop policy of dealing with labor.

"Everywhere through the United States, the sympathetic strike, such as the brick masons in Los Angeles are now carrying on is looked on and known to employers as one of the most contemptible and most vicious instruments of organized labor radicals.

"The brick masons' leaders have ordered them on a strike, a sympathetic strike, in an effort to assist the marble and tile journeymen's bosses in forcing marble and tile contractors to close their jobs against all but unionized workmen.

The members of the Builders' Exchange feel that the action of the brick masons is unwarranted. As a craft the masons are not asking for shorter hours, increased pay or different working conditions. They are simply being used by their organizers in an effort to dictate to the employers of this community who may be employed, together with a stipulation of conditions under which such employment is made.

BACKING GIVEN

"On June 7, 1923, the board of directors of the exchange unanimously adopted a resolution indorsing the American plan-open shop policy of dealing with labor. On January 14, last, the board adopted a resolution commending the marble and tile contractors of this community for their efforts to bring about better conditions and the American plan-open shop system. Now the exchange again reaffirms in this public declaration its consistent position.

Denouncing sympathetic strikes as one of the most reprehensible and oppresive practices in the conduct of unions, the Chamber of Commerce board of directors late yesterday went on record as being opposed to the brick masons' and plasterers' strike, called in sympathy with the marble and tile setters' strike.

The board's action was based on recommendations of the chamber's construction industries committee, headed by William Simpson, chairman. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, The Brick Masons' and Plasterers' International Union has seen fit to call its brick masons out on strike in sympathy with the marble and tile setters already on strike, and

ACTION UPHELD

"Whereas, At the time of said action there was no difference as to working conditions or wages existing between the brick masons and their employers, and

"Whereas, The sympathetic strike represents one of the most reprehensible and oppressive practices relating to the conduct of differences.

"Now, Therefore, Be it resolved that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reaffirm its indorsement of the action taken by the Pacific Coast Marble Dealers' Association, and, be it further resolved that it indorse the action of the Associated General Contractors of America, Southern California Chapter, in declaring their intention of not yielding to the demands of the brick masons and in the support of which they are giving to the Marble Dealers' Association, and that it urge the public and the building owners to co-operate in combating the methods of coercion which are being attempted in this sympathetic strike."

CAFE NOTES

The Montmartre Cafe in Hollywood will celebrate writers' night this evening with Finis Fox, one of the widely known screen writers, as the guest of honor. Fox has just completed arrangements to write an original story and to make the screen adaptations for a play based on the history of the State of Texas.

Since Eddie Brandstatter, owner of the Montmartre, inaugurated celebrating one evening each week in honor of the screen writers the Montmartre has been gaining in popularity as a gathering place for the writers of shadow plays. Prof. Moore, leader of the Montmartre orchestra, will introduce his latest musical hit, "The Scenario Writers' Blues," which he has dedicated to the film scribes of Hollywood. Moore also will act as master of ceremonies and will present an impromptu vaudeville entertainment in which a number of screen artists will participate.

One of the features of the evening will be a dancing contest in which the winning couple will be awarded a writers' trophy to be presented by Fox. Many well-known writers on the Coast have made their reservations for the evening.

Another gala night is scheduled for this evening in the popular Greenwich Village Cafe in the Christie Hotel Building in Hollywood. An entirely new array of artists headed by "Blue Chasing" Phil Walsh will display their talent to the village patrons. Walsh, who has gained many friends during his engagement in the village, has planned many new acts. The acrobatic dancers, who make a decided hit whenever they appear, are included on the program for the evening. The regular Friday night dancing contest will be held, to the winners of which a beautiful silver cup will be given.

A gala celebration will be held tonight in Miller's Cafe Lafayette commemorating the first anniversary of the Wilshire district restaurant.

A film celebrity will introduce Miss June Pursell, star of radio fame, who will headline a program of entertainment in which others will appear in impromptu numbers at the invitation of Harry M. Miller, proprietor of the cafe.

Harry Owens, composer-conductor, will present a new foxtrot dedicated to the anniversary in connection with a special repertoire of new numbers by his orchestra arranged for the occasion.

Dick Richards of the Friars' Inn in West Sixth street reports the recent engagement in his inn of the "liveliest red hot sizzling mob of melody kings obtainable," to be known as Friars' Shadowland Melody Pirates, included in which are two dancers and singers known as Salley, "right back from our alley," and Dolly, "the raven baby doll."

Bert Revere of the Paris Inn Cafe in East Market street announces the recent addition to his entertainment program of unusual dances, songs and original character numbers offered by Sol Groman.

Mr. Groman is an expert Charleston dancer, and also has originated several steps which he uses in his conception of that dance.

The Cotton Club Cafe in Washington Boulevard, formerly known as the Moonlight Gardens and more recently as the Mandarin Gardens, was reopened last night under the management of Frank Sebastian, host of the cafe in Venice known as Sebastian's Cafe. Mr. Sebastian will operate both establishments.

Collegians Will Stage Hunt for 'Treasure Chest'

Members of the Bachelors' Club at the University of Southern California and their feminine friends will take part tonight in a "Treasure Hunt," likely to take them into some queer places in Los Angeles before it ends. Somewhere in the city has been concealed a silver chest with secret contents and the participants in the hunt will gather at the school, with their cars, and there receive a veiled hint as to the location of the treasure.

Each of the seekers will then interpret the message as his intelligence dictates, and the hunt will begin. After the finding of the treasure, if it takes place in time, there will be a party.

Ormonde Grier is president of the club and the committee in charge of the hunt contains Hal Williamson, chairman; Bud Whelan, Walter Hodgson and the president.

TEXAS REUNION TONIGHT

All Texans, resident and visiting, are urged to attend the reunion tonight at 1137 South Hope street. Following the popular program there will be dancing.

WOMAN SHOT AS TWO FIGHT

Sisters-in-Laws Battle Results in One Near Death With Other Jailed on Deadly Assault Charge

Pistol shots yesterday followed a hair-pulling fight between Mrs. Jeanette Bucci, 27 years of age, of 1318½ East N street, Wilmington, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Teresina Bucci, 33, of 1707 Maurestania street Wilmington, and the former fell with three bullet wounds in her neck and chest. She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Long Beach, and her death is expected. Mrs. Teresina Bucci, arrested, told police, they say, that she had fired the shots.

"She has talked about me for five years," Mrs. Bucci said, according to the police, "and told my husband I was a bad woman."

Mrs. Teresina Bucci was taken to jail, her hair streaming and her clothing torn as a result of the fight, which took place in a field near the home of the wounded woman. John Berois, a neighbor, heard the shots, ran and wrested the pistol from Mrs. Teresina Bucci's hand, the police declare. He also called Dr. A. D. McEachen of Wilmington, who directed the removal to the hospital.

There were no witnesses to the beginning of the fight, but police said their prisoner signed a statement admitting firing the shots. She was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to murder, which will be changed to suspicion of murder in case Mrs. Jeannette Bucci dies.

New Smallpox Cases Reported Total Eighteen

Eighteen new cases of smallpox were reported in Los Angeles yesterday, according to City Health Officer Parrish. Daily reports at the health department this week were: Sunday, twenty-three; Monday, seventeen; Tuesday, nineteen; Wednesday, twenty-three, and Thursday, eighteen.

There have been a total of 189 cases this month to date and a total of 385 since January 1. The total for last week was 112 cases. Totals reported for preceding weeks were thirty-eight and sixty-eight cases, respectively.

PAINTS HAZELTINE AS GIVER

Woman Says Man Who Made Petticoat Will Was Generous to Friends of Sister

A new picture of George W. Hazeltine, a picture of a Hazeltine who passed out $100 checks to his sister's friends and announced there were other checks to come for the same persons and perhaps for others, was painted for the jurors in Judge Willis's Probate Court yesterday by Evelyn Shafer.

Miss Shafer was the last witness of the ninth day of the contest over the proposal to probate the Hazeltine petticoat will by which, its proponents declare, he left the bulk of his estate to Lorraine Moody Richmond. Mrs. Richmond says she is Hazeltine's grandniece, the grand-daughter of Mrs. Mary Drake, who is asserted to have been the old man's sister.

"Mrs. Drake died in my mother's house," Miss Shafer testified. "She had lived there for years. After her death Mr. Hazeltine came to see us. He seemed to be much affected.

SHOWS APPRECIATION

"'You have been good to my sister for a long time,' he said. 'Here is something to show my appreciation.'

"And with that he handed each of us a check of $100. 'This is not all there will be,' he said. 'I am going to remember you again at Christmas.'"

Previous witnesses have testified Hazeltine was most cautious about parting with any of the $250,000 or more he had accumulated during a lifetime of parsimony.

"Were you not very surprised that Mr. Hazeltine should give you such a sum of money?" Attorney Norman Sterry demanded. Sterry is of counsel for Dell S. Schweitzer and Frank S. Hutton, attorneys for Hazeltine, principal beneficiaries under a prior will, and leading contestants of the petticoat will.

Miss Shafer would not admit she was surprised.

GENEROUS IN JANUARY, 1925

The contestants have sought to show throughout the proceedings that Hazeltine had no love for Mrs. Drake and that it was improbable that he would leave anything to her descendant. Mrs. Drake's death and Hazeltine's manifestations of generosity and a "change of heart" occurred in the latter part of January, 1925, less than two months prior to his death, Miss Shafer said.

Yesterday the proponents of the will had Dr. Thomas J. Orbison, Dr. Charles L. Allen and Dr. Edward B. Clark, one after the other, listen to hypothetical questions and replied that such a man as was described in the questions must have been rational and a sound thinker.

The case was adjourned last night until Monday morning.

WILL PLAY CARDS THURSDAY

Daughters of Civil War Veterans will give a card party at the home of Mrs. C. H. Taylor, 4522 South Hoover street, next Thursday afternoon. Those interested in the work of the organizations are invited.

JURY TO GET TESCHIONA'S CASE TODAY

Mail Robbery Suspect to Have Fate Decided in Truck Hold-up Verdict

The case of Frank Teschiona, asserted Santa Fe station mail bandit, will go to the jury today. The last of five asserted participants in the crime, Teschiona stoutly has resisted efforts by the United States to link him with the $523,000 postal-truck hold-up October 8, 1925.

Arguments were made to the jury yesterday by John F. Greene, defense counsel, and by Asst. U. S. Attys. Ohannesian and Neville. Judge James will deliver his instructions this morning.

As to Mrs. Dorothy Lee Teschiona, blond wife of the Italian suspect, United States District Judge James yesterday announced the jury will be instructed to acquit Mrs. Teschiona on a conspiracy charge. Her sister-in-law and Teschiona's sister, Mrs. Genevieve Derschner, had the charges against her stricken from the calendar at the beginning of the trial. United States marshals ordered Mrs. Teschiona freed from the County Jail.

Charles (Chuck) Wagner and Robert E. Cargo, two suspects who pleaded guilty shortly after their arrest will be taken back to Leavenworth in a few days to continue serving their twenty-five-year terms. George A. Davidson and Sam Shapiro, who entered guilty pleas several days ago, will be sentenced the 15th inst. and March 8, respectively.

DISAGREE ON WHY DANCER 'LEFT SHOW

Rosa Rolando Says She Quit After Notice, But Producer Files Claim

New but widely differing versions of the disappearance from a local musical production of its featured solo dancer were given yesterday when Rosa Rolando, the missing actress, emphatically denied that she had taken "French leave" from the show, while Louis O. Macloon, the producer, in a signed statement, declared the girl had left without warning before expiration of two weeks' notice of dismissal that he had given her.

"There was nothing wrong with my leaving the show," Miss Rolando declared emphatically. "I had given the proper two weeks' notice to Edward Woods, business manager, and Walter Dolson, the stage manager. The two weeks expired last Saturday and I left. I lived up to my contract in every way and I know of no trouble with the Actors' Equity nor any reason for the police being anxious to find me."

The statement from Macloon also brought to light that he has filed a claim with the Actors' Equity Association for two weeks' salary, amounting to $357.76, plus the asserted unearned pay for Saturday night's performance in which Miss Rolando failed to appear. Macloon declares he gave the dancer notice of dismissal on the 2nd inst., but that she had abruptly left the production a week before the time had expired.

Miss Rolando explained that she gave notice because she was not satisfied with conditions backstage, severely criticising the dressing-room she had been given, and stating she had been forced to go into the opening performance without an orchestral rehearsal.

Justice Shoots Bootleg Profits Full of Deficits

Abe Silverstein and Morris Kaplan, a pair of bootleggers, rather new at the game, discovered yesterday that the profits of the business is not all net by a long shot.

They appeared before Municipal Justice Pope and explained that at one time they had worked as walnut pickers. But the financial rewards were small, so they decided to turn to bootlegging, they said.

"Well, you are making a great mistake if you think bootlegging is more profitable than picking walnuts, and I'll give you an illustration," Justice Pope remarked.

He then fined each of them $500, which they said is considerably more than what they had made in their new venture.

MONEY WANTED—
Real Estate and Collaterals

WANTED—First mortgage money.

We are in position to lend on first mortgages at 8% interest for one, two or three years to net you 8%. These mortgages are all secured by improved little paying farms in San Fernando Valley, Los Angeles City. They are better security than a bond alone, because there is a profitable business in poultry raising together with the home. These little farm mortgages are for $1500, $1750, $2000, $2500 and $3000. In no instance does the loan amount to more than 40% of the value. If interested, call or write for details.

DE MILLE MAKES DEBUT IN RADIO

Talks About Films Through KHJ Microphone

Puts Future of Pictures Up to Public

Invites Criticism in Interest of Higher Art

The voice of one of the motion-picture world's greatest personalities—Cecil B. De Mille, noted producer and director—was heard for the first time over radio at 9 o'clock last night from the tower studio of KHJ, when he made his air debut in conjunction with the photoplay letter contest now being held jointly by The Times and De Mille.

Stressing the urgent need for active participation of the public by suggestions and criticisms if motion pictures are to fill the artistic and moral needs desired by the millions of fans, De Mille spoke in part as follows over the microphone to the thousands of listeners:

"It is a strange thing to be at the mercy of so many thousands of people. The positions are usually reversed. When you enter a theater to see one of my film productions you have paid your money and I have a definite financial hold upon you. Tonight, however, nothing can prevent you from turning a simple little dial—and casting me at once into oblivion.

"This is my first appearance before a radio microphone. I am, however, very hopeful for your close and continued attention, for I am going to try and tell why you, and no one else, really make our motion pictures. I will endeavor to outline how well you have already achieved toward making pictures better, and also how and why you have failed when you could have helped. There are many who insist it is necessary to write down to the public tastes—this, in my opinion, is untrue—only real art survives. I consider I have done well if I am able to write up to the public taste—for the great public is never wrong.

"My great faith in the public as the best judges of what the screen should offer, is extremely well-founded. The idea for my picture 'The Ten Commandments,' came not from any professional author, but directly out of the heart of millions. A garage cashier, a cavalry colonel, a trombone player, the wife of a baker, a Czecho-Slovakian immigrant — to these I owe deep gratitude for expressing the faith of the public at large in a type of picture other professional film producers said emphatically that you would not accept.

"I am again appealing to the public through the medium of a photoplay letter contest sponsored by the Los Angeles Times. Thousands of letters have already been received and even at this date, two weeks before the close of the contest, I am positive that the public is again to give me another topic of such flaming power as 'The Ten Commandments.' The answers in this contest are of even higher quality than those received in the main in 1922.

"You people who attend motion pictures can swing and sway them in any way you desire. No producer can afford not to heed your criticisms. We are absolutely dependent upon you for our future. Let me urge you to make more use of this great power which is in your hands. If the public do not like a motion picture it is seldom we learn the real reasons why, except through the barometer of the box office. Likewise your favor, expressed in monetary returns, sometimes puzzles us because you have never laid before us definite reasons as to your likes and dislikes.

"These international contests of mine have given me the feel of the public in a very splendid manner. But it is obvious that there is a limit to such contests. It is to your interest and to your children's interest that pictures should grow increasingly better and better. But we, who make them, can go much farther with you than we can without you. So, let me ask in closing that you take stock with yourself to realize your responsibility in this matter. Don't idly criticise the movies just for the sake of having something to say. If you have a real criticism, don't waste it on a bridge party, send it to us. If pictures, in your opinion, are not getting better, ask yourself if you have made any effort to take part in their improvement."

TRADE SEEN AS FACTOR FOR PEACE

Speaker at Dinner Given Foreign Consuls, Says Duty Rests on Industries

"The moral and human responsibilities that exist in world peace and modern commerce have passed into the hands of the captains of industry," declared Robert Newton Lynch, vice-president and general manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, in his address last night at a dinner given at the City Club in honor of the Consular Corps of Los Angeles.

More than 200 men interested in foreign trade and commerce, as well as the consular representatives of nineteen foreign countries, were present and extended a greeting to the five recently appointed foreign Consuls in this city who were honor guests of the occasion.

Mr. Lynch spoke on modern commerce and world peace.

"Foreign trade is an aid and hindrance to world peace," he said. "Greed creates a dissension and it is to the interest of those who engage in trade to cultivate their customers. The Pacific Coast has a large responsibility in the commerce of today and in the interest of world peace.

"The future of the Pacific Coast is bound up in the Orient and the large interests this country has in those countries demand proper relations and friendly contact."

SUMMER'S INFLUX TO BE LARGEST

Denver and Rio Grande Railway Head Expects Records to be Broken

California will see the largest influx of summer visitors in its history this season, in the the opinion of J. S. Pyeatt of Denver, president of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, who arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

Mr. Pyeatt is here on an inspection tour and to confer with local agents of his company and observe travel conditions generally. He bases his prediction as to California travel on data compiled by the Denver and Rio Grande.

"Our road carries a heavy proportion of the westbound tourist travel in the summer time," said Mr. Pyeatt. "The number of inquiries now coming in relative to our facilities for reaching California exceeds that of any previous year."

Mr. Pyeatt stated further that his observations of California-bound traffic during the present winter have led him to believe that when the records of this season's business are completed they will show the largest winter tourist travel to this section in ten years.

"One of the reasons for this exodus to the West at this time is, in my opinion, found in the fact that Florida appears to have been losing its attraction this season," Mr. Pyeatt said. "A reaction in favor of California has taken place in the eastern mind."

The railway head said the railroads all over the country during the last nine months have done the largest volume of business for a like period in the history of railway operation in the United States.

AIR LINE TO BE RUN TO SEATTLE

Passenger Service Planned After Mail Opening

Planes Will Fly on Fifteen-Hour Schedule

Three Routes to Terminate in Los Angeles

Plans are practically completed for the opening of the air mail line between Los Angeles and Seattle, and arrangements are under way for the establishment of a passenger line over the same route, according to Vern C. Gorst, president of the Pacific Air Transport Company, who has arrived at the Biltmore after a tour of inspection of eastern airplane factories in quest of the most suitable planes. The mail line will open with the delivery of planes that have been ordered, and daily passenger service between the two cities will start as soon as suitable equipment can be obtained and airports established.

Establishment of this line will make this city the terminal on three air lines, a mail line being planned between here and Salt Lake City, and scheduled to open this spring. The Los Angeles-San Diego Airline now operates a passenger line between the two cities.

Satisfactory test flights at the Ryan plane manufacturing concern at San Diego resulted in that company obtaining contracts for six monoplane type, 200-h.p. planes, delivery having been made on one, according to President Gorst. The planes are equipped with Wright motors, capable of a cruising speed of 114 miles an hour.

The company will use the Los Angeles-San Diego Airline flying field pending establishment of a municipal or government field here, Mr. Gorst announced.

Officers of the concern, incorporated in the State of Oregon with a capitalization of $150,000, are: President, Vern C. Gorst of North Bend, Or.; vice-president, C. N. Comstock of St. Joseph, Mo., and Haakon H. Hammer and J. B. Alexander, both of Los Angeles.
